HERBERT HOOVER is on his way back to America and work, arriving next week. He will plan his cabinet, consulting many, and doing exactly as he pleases. And two months from tomorrow he will take charge of the situation.

MR. COOLIDGE did exactly the right thing after the war, when the country needed two things, first, to save money, second, to be let alone, free from dangerous experimenting.

Mr. Hoover will find a different situation, a different job. The "coasting" period is over, the time has come to supply power to take the engine uphill.

MR. HOOVER'S reputation as President will depend on the things that he himself actually DOES.

Fortunately for him, he is trained as an engineer, trained in government work, and he knows from careful study what the country needs.

WALL STREET started the new year cheerfully, as was to be expected.

With a first-class president going out, and a first-class president coming in, and all the skies rosy, why should Wall Street be sad? The interest on call money was only 10 per cent. Even the solemn, quiet old Pennsylvania Railroad got excited, going up to a new high price.

WHAT we call the universe, with its Milky Way, in which our sun is a tiny speck, and its thousand million stars, each a sun with planets revolving around it, turns out to be only one little corner of the universe.

SCIENTISTS tell you that 1,000 universes surround us, some as far away as the distance that light could travel in 1,000,000 years, going 186,000 miles a second.

Space is said to be "transparent," and with improving telescopes and stellar photography, scientists hope to penetrate and measure the universe.

The scheme is too big even for a scientific mind. Fortunately, it does not prevent the little man attending to business close at hand.

DR. OSBORN, head of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, rebukes another scientist who dragged into scientific discussion the statement that man "needs to change his concept of God."

Dr. Osborn quoted the Negro preacher, who, on a stormy Sunday, "thanks the Lord that thou art with us tonight, despite the weather."

WHEN the bartender placed a glass of water beside her glass of gin, an old lady in an English public house said:

Scientists have trouble enough without stirring up religious discussions and animosities.

LET scientific facts speak for themselves. If men need to change their concept of God, they will find it out themselves. They won't change it to order.

EVERYTHING gets bigger. William Fox will build at Broadway and Forty-seventh street, in New York, a 40-story building to contain the biggest moving picture theater. When this is done, somebody else, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, Paramount or somebody, will come along and build a 50-story building and a bigger theater. These are days of big things, and the business of government is NOT to interfere with them. Let the builders and business men see what they can do.

MRS. CHARLES GIOVANNO locked herself in a room, turned on the gas and died. Her farewell note said her husband "had another," and under the circumstances she could not possibly live.

THE unhappy woman told of her husband's neglect and repeated several times that she loved him, with a shaking hand, before she wrote, wishing him a happy new year.

It is amazing the importance that women attach to worthless husbands.

Rum Quiz Looms as U. S. Calls 50

RING PROBE REVIVAL SEEN

The first move in what is believed to be a drive to bring in new indictments in the North Side rum conspiracy case was taken today.

Subpenas were issued for 50 witnesses before the Federal grand jury, which has been called to meet Monday. Many of those subpenaed appeared before the grand jury last June and 73 were indicted in what was known as the North Side rum conspiracy case.

This number was cut to 46 by the time the case went to trial, due to pleas. After a trial of three weeks the case was dismissed. The court ruled that the district attorney had failed to connect all indicted in one huge conspiracy. While the district attorney has not made know his plan, it is reported that indictment of small groups will be asked, probably by wards.

OHIO RIVER BILL SURVEY LISTED

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—The $80,000,000 survey authorized by a special act of Congress looking to the building of an extensive flood control, power and navigation project on the Ohio River tributaries above Pittsburgh again came before Congress today in the report of the army appropriation bill. It is figured that the benefits of the project could be capitalized at $55,000,000, according to the army district engineer at Pittsburgh.

The War Department will not make known its position on the survey conclusions until further information has been furnished by the district engineer to whom the report on the study has been returned.

Testifying before the subcommittee, whose members wrote the army bill, Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, chief of army engineers, said there was "liable to be discussion as to whether the estimate of cost can be reduced and as to whether we have estimated the benefits high enough."

Byrd Party Hears Pittsburgh Broadcast

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 3.—George A. Wendt, a friend of Com. Richard E. Byrd, today announced receipt of a radio message from the Antarctic explorer sent out from the bottom of the world and announcing Com. Byrd and his party were camped on the great ice barrier at the Bay of Whales.

The commander said he and his party had received the New Year's Day program of a Pittsburgh radio station.

"Mother Machree" Of Son's Song Dies

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Mrs. Nannie Ball, the original "Mother Machree" of her son's famous song by that name, died last night at her home in Beechurst, Long Island. She was 71.

The son, Ernest R. Ball, died in May, 1927. He was the composer of many popular ballads. The body of Mrs. Ball will be taken to Cleveland for burial alongside of her son.

Anna C. Maxwell, War Nurse, Is Dead

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Miss Anna Caroline Maxwell, "the American Florence Nightingale," who did active work in both the Spanish-American and World wars, is dead here today. Miss Maxwell, who was 77, died as a result of a serious illness of several months' duration. In 1891 Miss Maxwell established the nurses school at the Presbyterian Hospital here.

SMOKE BAN SURVEY STARTS

Generously financed, the most ambitious effort ever made to liberate Pittssburgh from the smoke nuisance has been inaugurated by the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, according to John E. McKirdy, a member of the Chamber of Commerce smoke abatement committee, which is co-operating with the institute.

The investigation was started without previous public announcement because of the feeling on the part of some of those associated with the work that publicity might restore Pittsburgh's former undesirable reputation as the "Smoky City."

The new survey, the most comprehensive, McKirdy declared, ever made of the smoke problem anywhere in the world, and much farther reaching than the two previous smoke investigations made by the institute, is one of four movements now under way to free the city from air pollution.

BEFORE COUNCIL

Councilman Robert Garland is trying to secure relief from the recent intolerable condition through councilmanic action. He called today for stricter enforcement of the anti-smoke ordinance and said if more inspectors were required by the bureau of smoke regulation an appropriation for the purpose could be made out of the contingent fund.

Mrs. Charles Watkins, wife of a teacher of chemistry at the Carnegie Institute of Technology, with the co-operation of other women, is conducting a canipaign to induce housewives to burn coke, gas and smokeless coal in the furnaces of

CONROY LEAVES MILLIONS

An estate estimated to be worth several millions was disposed of in the will of William E. Conroy, president of the Conroy-Prugh Glass Company, who died recently. Much of it goes to churches and charities and old friends and employes.

The home at 6407 Fifth avenue, with bonds in a safe deposit box and property in Lancaster go to the widow. George Lunz, business associate, is given permission to purchase $300,000 worth of stock in the company, with five years to pay for it.

N. Y. Exchange Seat Brings $575,000

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—The first membership on the New York Stock Exchange to change hands in the new year brought $575,000 today, unchanged from the previous sale. The record is $595,000.

FRIGID SPELL ENDS HERE

Moderate temperatures are in store for Pittsburgh and vicinity this afternoon and tonight, the local weather bureau reported. The extreme of the cold blast out of the West, reached here at 2 o'clock this morning, 16 degrees, with Mt. Lebanon reporting 13 and Ingram 15.

The mercury remained stationary until 5 o'clock when an upward trend was expected to carry it to 32 this afternoon. Tonight it was expected to recede to 25.

In the west the temperatures were rising and a low pressure area which appeared in the Ohio valley was expected to bring light snow, Forecaster Brotzman reported.

Former Pittsburgh Nun Dies at Age of 85

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Mother Alberta, 85, last of the eight nuns who came here from Pittsburgh 55 years ago to establish the order of the sisters of Mercy in the Scranton diocese of the Roman Catholic Church, died here today. Because of her advanced age, she had been inactive for several years.

GIRL'S INCENDIARY URGE BLAMED IN LATROBE FIRES

LATROBE, Pa., Jan. 3.—An urge to start fires, which comes upon her suddenly, was the excuse given by Dorothy Arch, 16, of Youngstown, Pa., near here, charged with causing five fires here.

The girl was arrested in Cleveland after an absence of several months and has been brought back to Latrobe.

Last summer Latrobe was the scene of several mysterious fires which baffled the police.

Miss Arch, employed as a domestic by several families, disappeared. She is said to have told Latrobe police that at certain times she becomes mentally depressed and is urged to start fires. Police said she has admitted starting three of the five fires. She was released on bail.

DURANT FOR HEARST SURVEY

NEW YORK, Jan. 2.—W. C. Durant authorized publication of the following telegram, today, sent to W. R. Hearst regarding the latter's $25,000 prize offer for the best plan to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment:

First let me congratulate you upon your prize offer of $25,000 for the best plan to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

Neither you nor any other giant publisher ever performed a more notable service than this contribution of yours to the question: Are the American people ready to give up and admit the failure of this, the greatest experiment ever undertaken by a free people?

Your prize contest furnishes the rallying point for those who are ready to admit defeat and want the Eighteenth Amendment repealed.

My contest furnishes a rallying point for those who are not ready to admit defeat, but want an honest attempt made to enforce the law.

G. O. P. TRIUMPH

You say that in offering a prize on how best to enforce the Eighteenth Amendment, "Mr. Durant is really offering a prize on how best to put the Republican party out of power."

It will be news to the Republican party to learn that it will be put out of power by enforcing the highest law of the land, the Constitution.

The Republican party, as a matter of fact, has just won an unprecedented political victory on a platform whose chief issue was enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The principal appeal of the Democratic candidate was his promise to use his high office to urge a relaxation of the liquor laws. Against that appeal millions of votes were massed by men and women determined to

Senate Dry Inquiry Strongly Opposed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(INS.)—A sweeping investigation of prohibition enforcement by a special committee of five senators was proposed in the Senate today by Senator Wesley L. Jones, of Washington, one of the dry leaders, only to meet with immediate opposition.

Jones sponsored a resolution of inquiry, under which Vice President Dawes would name five senators to conduct the proposed investigation. This drew criticism from Senators King, of Utah, a dry, and Senator Bruce, of Maryland, a wet. Bruce charged the Jones resolution would "forestall an impartial investigation" of prohibition enforcement, which President-elect Herbert Hoover promised during the last campaign.

King introduced a bill transferring the enforcement of prohibition from the Treasury Department to the Department of Justice.

Rickard's Condition "Very Satisfactory"

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Tex Rickard's condition early today was "very satisfactory," according to physicians at Allison Hospital, the millionaire's retreat, where the promoter is convalescing from an operation for acute appendicitis.

The promoter celebrated his fifty-sixth birthday yesterday and stacks of congratulatory messages continued to arrive today.

Criminal Conditions Created by Dry Law Demand Better Plan

SAN SIMEON, Calif., Jan. 3.

W. C. DURANT,
250 West 57th st.,
New York City.

My Dear Mr. Durant:

I received your telegram and enjoyed it. We are not so far apart as might seem at first glance.

At least we are not far apart in some phases of the problem we are discussing. You are in favor of temperance; so am I.

I do not know how long you have been interested in the temperance movement, and how and to what extent you have crusaded for temperance.

Unless you might say the same thing about me, let me hurry to state that I have been a crusader in the temperance movement for something over 40 years; and I have printed an enormous number of editorials and cartoons attacking the saloon and the dispensation of hard liquors.

That these editorials were at least considered effective propaganda may be indicated by the fact that many of the temperance organizations of the country asked leave to distribute them and did distribute many of them widely.

Therefore, I can assume, I think, that we are both equally sincerely interested in the cause of temperance; and the only difference between us is a difference of opinion as to what is the best means of promoting that cause.

You apparently believe that prohibition is an intelligent and practicable effort to promote temperance. I do not believe that it is.

Our objective being the same—temperance or even total abstinence—our difference is merely one of method.

I admit that I never did believe that prohibition would be effective as a temperance measure, for the reason that from the first it seemed inevitable, considering the character of our people, that a campaign of force would not be as effective as a campaign of education.

As I said in a previous telegram, paraphrasing a familiar quotation, you can lead the American people to water, but you cannot MAKE them drink it.

Furthermore, my fight had been chiefly against hard liquors, and it seemed to me from the first that it would be easier for the law-defying element to deal illicitly in hard liquors than in the milder and bulkier form of alcoholic drinkables.

This opinion seems to have been borne out by the facts; and I think it can be truthfully said today that any man who wants a drink can get one; and about the only difference between the present condition and the condition preceding prohibition is that a man who wants a mild drink is compelled to take a strong one; and a man who wants a good drink is compelled to take a bad one.

It is true that saloons have been closed, but saloons were being closed before prohibition was enacted, being closed through the education of the public, through a high rate of excise taxation, through local option and through direct legislation.

Since prohibition, for every saloon that has been closed there is either a still or a speakeasy or a bootlegger supplying the most vicious and injurious kind of liquor that it is possible to concoct or conceive of.

You ask is anybody in favor of the bootlegger and the speakeasy the obvious answer is—

No, nobody is except possibly the bootlegger and the proprietor of the speakeasy.

Some of the public are sincere enough and clear-thinking enough, however, to be opposed not only to the bootlegger and the speakeasy, but to the condition which created the bootlegger and the speakeasy.

You ask if anyone is opposed to the Constitution and the law?

Nobody except the criminal class.

But some of the public are sufficiently intelligent to realize that, when supporting the Constitution as a whole, they are also supporting that clause of the Constitution which permits the modification by amendment of that document's provision; and that it is just as much within the rights and liberties of the people to take prohibition out of the Constitution, as it was within their rights and liberties to put it in in order to see how it would operate.

You intimate that prohibition has not been given a sufficient trial or a sufficiently fair trial.

It has been tried for 10 years.

And I think the facts will justify the statement that there are more bootleggers today than there ever have been during the past 10 years of trial;

And that there are more speakeasies today than there ever have been during those 10 years;

And that there is more hard liquor and bad liquor being distributed today than there ever has been during those 10 years;

And that there are more criminals being created today by the liquor traffic than there ever has been during those 10 years;

And that those criminals, brought up and educated in law-defiance by the liquor traffic, have become defiant of all other

BULLETIN.

METROPOLITAN AIRPORT, LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Temporarily driven from the southern section of its course by fog on its third day in the air, the Army endurance plane Question Mark today headed back again on its regular route between Los Angeles and San Diego.

It had been unreported since 9:50 a. m.

METROPOLITAN AIRPORT, LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Fears that the Army endurance plane, Question Mark, in its third day's refueling flight, had been forced down somewhere in the fog-shrouded San Fernando valley, were expressed today by Army officers here following receipt of an urgent request from the plane's crew for gasoline and the subsequent failure of relief aircraft to find the big plane.

The message was dropped from the endurance plane at 9:50 a. m.

Later, these doubts were somewhat allayed here when the sound of an airplane was heard over the field here at 11 a. m.

Army aviators on the ground declared that the endurance plane had sufficient gasoline to last at least for an hour or more without refueling.

BREAKS RECORD

The Question Mark's three motors were reported to be working perfectly after 48 hours of duty.

The Question Mark surpassed the time record set in the only previous American refueling endurance flight at 8:45 o'clock last night, and the next goal was the world's endurance record of 60 hours, 7 minutes, which can be broken by flight until 9:31 o'clock tonight.

The plane, which took the air at 7:26 a. m. January 1, entered the fiftieth hour of flight at 9:26 o'clock this morning.

About an hour and a half of maneuvering on the part of refueling plane No. 2 was necessitated early today when the Question Mark soared over the airport and dropped a signal for fuel.

GIRL BREAKS RECORD

Miss Bobbie Trout, 18, set a new woman's endurance record of 2 hours, 11 minutes when she landed at Los Angeles at 6:36 last night,

Commissioner Faces Ouster

A writ calling upon Commissioner C. W. Scheck, of Mt. Lebanon township, to show cause why he should not be removed from office was issued in Common Pleas Court today by Judge Frank B. Patterson.

A petition filed by 16 taxpayers of the township charges that since 1926 the Commissioner and Mrs. Maude Scheck, who conduct a gasoline service station, have been selling gas and oil to the township—a transaction contrary to law.

Sargent Turns Down Parole for Miller

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Attorney General Sargent today disapproved a parole for Col. Thomas W. Miller, ex-alien property custodian, who was sentenced to 18 months in Atlanta prison for conspiracy to defraud the government. The parole board had recommended Miller's release.

Desert Promised by New Neb. Dry Chief

OMAHA, Neb., Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Nebraska is due for an arid regime surpassing any in the state's history. That was the promise today of Brig. Gen. W. McDrowan, of Garden City, as he took over the job of prohibition administrator for Nebraska. Elmer Thomas received a transfer to Topeka, Kan.

SOPHIE TUCKER

SOPHIE TUCKER WEDS AGAIN

CHICAGO, Jan. 3—(AP)—Sophie Tucker stopped in Chicago yesterday "to have a little fat taken off my face," and incidentally to reveal that she had been married for the third time, last December 14, at Newport, Ky.

Reporters found her at the office of a plastic surgeon, strips of tape plastered in front of each ear.

"Sure, I'm a bride," she confided. "His name? Oh, nobody in Chicago knows his name. He's A. Lackey, a small merchant in New York. Sells dresses; lives at the Park Central; 38, and never before married.

"When were we married? Let me think. A guy ought to know his wedding date. Oh, yes, it was December 14, at Newport, Ky. There was no honeymoon. I've had the flu ever since the wedding, but just had to start for Hollywood to fill my movie contract. He couldn't accompany me to California because this is his busy season."

Miss Tucker was married in 1908 to Louis Tuck, from whom she was divorced 10 years later. In 1917 she was married to Frank C. Westphal. They were divorced three years later. She has a son, Bert Tucker, 22, who also is on the stage.

MELLON INSTITUTE STARTS ANTI-SMOKE SURVEY

GANG TRAPS 6 POLICE; 1 SHOT

BUFFALO, N. Y., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—An intensive police search was under way today for William Wunderlich, 24, who with a companion disarmed five police officers at his home in Lackawanna last night and seriously wounded Patrolman Fred A. Smith, the only policeman to succeed in drawing his gun.

After the shooting, Wunderlich and his companion escaped in the police automobile.

SURROUNDED HOUSE

The officers, four Buffalo policemen and two Lackawanna detectives, had surrounded the Wunderlich home to arrest him on suspicion of being implicated in a series of robberies.

Two of the officers covered the rear of the house while three others went to the front door, the sixth acting as their rear guard.

In response to their ring, Wunderlich himself responded and cordially invited them to enter. They traversed a short, dark hall and as they stepped into the living room they found themselves looking into the barrels of two pistols held by Wunderlich's companion.

POLICE DISARMED

The officers' pistols were in their holsters and they obeyed a command to lift their hands and range themselves along a wall, where they were disarmed.

The officer at the front of the house finally became suspicious and entered the house. He was disarmed. Then the other two officers entered. Mrs. Wunderlich jumped between Smith and her husband. Smith could not shoot, but Wunderlich could and Smith fell with a bullet in his abdomen.

5-Shift Radio Hookup to Inaugurate Tunnel

NEW YORK, Jan. 3—(AP)—A coast-to-coast radio hook-up governed by the progress of a crack transcontinental train will form a part of the program dedicating the new $14,000,000 railroad tunnel through the Cascade mountains east of Seattle on January 12.

The broadcasting center of the network of 37 stations in the National Broadcasting Company chain will be shifted back and forth across the country between five points, all synchronized with the running schedule of the Oriental Limited on the Great Northern railroad.

Before the train has cleared the eight-mile tunnel the hookup will have been shifted twice across the continent.

The hookup, which will be headed by Station WEAF, will go on the air at 9 p. m. Eastern time.

Myron T. Herrick, U. S. ambassador to France, is "very much improved" today at his Cleveland (O.) estate, where he is ill with asthmatic influenza, bringing a relapse yesterday. Mr. Herrick is 74.

RAID-BLOCKING CASE AGAINST POLICE FAILS

Charges against two North Side policemen that they had destroyed evidence while a prohibition agent was raiding an alleged speakeasy at 22 West Stockton avenue, collapsed in North Side Police Court today.

Lieut. Zach Fleming testified he had suspended Patrolmen Charles McClelland and Walter Bracken after Crosby Evans, of 2140 Charles street, had told him that the police dumped out whisky in the place of John Karis.

Evans didn't appear for the hearing and, the police reported, when a patrolman was sent to his home he escaped in an auto. Magistrate E. M. Hough discharged Karis, and Inspector Charles Faulkner reinstated the two patrolmen.

However, Karis immediately was arrested by federal officers and held for court charged with violating the prohibition law.

Rockefeller Merger Forms Giant Charity

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(INS.)—The largest charitable organization the world has ever seen was effected this afternoon through consolidation of the Laura Spellman Rockefeller Memorial with the Rockefeller Foundation. The book value of the Rockefeller Foundation holdings is placed at $182,868,476.84, that of the Laura Spellman Rockefeller Memorial at $65,000,000. The consolidation became a fact when Supreme Court Justice Richard R. Mitchell signed an order of approval.

30 MILLION TO FLOOD CONTROL

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Carrying large increases for flood control, Army pay, aviation expansion and new construction at military posts, the Army Appropriation Bill was reported today to the House. The bill calls for the expenditure of $435,428,415 by the War Department during the next fiscal year.

The total, providing $328,338,815 for national defense and $107,089,600 for non-military purposes, represents an increase of $35,111,774 over the current fiscal year appropriation and an increase of $256,608 over budget estimates.

The largest military item in the bill is $133,550,368 for pay of the Army. This is an increase of $3,215,995 over this year's pay fund and is recommended to take care of 200 additional second lieutenants for the air corps, advancement of officers to higher pay periods, longevity increases and retired list expansion. The measure contemplates no change in the enlisted strength of the Army, now 118,750.

AIDS FLOOD CONTROL

In the non-military provisions, $50,000,000 is included for maintenance and improvement of more than 500 rivers and harbors works, while $30,000,000, an increase of $20,000,000, is provided for Mississippi flood control. An additional $800,000, previously authorized as an emergency fund, is appropriated for repair or maintenance of flood control works on the Mississippi's tributaries, and $1,000,000 is provided for flood control on the Sacramento River to California.

Other big items in the measure include $24,374,552 for Army subsistence; $14,441,950 for construction at military posts; $3,408,002 for seacoast defenses; $33,578,653 for the air corps; $32,319,798 for the national guard; $5,533,129 for the organized reserves; $5,418,975 for civilian military training camps; $10,011,000 for the Panama Canal; $8,091,600 for the National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers, and $356,375 for national military parks.

The airs corps appropriation, an increase of $8,730,121 over current funds, would enable the Army to purchase 297 planes next year for the regular branch, organized reserves and National Guard, 22 of which would go to the latter and be paid for out of guard funds. This would bring the five-year construction program up to within 106 planes of the total planned.

GUARD GETS INCREASE

The National Guard item provides for increasing the authorized strength by 2,000 to 190,000, a total of $97,000 for construction at guard camps and $11,541,168 for drill pay. For the Reserve Officers' Training Corps the appropriation is based upon an average enrollment of 127,141 next year, an increase of 2,000 junior students. Approximately $5,000 boys attended civilian military training camps this fiscal year and the figure for this branch is based upon training a similar number next year.

To initiate a program to provide the Army with a reasonable number of tanks, the bill carries an item for purchase of between six and eight light tanks of a "newly developed and quite superior type."

MORE FOOD, LESS LIQUOR AIDS ARMY, SAYS OFFICER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Napoleon's famous saying that an army "marches on its stomach" is borne out to some extent by observations of Army officials on the morale of the American enlisted man after more than a year's trial of the new ration purchased at a cost of 50 cents a day for each man.

Testifying before a House subcommittee on the Army appropriation bill, Maj. Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff, declared the increase allowance for food was having an "excellent" effect on the morale of the Army.

Asked by Representative Clague (Rep.), Minnesota, what effect the elimination of canteen liquor had had on morale, Gen. Summerall said he felt the Army "is immeasurably better off under the present law than it was under the old law."

COUNTY SALARY BUDGET GETS BIG BOOST

Clashes enlivened a salary board meeting at which the county payroll was skyrocketed approximately $155,000 at one swoop, yesterday.

County Commissioner C. C. McGovern assailed his two colleagues, Commissioners E. V. Babcock and Joseph G. Armstrong, who, he intimated, had agreed beforehand on wholesale pay increases to county employes.

McGovern's charges followed yesterday's meeting, at which salary increases, solicited and unsolicited, fell like a shower of gold on the county workers.

With Commissioners Babcock and Armstrong in control, the raises all went through smoothly. Commissioner McGovern's occasional protests were swamped.

McGOVERN CAUSTIC

Immediately after the meeting, McGovern issued this statement:

"It's an awful grab to saddle on the taxpayers. These increases apparently were agreed on in advance, as there was little consideration given to them at the meeting. If the Metropolitan District Plan abolishes the present government with its one-man control, the plan will be well worth the confidence the people have placed in it by their vote approving the amendment at the last election."

County Solicitor W. Heber Dithrich's salary was increased $2,500 a year, from $7,500 to $10,000. W. G. Negley, chief of the Bureau of Research, Department of Tax Assessment and Revision, was raised from $4,000 to $7,000; Stanley L. Roush architect in the Department of Public Works, from $6,500 to $8,500.

William Zeifel, chief clerk of the county commissioners, received an increase from $5,600 to $6,000, and James Routley, assistant chief clerk, from $3,900 to $4,300.

NEW SOLICITOR

Among a score of new jobs created were those of an assistant county solicitor at $3,000 a year, two accountants in the Department of the Controller at $2,000 a year, and a private secretary to District Attorney Gardner at $2,700 a year.

Grace L. Stokes, chief probation officer, had her salary increased from $3,600 to $4,500 a year without requesting a raise. Appearing before the board to urge higher salaries for several of her subordinates, she seemed astonished when Commissioner Babcock made a motion that her own pay be boosted $900 a year. The motion was passed.

Commissioner McGovern voted for a few increases.

"American Day" in Spain

CORUNNA, Spain, Jan. 3.—(INS.)—"American Day" was celebrated here today under the auspices of the municipal council. The consuls of a number of American republics participated.

Fire Furnaces Evenly, Householders Are Urged

Citizens of Pittsburgh are asked to help abate the smoke nuisance by complying with the following suggestions, which have been prepared by the University of Pittsburgh:

1. Fire evenly and regularly.
2. Fire moderate amounts of coal at a time and place the coal where it is needed.
3. Keep the fire clean, even, and bright all over; do not allow it to burn into holes or thin spots.
4. Break up the lumps and have the coal as nearly as possible uniform in size. Do not fire any lumps larger than a man's fist.
5. When a fire has burned into holes, do not throw green coal on the bare grates, but push incandescent fuel into these spots before firing.
6. Regulate the draft and air supply to suit the fire.
7. Watch the conditions of the fire and steam gauge together. Do not fire large quantities of coal.
8. Do not level or stir the fire unless absolutely necessary, and then use the utmost care.
9. Do not allow ashes and clinkers to accumulate on the side or bridge walls, as this cuts down the effective grate area and causes other troubles.
10. Do not allow too long intervals between firing.

thus bettering the record of 8 hours, 6 minutes, held by Viola Gentry.

Blaine M. Tuxhorn and Leonard Rhiner were disqualified at 7:48 p. m., Wednesday, at Marshall, Mo., after 10 hours, 54 minutes aloft in their assault on the refueling endurance record, but they claimed a new record for flight through ground refueling.

Fail to Get Plane's Motor in Greenland

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Attempts to salvage the engine from the airplane Greater Rockford, which Burt Hassell and Parker Cramer abandoned last summer on the inland ice of the Sukkertop district of Greenland have failed. A message received here today said that one Carlson, a Swedish-American, who had set out with a native and ten dogs late in November, was forced to return to Mount Evans when the native was stricken with fever. The motor was worth $10,000, but so far as was known no other efforts to save it are afoot.

Mendez Cracks Up 75 Miles From Goal

Girl to Try for Men's Record in Air Flight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—(INS.)—Miss Viola Gentry, former holder of the women's flight endurance record, is going after the open endurance records made by men, she announced today. Miss Gentry arrived at Bolling Field here this morning in her Waco plane from Roosevelt Field, L. I., with her instructor, W. Ulrich, who will accompany her to Marthasville, W. Va. She immediately refueled her plane and hopped off for Richmond shortly after noon.

Air Emergency Strength Put at 5,000 Officers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—The emergency flying strength of the United States Army and reserve units aggregates more than 5,000 officers.

Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the Army Air Corps, advised the House Army appropriations sub-committee that on November 1, last, the regular Army alone had 945 officer pilots and 12 observers and 41 enlisted pilots.

At the same time, he said, the organized reserve officer pilots numbered 3,367, of whom 631 were qualified for immediate service, requiring a "refreshing course" of from two to eight months.

The reserves also have 748 officer observers, of whom 500 are fitted for immediate service.

their homes. In furtherance of the plan addresses on the smoke nuisance and its cost to housekeepers in drudgery, laundry and painting bills are being arranged for meetings of women's clubs.

BLAME FLU ON SMOKE

Charles A. Painter, well known stock broker, is leader of another movement. Painter has been impressed by the large number of deaths, mostly from pneumonia, that followed in the wake of the influenza epidemic in Pittsburgh, and is convinced that the smoky condition of the atmosphere had much to do with the high mortality rate.

"Los Angeles also had an influenza epidemic," said Mr. Painter today, "but there were not so many deaths there as here.

"I want every citizen of Pittsburgh to constitute himself a committee of one and work for the abatement of our smoke nuisance, and thus help to make 1929 a healthier and cleaner year for the city. I think instruction should be given in the public schools as to how furnaces may be fired in homes to prevent the emission of smoke.

"Our mills have also been offending. The price of coal has been so low that they have not had the inducement they formerly had to insure perfect combustion by proper stoking."

COAL DEALERS TO AID

Weaver H. Rogers, Farmers Bank Building, announced today that leaders in the coal industry in Pittsburgh were forming an organization to be known as the Coal Institute, and that it would cooperate in the campaign to free the city from smoke.

Harry B. Meller, chief of the Bureau of Smoke Regulation, said the recent condition of air pollution, described by Councilman Garland as "the worst in 50 years," had been due to a combination of heavy consumption of soft coal in private dwellings, over which the bureau has no control, and lack of wind.

There are 100,000 chimneys in Pittsburgh, in residences and small apartment houses, that are outside of the smoke bureau's jurisdiction, Meller said. It exercises control over only one-tenth of that number of stacks—those in mills, locomotives and apartment houses of more than six apartments.

HOME FIRES CRITICIZED

The private house, Meller declared, having low draft for its furnace, gives out very little cinder, but, ton for ton, emits 10 times as much black offensive smoke as issues from an industrial stack.

He said the Mellon Institute made two surveys of the smoke situation here—one in 1912-13 and the other in 1923-24—and showed that during the decade smoke, as prohibited by the anti-smoke ordinance, had been reduced two-thirds. Records and general observations made since then showed, he continued, that the city had been just about holding its own since the last survey.

There have been no prosecutions under the anti-smoke ordinance for five years, because, Meller explained, it was easier to abate the nuisance by persuading offenders it was to their interest to burn their coal completely and thus eliminate smoke than by making them hostile. By assuming a belligerent attitude towards them, he remarked, they might be driven out of the city.

Apropos of this, Councilman Garland remarked that many mills had left the city for suburban sections in recent years. The worst offenders are occupants of private dwellings, Garland said, in agreement with Meller. The councilman introduced a resolution, which was unanimously passed by council last Monday, requesting householders and owners of small apartment houses to burn coke, gas or smokeless coal.

FAMED PAINTER SELECTS WORLD'S GREAT BEAUTIES

By HERMAN GIESKE.
Written for the Sun-Telegraph.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The most beautiful five women in the world? Tade Styka, renowned Polish painter, discloses that he has named four of them, he believes, beyond cavil. They are:

Miss Marion Davies, motion picture star.

Mlle. Jacqueline Schally, of Paris.

Mrs. Peggy Esmond O'Brian, of New York.

As to the fifth, Mr. Styka, at the moment, is reluctant to decide, he said in an interview. She will undoubtedly be an American, and, said Mr. Styka:

"She may be a red head—with freckles!"

FRECKLES NO BAR

He went on to say that, to the painter, the exquisite texture and whiteness of the skin of the red-head beauties is such as to form an almost irresistible appeal. A few freckles, he avowed, by no means spoil the attractiveness of this type.

Mr. Styka recently painted a portrait of Miss Davies in this city. It was while she sat for him that he became convinced that she easily is entitled to a foremost place in the gallery of the world's loveliest women.

Mr. Styka has painted the portraits of many notable persons. They include Marshal Foch, generalissimo of the allied armies, Justine Johnstone, and Chaliapin. He has a number of important portraits to paint. Among them may be Herbert Hoover, president-elect. He is occupying a suite at the St. Regis, Fifth avenue and Fifty-fifth street, where many prominent persons call upon him.

Two Americans Among Four Women Called World's Most Beautiful by Tade Styka

TADE STYKA
Tade Styka, renowned Polish painter shown here at his easel, seeks to name the world's most beautiful five women.

MARION DAVIES
Marion Davies, American film beauty, is one, says Mr. Styka.

GLADYS COOPER

PEGGY ESMOND O'BRIAN

MLLE. JACQUELINE SCHALLY

PRO-BRITISH TENDENCY CHARGED

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A new attack was launched on the Kellogg-Briand peace treaty this afternoon when Senator Blaine, of Wisconsin, sponsored a reservation, which would condition American ratification upon unconditional approval by Great Britain.

Charging the British declaration of approval contained a "new article 10"—such as proved the basis of the old League of Nations fight—Blaine proposed the United States ratify the treaty only on the understanding that "the British note shall not imply any admission of any reserve in connection therewith."

RESERVATIONS IMPLIED

The British note, written by Austin Chamberlain, British secretary of state for foreign affairs, to Alanson B. Houghton, American ambassador to Great Britian, declared the "protection of certain regions against attack is to the British empire a measure of self defense." This was understood to refer to India and the British dominion possessions.

Blaine declared the British empire would obtain under the Kellogg-Briand treaty all she did not get under article 10 of the league covenant.

"ONE-SIDELY BRITISH"

"If America adheres to the peace treaty," he charged, "that we legalize Great Britain's dominion in all the world and we acknowledge that less than 50,000,000 subjects of Great Britain shall have the right to rule over 400,000,000 people without their consent and against their protest.

"This proposed formula for peace," Blaine charged, "stabilizes and legalizes the spoils of war obtained by the greatest empire in the world. It is a one-sided declaration of British policy.

"I cannot consent to a treaty that obligates America to recognize and respect the claim of any nation to the right of independence of other nations."

Chicago to Hear "Gabfest" Contest

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Silence may be golden, but not in Chicago. In fact there will be no gold for the silent ones at all in Chicago's first international "gabfest," which will open on Saturday night at the Coliseum and continue for 15 days.

Winners will divide 10 per cent of the receipts, all being paid off in gold.

Double Hanging Cited as "Murder"

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—In an interview given to the New Orleans States, Lieut. Gov. Paul N. Cyr, a member of the State Pardon Board, said today that Gov. Huey P. Long had double-crossed him in refusing to grant commutation in execution of Mrs. Ada Bauer Lebouef and Dr. Thomas E. Dreher and that the hanging of this man and woman would be "judicial murder."

HUSBAND LEFT HER, ACTRESS CHARGES

Marvel R. Hantman, actress and artist's model, charges her husband, Eugene R. Hantman, with desertion in a divorce action in which testimony was given before Judge Thomas J. Ford in Common Pleas Court yesterday. Mrs. Hantman's address is Evans avenue, McKeesport, and her husband is said to live in Beaver Falls.

They eloped, she said, on November 11, 1926. Hantman then took her, she testified, to live with his mother, Mrs. Sophie Handmaker, owner of a jewelry store in Beaver Falls.

She and Hantman are of different religious faiths, and this, she said, led to dissension.

Hantman, according to the wife, left her. She remained with his mother for 10 days, then returned to her home in McKeesport, and has not lived with her husband since.

She sued Mrs. Handmaker for $100,000 damages for alleged alienation of Hantman's affections, but the case has never come to trial.

Since her husband's alleged desertion, Mrs. Hantman has been back on the stage, she said. She has had parts in two musical comedies, and also has been employed as model by a nationally known firm of photographers.

TOY TAKEN OUT OF BOY'S NECK

CINCINNATI, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—A feeling of great relief was evident among attendants at the Mithoefer Hospital here today where Frankie Brooks, 18-monthsold Asco, W. Va., baby was on the road to recovery after suffering more than two weeks with a toy motorcycle lodged in his throat.

Surgeons late yesterday inserted an esophagus scope, a sort of tube, in the boy's throat and drew the obstruction out, the actual process requiring only one minute.

Frankie swallowed the toy when eating a package of pop corn in which it had been concealed as a prize.

SAFETY PIN REMOVED

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Three-year-old Lillian Rateli left the Jefferson Hospital yesterday, after an open safety pin had been removed from her lung.

The family resides in Warren, O.

Waynesburger Wins 'Marryin' Clerk' Title

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 3.—Russell Roberts, who has completed his term of clerk of courts in Greene county, has wrested the title of the "marryin' clerk" from John Westfall, former clerk. During the past year Roberts united 73 couples in marriage, while Westfall's record was 63 marriages. A total of 226 marriage licenses were issued in Greene county during 1928 against 227 for 1927.

Bishop of Canterbury Held Sick in Bed

CANTERBURY, Eng., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—A recurrence of the inflammation with which he suffered has retarded the recovery of the Archbishop of Canterbury who has been ill for some days. The Archbishop's physician said today it will be necessary for his patient to pass a further period of rest in bed.

And "No Checkee" But Hard Cash Pays Fine

EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—The most honorable Chinese custom of sprinkling shirts from the most honorable mouth found itself rebuked today by Evanston's most honorable law.

Mr. Joe Dong Dong, who favored the mouth method at Charlie Young's laundry, was noncommittal concerning the legal and sanitary aspects of the art when Judge Brightmire questioned him yesterday.

"Sure, I sprinkle shirtee allee samee mouth," he affirmed.

"That will be $10," said Judge Brightmire.

"I sprinkle shirtee allee samee like my boss tell me to," explained Mr. Joe Dong Dong.

HIT-RUN DRIVER HURTS BOY

Shortly after the announcement was made that a sub-station of the highway patrol would be established in New Kensington to break up speeding in the Freeport road, William Mack, Jr., 7, of Harmarville, was injured seriously by a hit-and-run driver. A sister of the victim narrowly escaped being run down.

The new sub-station will be established in New Kensington and the police will patrol the stretch of highway at all hours.

The Mack boy was walking with his sister, Evelyn, 8, who jumped aside in time to avoid being run down. The two were on their way to a store. A. R. Kramer, of Natrona Heights, picked up the victim and rushed him to the Pittsburgh Hospital, where it was stated he had suffered a fractured skull. No trace has been found of the motorist, who sped on after striking the boy.

Afghans in Yielding Still Fight Reforms

LONDON, Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Fighting between rebellious Afghan tribesmen and King Amanullah's loyal forces has ceased entirely, according to advices from Kabul and Peshawar today. It is reported that leaders of the rebellious Shinwari tribesmen will demand abolition of European reforms for Afghan women, which Queen Souriya sought to have introduced after her return from Europe with the king.

Girl Evangelist's Backers Face Law

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Vincent T. Pisarra, superintendent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, today threatened to prosecute the parents and promoters of Helen Campbell, 13-year-old evangelist, if charges of exploiting the child in a three-weeks' revival campaign are borne out. Joseph Lewis, president of the Free Thinkers of America, complained of the girl's presence at the evangelical meetings.

ABANDONED CAR HINTS OF PAY ROBBERY

An automobile believed to have been used by payroll bandits was found abandoned early today in Diamond street, near Grant street, with evidence of missing cash in the machine. Pay envelopes, bearing amounts that totaled more than $1,000 were found hidden in the rear of the machine.

City detectives and police learned that the license plates on the car had been stolen yesterday from a machine on the Duquesne way wharf. Except for a serial number, the envelopes bore no other mark. Police are endeavoring to learn the identity of the car owner.

Patrolman Thomas Abbott noticed the machine while walking his beat early today. He searched the car and discovered the envelopes on the floor beneath a carpet. No payroll robbery has been reported recently in the county and detectives are of the opinion that a robbery had been staged somewhere in nearby counties.

MEXICAN PEACE OFFER MADE

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—President Portes Gil today announced a plan to accept the surrender of the insurgents by which he hopes to pacify the country within two months.

The president has instructed military commanders in all zones where insurgents are active to accept their surrender in case overtures are made and to grant them safe conduct to their homes.

The government will pay each insurgent 20 pesos ($10) for his rifle and 30 pesos for his saddle. It will also give him a parcel of land and implements to till it in case he so desires.

It was officially stated that the surrender of the insurgent chieftain, Benjamin Mendoza, had been agreed upon and that he and 46 of his followers accepted the government's conditions.

CRISIS ABATES IN BELGRADE

VIENNA, Jan. 3.—(INS.)—King Alexander, of Jugoslavia, who has been ill, has recovered sufficiently to give his personal attention to the new political crisis, said advices from Belgrade today.

Anton Koroschetz, who resigned with his cabinet, has consented to remain in office temporarily until a new ministry is formed.

It is indicated that Croatians will be offered one or more posts in the new ministry. By forming a coalition government the King's advisers hope to counteract the movement for Croatian autonomy.

DUTCH PAINTINGS VALUED AT $30,000,000 ON DISPLAY

LONDON, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—The private view today of the loan collection of famous Dutch paintings brought crowds of London's titled, artistic and socially well-known persons to the galleries of Burlington House of Piccadilly.

The pictures are valued in the neighborhood of $30,000,000, although Rembrandt, Vermeer and Frans Hals and other creators of the masterpieces received barely enough money for their work to keep body and soul together. Governments, famous museums and American millionaires loaned their priceless canvasses for the collection and the guarding of these treasures was as elaborate as any ever arranged by Scotland Yard for the safety of a visiting monarch.

The exhibition will be opened publicly tomorrow and last until January 9. In that time the 300 paintings will be continuously under the eyes of special detectives.

Special visitors from abroad were present today, including a delegation headed by the Burgomaster of Amsterdam. The Holland contribution to the collection is the largest from any one country.

Firemen Angered By Sixth Blaze Raze Building

YORK, Pa., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Members of the Hanover Fire Department are receiving congratulations upon having vanquished a stubborn fire in an ice house owned by Barnes Kintzing. The fire broke out six times within 36 hours, each time the firemen returning to their quarters believing they had extinguished it.

The sixth time, however, the exasperated firemen attached books to the burning building and threw the walls into the ice pond.

KING RESTLESS BUT HOLDS GAINS

By HARRY R. FLORY,
International News Service.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—King George's condition was unchanged today, but he passed a restless night, the royal physicians stated in an official bulletin issued at 11:15 o'clock this morning.

"The King has passed a restless night. There is no change to report in His Majesty's condition," the bulletin read.

It was signed by Sir Stanley Hewett, Sir Hugh Rigby and Lord Dawson, of Penn.

In court circles the statement of Sir William Joynson-Hicks, home secretary, that the "worst was over" was regarded as indicating that an official announcement from the physicians that the King was out of danger would soon be forthcoming.

Sir William made the statement upon leaving for a fortnight's holiday on the French Riviera yesterday. It is felt that the Home Secretary would not leave England unless certain that the King's recovery was assured.

Woman, 92, Dies Ere Her Poem Is Printed

HUDSON, Wis., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Unaware that her poem in memory of the unknown soldier had found its way into print, an ambition which she long had cherished, Mrs. Cassandra P. Dyer, 92, of Hudson, is dead after a two weeks' illness with pneumonia.

The poem, "A Mother of an Unknown," written Armistice Day, 1921, was published in newspapers throughout the United States through "A Washington Bystander," a column of Capital life conducted by Kirke L. Simpson, staff writer for the Associated Press.

Mrs. Dyer sent the verse to Simpson after reading one of his articles praising the sacrifice of gold star mothers. None of her sons served in the World War.

Social Leader Freed In Policeman's Death

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Police last night absolved Maj. Wilbert B. Ashby, wealthy Lake Forest, Ill., architect, and his chauffeur, James Norton, of all blame in connection with the death New Year's Eve of Policeman John Sacht.

Maj. Ashby said his car was stolen about an hour before Sacht was killed.

At the age of two full days, Mr. Gene Tunney Odato, scion of the Odato family at 3614 Brownsville road, Brentwood, selected his own name. When the family members couldn't agree, they placed 25 names in a ballot box and with his own chubby fist Baby Odato pulled forth that one bearing "Gene Tunney." Looking at the ballot, his older brother, Angelo, liked the name and his father, Patsy, can't see how in later years Gene can find fault with the name when he selected it himself.

KIDNAPED GIRL BLAMES OLD MAN IN NOTE

ATLANTA, Ga., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—A kind old man with a cane was the object of a police search today after parents of Doris Turner, a popular high school girl, had received a letter from their missing daughter saying she had been kidnaped.

The letter said:

"I am so nervous that I can hardly write. To make it short I have been kidnaped. The old man with the cane is the one.

"Please don't worry, as he is a kind old man about half crazy but not desperate. Doris."

HELD IN OHIO CASE

ORRVILLE, O., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Four men and a woman, all members of the same family, are in the county jail at Wooster awaiting grand jury consideration on charges of child stealing in connection with the disappearance a week ago of Melvin Horst, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Horst, of Orrville.

They pleaded not guilty last night when arraigned before Mayor A. U. Weygandt, of Orrville. They were unable to post bonds of $10,000 each.

Those held are Elias (Nul) Arnold, 55, of Orrville; William Arnold, 20, electrical supply dealer, of Akron, his son; Arthur Arnold, Orrville, another son; Mrs. Dorothy McHenry, 27, of Orrville, daughter of the elder Arnold, and her husband, Bascom McHenry.

It is the supposition that hatred of Roy Horst, city marshal, caused his enemies to kidnap Melvin.

$1,500 REWARD

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Spurred by one of the most baffling murder mysteries in this city's history and by a $1,500 reward offered by state and county, peace officers continued their efforts tonight to run down the slayer of little June Nelson, whose body was found in a creek near here.

Houseboats' Mooring In Lake Erie Granted

HARRISBURG, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—The State Department of Justice, in an opinion written by James W. Shull, deputy attorney general, today ruled that the Pennsylvania State Park and Harbor Commission, of Erie, has no authority to prohibit houseboats and other small boats from mooring in the waters of Presque Isle outside of the harbor line or the anchorage of grain fleets there in winter.

The department found jurisdiction over the lands which abut or border on the bay is vested in the commission, but not power over the waters of the lake or submerged land within the bay.

Turkish Minister Of Education Dies

ANGORA, Turkey, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—The minister of education, Nedja Bey, died yesterday following an operation for appendicitis. His death came on the day on which by governmental decree the whole nation went to school to learn the new alphabet which supplants the Arabic.

The Minister had played a great part in the new educational work of the republic and the whole country was plunged into mourning by his death.

County Constables' Group Seeks Charter

An application for a charter was presented in Common Pleas Court before Judge Thomas J. Ford yesterday by Attorney J. I. Simon in behalf of the Constables' Beneficial and Protective Association of Allegheny County. The application sets forth that the association is formed for social enjoyment, benevolent, charitable and educational advantage of constables of the county. E. P. Murray of Millvale is president.

Adamson, Railroad Law Author, Very Ill

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Former Congressman William C. Adamson, of Georgia, who sponsored the railroad act named for him, was reported "very low" from an attack of pneumonia at the Presbyterian Hospital today. Judge Adamson, nearly 75, entered the hospital in a weakened condition last week.

CRUSADE TO KEEP ZONE CLEAR

A proposed invasion of the exclusive Morewood avenue residential district by the building of an apartment house at the northeast corner of Fifth and Morewood avenues has aroused virtually all residents of the district to the engagement of counsel to fight erection of the structure.

Notice of the proposal came in an ordinance introduced by Councilman Daniel Winters to authorize erection of the building. The site, in the center of one of the most exclusive residence sections of the city, fronts 180 feet on Fifth avenue and 450 feet on Morewood avenue and is the property of the Ferguson estate. Surrounding it are many handsome homes, with spacious lawns, the residences of some of the city's leading financiers and business men.

COMMITTEE ORGANIZED

Residents of the neighborhood are up in arms against an apartment building in their district. To combat the scheme, a committee of Shadyside property owners has been organized and has retained Attorneys Wallace, Patterson & Collin.

CLASS C ZONE

The zoning ordinance classifies the district in class C, which limits the use of the property to one-family residences. Surrounding the district is a Class B district, in which the erection of apartment houses is not permitted. It is claimed by the committee that Council has not authority under the zoning act to pick out individual lots in the middle of a district of one class and, under the guise of calling it a district of another class, authorize the erection of apartment houses.

The proposed ordinance is up for hearing before Council next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and, if passed, the committee, through counsel, proposes to contest it on the ground that it is contrary to the Act and unconstitutional under both the state and federal constitutions.

Attorney Wallace said this morning that it is not known definitely who is behind the proposed apartment building.

RADIO BATTLE IMPENDS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—A North American conference to arrange a distribution of available high frequency radio channels will be held in Ottawa, probably January 31, it was learned today.

Indications point to the development of a bitter fight with Canada, Mexico and Cuba arraigned against the United States. The other North American countries are not satisfied with their radio facilities, either high frequency or the channels within the broadcast band.

The Federal Radio Commission, State Department and probably the Navy Department, will be represented at Ottawa, where an effort will be made to work out an agreement satisfactory to all countries.

60 Killed in Crashes

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 3.—Sixty persons were killed in Westmoreland county in automobile accidents in 1928, the yearly report of the coroner shows. Four were killed in aviation accidents, 48 in mine accidents, 29 committed suicide and 15 were murdered during the year.

FLYER SPEEDS SERUM INTO ARCTIC

EDMONTON, Alta., Jan. 3.—(INS.)—In answer to a plea from the vast reaches of the Arctic to save lives placed in jeopardy through the ravages of diphtheria, Capt. Wilfred (Wop) May, Edmonton aviator and ace during the World War, was flying to Fairchild River today with a supply of anti-toxin.

One man already is dead of the disease and the serum is needed to prevent a spread. The plane left the post, which is 50 miles north of Fort Vermilion and about 500 miles from Edmonton, in a direct line.

Capt. May was expected to reach his destination this evening. The plane took off from the Edmonton and Northern Alberta Aero Club flying field at 12 p. m. yesterday, and arrived at McClennan at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

The machine is open and to protect the pilot from the intensely cold weather, a specially prepared electrically heated suit was manufactured.

In the ordinary course of events about two weeks at least and possibly more would be required to transport the serum to its destination. Capt. May volunteered for the race against death.

PARTIES DENIED BY FILM STAR

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3.—(AP)—Alma Rubens, motion picture actress, pleaded not guilty in Municipal Court here yesterday to a charge of disturbing the peace.

The complaint was issued Monday at the request of Mrs. M. Uhl, owner of the house in which Miss Rubens lives, and neighbors of the actress, including Leroy Mason, Mr. and Mrs. Fibis Fox, and Rita Carewe, all of Hollywood.

Miss Rubens waived a jury hearing and trial was set for January 8.

The actress denied that she had had any "wild parties," but admitted that a young man visitor may have talked loudly. The complaint alleged that neighbors were disturbed by loud and "vile" language from the Rubens bungalow and by "wild parties."

Following the court appearance, Mrs. Uhl indicated that she would be willing to drop the case against Miss Rubens. The deputy prosecutor in charge of the case was absent, but court attaches said that the case probably would be dismissed.

Can't Live Apart, Both Kill Selves

GREENVILLE, Mich., Jan. 3—(INS.)—Grace Johns, 29-year-old telephone operator, is dead and Hans Larson, 60, is dying here today, the result, police say, of a suicide pact. They were found in Larson's home, a revolver between Larson and Miss Johnson's body. On a table was a note signed by both. It read:

"We are both awfully sorry, but we can not keep on living this way, apart from each other. We had decided on this a long time ago."

Rockefeller to See Egypt Excavations

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(AP)—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., sailed last night aboard the Italian liner Augustus for a rest and to observe progress and results of Egyptian excavations, a subject in which he said he had been interested for a number of years.

Accompanying him were Mrs. Rockefeller and their son, David, and a party of six other persons.

Sentence Woman for Drug Law Violation

CHICAGO, Jan. 3—Miss Jane Boyd, whose arrest grew out of the investigation of the slaying of Arnold Rothstein, New York gambler, was sentenced to serve a year and a day in prison, following conviction in Federal Court yesterday on a charge of violating the anti-narcotic laws. Federal agents raided Miss Boyd's apartment here and seized a trunk filled with drugs.

Famous Recipe For Stopping a Severe Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, soothes away the inflammation, and loosens the germ-laden phlegm. At the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Divorce to Every 8 Marriages for Year

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 3—There were 1,331 marriages recorded, one less than in 1927, according to clerk of courts in Washington county, during 1928. A total of 166 divorces were granted during the year, one for every eight marriages.

GASOLINE PRICE FIXING DENIED TO STATES

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—States were held to be powerless to fix the price of gasoline by a ruling of the Supreme Court yesterday setting aside as invalid such a law in Tennessee.

"The court asserted that it had repeatedly declared that a state legislature was without constitutional power to fix prices at which commodities may be sold, services rendered or property used, unless the business or property involved was "affected with a public interest."

Its opinion handed down by Justice Sutherland, to which Justice Holmes dissented, declared that gasoline is one of the ordinary commodities of trade, and that dealing in it, irrespective of its extent, does not affect it with a public interest.

"The state of Tennessee had declared gasoline to be a public utility in view of its universal usage and indispensability, with the object of meeting the previous decisions of the Supreme Court regarding the fixing of commodity prices. The claim that the price fixing law was warranted because the sale of gasoline in Tennessee was monopolized by certain dealers was not sustained by the facts, the court stated.

The validity of the law was challenged by the Standard Oil Company of Louisiana and the Texas Company. The state of Tennessee asserted that it had been the practice of the large oil producing companies to depress the retail prices until competition was removed and then jump up the prices to the injury of the consumer.

HENRY C. FRY, DEAN OF GLASS MAKERS, DIES

ROCHESTER, Pa., Jan. 3.—Henry C. Fry, Sr., 88, president of the H. C. Fry Glass Company, dean of glass manufacturers of this part of the country and known locally as Rochester's "Grand Old Man," died early today at his home here.

Beginning as assistant shipping clerk in the glass works of William Phillips & Co., Pittsburgh, Fry became one of the leaders of the glass making industry of Western Pennsylvania. His business career was interrupted by the Civil War. He enlisted as a private in the Fifteenth Regiment, Pennsylvania Cavalry, and served two years, participating in all the battles of the Army of the Cumberland.

After being mustered out, Mr. Fry embarked in the manufacture of glass under the firm name, Lippincott, Fry & Company, Pittsburgh. He retired from the firm in 1869. In 1872 he came to Rochester and had since resided here. Mr. Fry was instrumental in developing this town; was president of the First National Bank from its organization in 1883 until a few years ago, and was formerly a member of the school board and of council.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church and was Sunday School superintendent for many years. He was a member of the Duquesne Club and of the Chamber of Commerce, of Pittsburgh.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Dell Fry; two sons, Major H. C. Fry, Pittsburgh, and J. Howard Fry, Chicago; and three daughters, Mrs. A. M. Jenkinson, Point Chautauqua, N. Y., Mrs. H. J. Sage, New York, and Mrs. Nathan E. Kendall, Des Moines, Ia.

Four Held for Court On Liquor Charges

Justice of the Peace W. S. Edwards, of Glenfield, last night held four alleged proprietors of liquor establishments for court. Against one of them an additional charge of operating two slot machines was lodged. The men were arrested in raids staged by prohibition agents and constables from Edwards' office. M. Ward, of 51 Bates street, was the man held on two charges. Peter Capone, Homewood avenue, Merle Wilson, 15 South Diamond street, and Joseph Sioline, of East Monongahela were those held on the liquor charges.

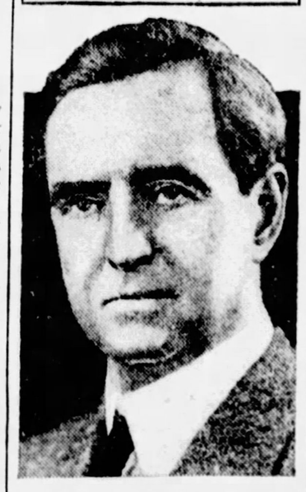
Less risk of "flu" if you do two things

Precautions you can take immediately

Takes no chances



"THERE is no use worrying every time you draw a breath for fear you will breathe in some influenza germs. Do the following two things and forget it: First, keep your nose and throat well protected, and second, keep your system in good condition. The chances are you will avoid contagion.

"As a first precaution, I am prescribing Mistol to all my patients, as it protects the nose and throat against the germs of influenza. Use it every morning, the first thing, before you go out. Again when you come home at night. Don't be afraid to use it freely; it will do no harm.

"Just tilt your head back and apply Mistol with the special dropper which comes with every package, until you feel it trickling down your throat. It will clear your head wonderfully, relieve any inflammation; it will help dry up a running nose. It has a soothing effect on the throat, too. Gargle it for a sore throat or a little irritating cough. Above all, it protects the nose and throat against the germs of influenza.

"This is the first precaution; now for the second: Physicians agree that, particularly in times of epidemic, weakening of the system due to purging by laxatives and cathartics is not advisable; therefore, many doctors are prescribing Nujol. It is not a laxative or cathartic but a pure, natural substance that helps your system function at all times the way nature intended it to. Like pure water, it is harmless. In no case does Nujol cause weakening of the system. Take it night and morning; it will keep you in first class condition. You will have a far better chance to resist "flu" or any other diseases that are going the rounds.

"The combination treatment of Nujol and Mistol is a double safeguard against colds and influenza. Start this wise twofold precaution now. Don't delay. Put worry out of your mind. The chances are good that you will escape influenza and colds. Nujol and Mistol are on sale at all druggists."

PNEUMONIA NOW ON DECREASE IN CITY

Seventy-one new cases of pneumonia were reported to the City Bureau of Infectious Diseases during the past 24 hours.

This might be taken as indicating a slight decrease in the number of cases as the previous 48 hours showed 166 cases of the disease. It was pointed out, however, that

A slight gain is noted, however, within a day or two of the New Year activities as predicted by health authorities.

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Jan. 3—Public schools in Jefferis Landing were ordered closed today on account of the influenza epidemic which has spread throughout eastern Greene county. Schools have also been closed in Greene and Morgan townships. The closing is for an indefinite period.

FLU CUTS FESTIVAL

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 3—Flu has won out over circus day. Due to time lost in the senior high school, Principal V. S. Irvine has announced that schools will not be dismissed for circus day, an annual feature. That day is necessary to complete the school year.

SCHOOLS STAY CLOSED

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 3—In a last-minute decision the board of education determined the public schools should remain closed until Monday instead of resuming today as scheduled.

PUPILS LACKING

ZELIENOPLE, Pa., Jan. 3—The Zelienople schools have closed because of the influenza epidemic. The schools reopened the first of the year but were forced to discontinue sessions because there were so many absentees.

OPEN AT GREENSBURG

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 3—About 8 per cent of the students in the Greensburg schools are absent on account of the influenza epidemic, a checkup at the opening of the winter term showed Wednesday. School authorities declare the situation is not alarming.

MON VALLEY RECOVERS

CHARLEROI, Pa., Jan. 3.—(INS)—The upper Monongahela valley district, after weathering a three weeks' influenza scare, is noticably relieved today. A survey conducted by health boards in principal towns shows sickness on the decline.

Attendance in Charleroi schools is normal this week, while Monongahela, Donora and Monessen schools are gradually reaching normal, according to the surveys.

BURGLAR FLEES WITH $40

A burglar who climbed to the front porch roof of the home of W. H. Rush at 5914 Walnut street and climbed through a bedroom window, stole $40 from a purse on a dresser and escaped. He was seen climbing down from the roof by Mr. Rush, who was awakened by the noise. Lieut. Bernard McArdle and a squad of police responded to a call, but the man had escaped. Rush was unable to give police a description of the intruder.

Lowden Takes Trip To Mediterranean

NEW YORK, Jan. 3—(AP.)—Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, sailed for Naples last night on the Italian liner Augustus.

Accompanying him were Mrs. Lowden, their daughter, Florence, and their son, Pullman. They will go to Egypt, Palestine and Greece and plan to be away about four months.

Girl, Brother Die At Grade Crossing

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 3—(INS.)—Miss Ida Belle Yoder and her brother, Mark Yoder, were killed and Tillman Neuhauser, Eureka, Ill., seriously injured in a grade crossing accident at Gibson City, near here. The slippery condition of the road caused Neuhauser to lose control of his automobile as he attempted to cross the tracks in front of a train. The Yoders were riding with him.

5 Convicted, 9 Freed In Butler Rum Case

BUTLER, Pa., Jan. 3.—Juries in Butler County acquitted nine persons on liquor charges and convicted five in 1928, according to District Attorney Charles H. Miller. As an offset, 106 persons pleaded guilty and saved the county costs of prosecution. The 141 cases last year included violators of dry laws and persons charged with driving while intoxicated.

BARRIE MAY BE PEER WITH NAME OF THRUMS

By J. C. OUSTREISHER.
International News Service.

LONDON, Jan. 3.—Sir James M. Barrie, known and beloved by children the world over through his "Peter Pan," may be made a peer of England, it was learned today.

His elevation to the nobility, if it actually takes place, will not be until next summer. The presentation of the usual New Year's honors were delayed by the illness of King George.

Sir James was created a baronet in 1913. Of late, he has been taking a prominent part in public life, although his antipathy against newspaper interviews remains as strong as ever.

It is suggested somewhat whimsically that Barrie, should he be elevated, might take the name of Thrums. He gained Scottish fame which was the locale of one of his most famous works, "Sentimental Tommy." Lord Beerle of Thrums, the world may be, if he chose thus to immortalize the village which helped to make him famous.

Sir James is president of the Society of Authors. In many ways he is more active in literary and public life than some of his great contemporaries such as Wells, Shaw and Kipling.

HOOVER MEETS COOLIDGE MONDAY

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN.
International News Service.

ABOARD U. S. S. UTAH (via Arlington, Va., radio station), Jan. 3.—President-elect Herbert Hoover, due in Washington Sunday evening, probably will have his first meeting with President Coolidge at luncheon Monday. This was the understanding on shipboard today.

The Utah is less than 1,000 miles off the Virginia coast. Despite the ship has been northward bound for 15 days the weather is still uncomfortably warm in daytime. The decline in temperature has averaged one point a day since leaving Montevideo.

WILL LEASE CAPITAL HOME

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Expecting to reside at No. 1600 Pennsylvania avenue until 1932, at least, President-elect Herbert Hoover has started negotiations to lease the home he has occupied for eight years as a cabinet officer.

The Hoover home at 2300 S street probably will be occupied after March 4 by Senator Frederick Walcott, of Connecticut.

CITY'S FINANCE ACCOUNTING GROUPED

Clerks in the city controller's office today are installing recently-acquired bookkeeping machines essential for centralizing accounting divisions of all departments in the controller's quarters.

Under the new system, records of appropriations and disbursements of all funds and the preparation of employes' payrools will be confined to the controller's office as a substitution for the existing plan of numerous accounting divisions scattered throughout the various departments.

Eight present employes in the various accounting divisions will be moved about January 15 to the controller's suite to inaugurate the new bookkeeping system and about 60 days later the remaining 35 employes assigned to payroll work will be placed under the controller's direct supervision.

The centralized system was tentatively authorized by Council some time ago after considerable research of plans in other cities. The new system will be ratified when a pending ordinance is considered in Finance Committee next week.

MOTHER, INFANT DIE IN FIRE

NORTHUMBERLAND, Pa., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—An explosion in the boiler room of a garage yesterday caused a fire in which a mother and her 18-months-old daughter lost their lives, when they were trapped in their apartment over the automobile shop.

Two other children were burned, one critically, while another mother and her two children were carried to safety.

The dead: Mrs. M. A. Gulick, 35, and her youngest daughter, Erdith Mildred, 3, is in a serious condition in a Sunbury hospital. Donna, 4, was the third child burned.

The bodies were found by firemen after they had extinguished the fire, which destroyed four automobiles and a truck, causing a total loss estimated at $75,000.

Mrs. Harry Cahn and her two children were rescued from their apartment by firemen, who placed a ladder to one of the windows and carried the trio to safety. Dense clouds of smoke blocked the rescue of Mrs. Gulick and Erdith before the floor caved in.

Blast Causes Fire Razing Two Houses

INDIANA, Pa., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—An explosion, followed by fire, destroyed two Indiana homes and badly damaged a third yesterday, causing loss of $10,000. The blast occurred in the home of Thomas Mistretta, and police believe a bomb had been set off under the front porch.

Before firemen reached the Mistretta home, the fire had spread to the homes of Mrs. Onofia Scarletti, mother-in-law of Mistretta, and Arthur R. Long. The Mistretta and Scarletti families were absent.

Investigation Made Of Road Man's Death

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—In an effort to piece together details surrounding the death of Neil F. Hathway, divisional maintenance engineer of the West Virginia Road Commission, who was found dead near Rockville, Md., yesterday, Plumer Barket and James I. Pratt, of the division office here, were sent to Rockville to conduct an inquiry.

Hathway's body was found with wounds in the head, apparently inflicted when a shotgun was accidentally discharged.

WETS, DRYS ACCLAIM HEARST PROHIBITION SURVEY

Criminal Conditions Created by Dry Law Demand Better Plan

PROHIBITION HAS FINANCED THE UNDERWORLD.

There is no use preaching, as we all do, that "crime does not pay," when it so obviously does pay—and pays big enough dividends to provide for the creation and employment of gangs of gunmen and thugs and murderers and bootleggers and hijackers, many of whom have become rich and consequently almost respectable; and all of whom are as earnestly, if not as conscientiously, in favor of prohibition as you sir, or any other of that measure's honest advocates.

You say that those who are in favor of the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment are willing to admit defeat.

Not at all.

They are only willing to admit FACTS, and to call for a more intelligent and more successful plan which will lead them more surely to VICTORY.

You imply that the Republican party has just won its unprecedented political victory on the prohibition issue and that the principal appeal of the Democratic candidate was his promise to use his high office to urge a relaxation of the liquor laws.

The Republican party no more won a victory on the prohibition issue than the Prohibition party ever won a victory on the prohibition issue.

My contention is, and was during the whole campaign, in which I supported Mr. Hoover, that the liquor issue was not an issue at all in the federal campaign and that the President could do nothing to relax the liquor laws and that Mr. Smith was making a false appeal which no intelligent voter should pay any attention to.

Charles Evans Hughes, formerly a justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, and fairly familiar with the laws of the land and the legitimate issues of the campaign, took the same view.

There were GENUINE issues in the last campaign—such as the maintenance of the high degree of prosperity which had prevailed under a Republican administration—and the voters had sense enough to recognize them.

You say that out of 96 members of the Senate 80 are dry and that out of 435 members of the House 329 are dry.

I would like to say, if it is not disrespectful, that many of them are dry intermittently, as it were, on the installment plan and that their highest point of desiccation is reached during or immediately preceding a political campaign.

However, that has only an indirect application to the merits of prohibition as a temperance measure.

I am against prohibition for the same reasons that the Church Temperance Society of the Episcopal Church stated they were opposed to prohibition—because it has set the cause of temperance back 20 years:

Because it has substituted an ineffective campaign of force for an effective campaign of education;

Because it has replaced comparatively uninjurious light wines and beer with the worst kind of hard liquor and bad liquor;

Because it has increased drinking not only among men, but has extended drinking to women and even to children;

Because the most nearly universal Christmas present displayed in the shops, the department stores, the drug stores and practically in every emporium during this Christmas season of good will to mankind, were the hip-flasks and cocktail-shakers.

I am opposed to prohibition because it has created more and more skillful and more highly remunerated and more dangerous criminals;

And because it has corrupted our forces of law enforcement, and to a certain degree even our judges;

And because it has made pretenders and falsifiers out of so many of our public officials.

I am opposed to prohibition because it has instituted in the government un-American methods of spying and sneaking and snooping and keyhole-peeping;

And because prohibition fanatics, not content with that, are trying to have the government go further and institute a secret police system, and a system of repression and oppression almost equal to that which wrought the ruin of the Russian government.

What has become of our cherished American freedom of action, our boasted American personal liberty?

All that we held dear in our political system, as well as in our individual independence has been sacrificed to a fetish.

Any sacrifice might be justified to further a great cause; but prohibition has not furthered the cause.

It has created intolerable criminal conditions and intolerable political conditions.

And it has done nothing after 10 years trial to advance the cause of temperance, in which you and I are both sincerely and deeply interested.

Therefore I think the time has come to call for another plan, a better plan, a more practical plan, which WILL advance the cause of temperance and will not merely promote crime, discredit law, demoralize the citizenship and prostitute the public service.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

WASHINGTON STIRRED BY PRIZE PLAN

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3—Keen interest has been awakened here by the publication yesterday of William Randolph Hearst's offer of a prize of $25,000 for the best plan for repeal of the eighteenth amendment and the substitution of a practical measure for the promotion of temperance.

Among both the wets and drys, there was evidence of belief the offer is an astute political move that would result in a public discussion more advantageous to the proponents of a government policy.

Drinking pool enthusiasts did not conceal their admiration, nor did government officials. As a general proposition, the town took up the discussion of the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment with the zest it would show in the tip on a horse race, but with a little more seriousness.

Wet leaders were frankly pleased. The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, which is conducting a campaign against the amendment, was particularly pleased. Spokesmen for the organization said they highly favored the plan for such an educational campaign, as the prize would stimulate and would give it every support.

EDWARDS SCORES DURANT

Any attempt by Congress to investigate prohibition enforcement would be a farce, Senator Edward I. Edwards, of New Jersey, declared in dissenting to the proposal of W. C. Durant.

"The Detroit auto manufacturer would have a congressional committee determine why the dry laws had not been enforced and render a report to the President, who, in this instance, would be Herbert Hoover.

"Such an inquiry would get the nation nowhere on enforcement, Edwards declared.

Senator Couzens, of Michigan, said "everybody knows what's wrong with prohibition". He suggested Durant employ Maj. Mills to make an investigation.

"VIOLATIONS RAMPANT"

Senator King, of Utah, said Congress and the public knew the law is not enforced and that an investigation was unnecessary. "Violations are rampant," said King.

"The father of the Eighteenth Amendment, Senator Sheppard, of Texas, said he had no comment to make. Prohibition Commissioner Doran, who was outspoken in his criticism of Maj. Mills' prize winning plan in the recent Durant contest, also refused to comment.

"Some two years ago the Reed slush fund committee of the Senate made an abortive effort to induce the Anti-Saloon League and other extra-legal bodies that have illegally and unlawfully interfered with the duly constituted federal authorities in their activities to enforce prohibition" declared Edwards.

SENATE MUZZLED

"The pressure from church bodies and allied anti-saloon organizations, however, was so great not even the Senate of the United States was allowed to bring before the nation a full and complete resume of the true conditions of prohibition enforcements.

"If this be a fact, and the records of the Reed committee will bear me out, what possible merit can there be in Mr. Durant's suggestion that a congressional committee further proceed to investigate prohibition enforcement."

Senator Edwards rapped the Durant prohibition contest award of $25,000 to Maj. Chester Mills, former New York prohibition administrator, who declared a curb on illegal industrial alcohol diversion was the greatest need to enforcement.

"The plan for effective enforcement advanced by Maj. Mills is both ineffective and illusive," declared Edwards.

"If Mr. Durant had followed the enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and its enabling statute, the Volstead act, with any degree of thoroughness, he would know that Congress has been investigating prohibition for the last nine years."

TOTAL DRYNESS IMPOSSIBLE

"America can prohibit the diversion of industrial alcohol for beverage purposes, absolutely ban the importation of foreign liquor across the seas and borders and arrest every hip-pocket flask toter in the country and still she will be no nearer bone dry enforcement than she is today.

"This may seem like a broad and exaggerated generalization, but as long as a large percentage of Americans do not believe it is a crime to take a drink, just so long will prohibition be class legislation.

"Just so long will it be ignored by everybody in America.

"Former Representative Volstead issued a statement yesterday in which he said:

"The greatest achievement of last year was the successful stopping at its source of alcohol diversion."

"This to my mind is a gross misstatement of fact and reflects the attitude of fanatical drys toward a constitutional amendment and a statute which are being flagrantly violated in every state of the union."

Edwards said that alcohol diversion was still uncurbed, despite claims of Prohibition Commissioner Doran.

"This alcohol is being diverted for illegal purposes through the connivance in many instances of dry agents," Edwards asserted.

Vanity of Girl Saves Victim Of Gas

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Jan. 3.—A young woman's vanity probably saved the life of Benjamin Savides, a Morgantown tailor.

Called upon to do a rush job of pressing, Savides turned on the gas under a pressing machine and was overcome. He was alone in the shop. A young woman passing the shop stopped to make use of a large mirror in the window for powdering her nose.

She noticed Savides prone upon the floor, called for help. He was revived after being rushed to a hospital.

DURANT FAVORS HEARST LAW SURVEY

suffer no concession to the liquor traffic.

You say that you believe there is "an enormous middle class, which probably is a majority class, who believe in temperance and believe in personal liberty and realize that temperance can be secured without prohibition, and never can be secured with prohibition."

In a disgraceful situation such as now confronts this great country of ours we have the right to ask of every intelligent citizen an answer to the following: "Are you for the bootlegger, the speakeasy and law defiance; or are you for the government, the Constitution and law observance?" with respect to the above, there can be no "middle class."

It seems to me that the sentiment of the people on this question, is expressed by the voting of representatives they send to Congress, where the liquor laws must be modified, if at all.

SEE DRY GAINS

Each succeeding Congress is drier than the last. Out of 96 members of the Senate, 80 are dry. Of the 435 members of the House, 329 are dry. Among the cities in the last election which turned from the frank liquor appeal of the Democratic candidate and gave their votes to Herbert Hoover, were Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit, Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Los Angeles, Buffalo and Cincinnati.

If the Republican party was swept into power by its promise of law enforcement, how can it be "put out of power" by carrying out its pledge?

I cannot believe that, pending repeal, you countenance nullification of part of the Constitution by non-observance and non-enforcement, turning the country over to the organized bootleggers, hijackers, political corruptionists and murder gangs now rampant.

BREEDS GOOD WILL

I believe that great good will come out of the public interest and public discussion stimulated by your prize offer. In the strict sense of the word the only possible "plan to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment" is already in existence, embedded in the Constitution of the United States.

Once an amendment to the Constitution has been solemnly enacted into law, it can only be repealed by a vote of two-thirds of each House of Congress, this vote to be ratified by the legislatures of 36 of the 48 states of the Union.

It is highly important to know what the people think. My contest brought out part of the answer. I am sure yours will bring more out of it.

It is a striking fact that the Eighteenth Amendment was ratified by all but two states. No amendment to the Constitution ever had such a large vote in Congress, was ratified by so many state legislatures, or was ratified in so short a time. We have every reason to think that the American people mean business against the liquor evil and that they mean business still.

NOT FANATICAL

For the necessary changes in the enforcement laws we need facts, as President-elect Hoover says. Therefore, I have suggested a congressional committee to find out what is the matter with the working of our enforcement laws. I have offered to that committee the abundant material in our files, contributed by the 23,000 odd contestants who wrote what they thought should be done. No doubt your contest will contribute a similar mine of material.

I hope that your great influence will be used to secure a congressional investigation.

I am no fanatical dry. I am for law enforcement. If we can't enforce this law I will be with you for its repeal, but first I want an honest effort to induce the decent people to observe it and force the criminal class to obey it.

MR. CASEY FINALLY GOES TO BAT FOR $1,000 CHECK

CHICAGO, Jan. 3—(AP)—If the Kansas City gentleman with the $1,000 check will telephone Briarcliff, 8782, Chicago, he may learn something to Thomas A. Casey's advantage.

For five years C. A. Meyer, Kansas City toymaker, has been looking for Casey to repay a loan. Times were tough for both Meyer and Casey, so the friend loaned Meyer $1,000 and then disappeared without leaving a forwarding address. But if Mr. Meyer will call Briargate 8782—

"He never wrote me and I never could find him though I searched diligently," Meyer said yesterday. Meyer was in Chicago on a [illegible] when here. "I won't be happy until he gets it."

Meyer went to [illegible] and learned that Casey had lived there [illegible].

"After consulting with [illegible] started for home [illegible] train had barely [illegible] when the police received a call.

"This is T. H. Casey speaking," a voice said. "I am a friend of Thomas A. Casey. He used to live at 5[illegible] road. I hear there is a man who wants to give him $1,000. Please have him call Briargate 8782."

There you are, Mr. Meyer.

OPPOSE CHANGE AT ROCKVIEW

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 3—(AP)—A recommendation opposing the establishment of Rockview penitentiary as a separate institution will be made to the 1929 Legislature by the State Commission on Penal Institutions.

Members of the commission, meeting here yesterday, said they had reached that decision because of the various improvements being carried out at the Centre county "pen." At the present time, and ever since its creation, Rockview has been operated under the jurisdiction of the warden and the trustees of the Western Penitentiary at Pittsburgh.

U. S. DEBT CUT IN '28 NEARLY BILLION

WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—A reduction of nearly a billion dollars in the gross indebtedness of the United States during the calendar year was reported today by the Treasury, which issued the figures to show that the debt had dropped $188,657,742 in December.

The gross debt on December 31, 1927, amounted to $[illegible], while on last December 31 it was $17,389,749,[illegible], a decrease of $603,316. On November 1 the debt was $17,[illegible].

The reduction in the gross debt on the last day of the year was $269,243,968, while the month previous it had amounted to only $91,026,758.

During December tax collections and other receipts totalled $[illegible], of which $649,105,[illegible] was for payments on account of taxes, leaving an excess of expenditures over receipts of $[illegible].

Total receipts for the first five months of the fiscal year ending December 31 amounted to $[illegible], of which income tax payments amounted to $[illegible], a decrease of about $11,000,000 over the corresponding period of last year.

The total expenditures for ordinary receipts for the first five months of the fiscal year were $[illegible], an increase of about $[illegible] over the same period last year. For the last month these amounted to $384,019,274.

The report showed that $3,205,963,482 in excess profits tax collections was being held in the Government's general fund.

Old Theater "Goes Dark"

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Broadway Theater, after a career of more than 40 years during which many famous stars trod its boards, went dark for good last night. The building will be demolished to make way for a 33-story skyscraper.

COUNTY SPEEDS $31,000,000 PROJECTS

Three million dollars' worth of improvement projects are being pushed by the County Director of Public Works, Norman P. Brown in behalf of the County Commissioners today.

The plans and work are being rushed with the known desire to get funds back to people as much as possible at the present time.

All the projects included in the vast program of work were voted in the $50,000,000 bond issue of over [illegible].

AIRPORT SPEEDED

Among the plans being speeded are those for the new county airport. Detailed topographic surveys have been finished and development plans for the entire site will be ready February 1, Director Brown announced.

The engineers reported progress on five new county boulevards authorized in the bond issue. Surveys and estimates on the Babcock boulevard extension in McKees Rocks and Ross and Shaler Townships have been completed.

BOROUGHS APPROVE

Plans for other boulevard projects have been submitted to the district engineer's office of the City Planning Commission for approval so that part of the [illegible] within the city limits and the state highway department may proceed with [illegible]. Among the projects are the Saw Mill Run boulevard, the Mt. Lebanon-Scott Township boulevard and the Ohio River boulevard.

Negotiations with the United States War Department, the Water and Power Resources Board and with Congress over the erection of four bridges are in progress. These spans, the West End-North Side Bridge, McKees Rocks Bridge, Tenth Street Bridge and Boston Bridge, form the biggest projects voted in the bond issue and will cost, completed, $12,600,000.

Charleroi Scout's Radio Greeting To Byrd

CHARLEROI, Jan. 3.—The "Dick Byrd" troop of Boy Scouts here sent a radio greeting yesterday to the Byrd Antarctic expedition through Westinghouse station KEKX, Nebraska. The telegram was signed by Leo Schlemeit.

2 SONS SLAIN, DOCTOR HELD

BELLEVILLE, Ont., Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Charles Twells, said to have been once a physician in India, was held here today on a murder charge, the outgrowth of a triple shooting yesterday in which Twells' sons, Kenneth, 11, and Colin, 9, were killed.

Twells' brother-in-law, Arthur Corfield, was wounded twice.

Corfield went to the Twells' home to clarify the division of ownership of a farm which both worked on shares, David Mattis, Jr., a neighbor, accompanied Corfield.

Twells and Corfield quarreled over the division.

Widow and Widower, Each 72, to Be Wed

PASSAIC, N. J., Jan. 3.—(INS.)—August Tischerlein, 72, and Mrs. Dora Stahl, 72, have obtained a marriage license here and declare they will be married Saturday. Mrs. Stahl is an inmate of the Old Folks Home.

Their romance dates back nearly half a century. Mrs. Stahl and Tischerlein came to this country on the same boat with Tischerlein's wife. Both couples settled here. Mrs. Stahl's husband and Tischerlein's wife died recently.

EAST CARNEGIE MAN, 98, SEEKS SHARE OF FORTUNE

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—David Eaton McClintock, 98, of East Carnegie, Pa., yesterday joined the group of persons attempting to obtain a portion of the $5,000,000 estate of William Nelson McClintock, who died under mysterious circumstances about four years ago, by filing a claim in court here that he is an uncle of the dead youth.

The claim was contained in an objection and was supported by testimony of his niece, Mrs. Clara Porter, who appeared before Judge Henry Horner in Probate Court. At the same time other claimants of the estate, including Miss Isabelle Pape, young McClintock's sweetheart, who sought to marry him while he was dying, and who seeks an equitable widow's share, served notice that they will oppose the Pennsylvania man's petition on the ground that he is not a member of the same McClintock family.

Young McClintock's death attracted widespread attention. Investigation which followed resulted in the trial and acquittal, on a charge of murder, of William Darling Shepherd, the youth's guardian, who was wife almost of the estate.

The estate is still tied up in litigation instituted by the will contestants.

David Eaton McClintock, who has entered claim against the Chicago estate, resides at 218 Moffett street, East Carnegie, with his niece, Mrs. P. F. Stangl. He claims to be a brother of "Billy" McClintock's grandfather. He has spent most of his life in the Pittsburgh district, for a time living in East Liberty. In July, 1925, he first made known his intention to enter claim to part of the estate, directing his niece, Mrs. Porter, of Chicago, represent him.

Submarine Safety Vessel Approved

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—The Defender, a submersible built by Simon Lake as a rescue craft, has been declared to be fit for submarine safety experimentation by a group of naval officers headed by Lieut. Com. Palmer H. Dumont, Conn. Lieut. said that the salvage vessel, Mallard, would tow the rescue boat to a point off Block Island, where divers will proceed with experiments.

56 JAPANESE DIE IN STORM

TOKIO, Japan, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Storms on the Japan seacoast southwest of Niigata were reported today to have killed 56 persons. Several hundred houses were destroyed.

The railway department in Tokio received information that at least 20 villages were inundated by high seas yesterday.

Niigata is on a sandy strip at the mouth of the Shinano River. There are canals in the center of the streets to assist traffic. Tea is grown throughout the district and there are oil wells in the vicinity.

EARTHQUAKE FELT

KUMAMOTO, Japan, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—A severe earthquake was felt throughout the Province of Kyushu yesterday morning and destroyed several houses. There were no casualties. Cracks appeared in many roads.

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have, Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel, made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow complexion, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results.

Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now and then to keep fit. 15c, 30c and 60c.

WINE GLASSES AT SHRINE OPPOSED

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Asserting that decanters, mugs, wine glasses and bottles should have no place now in the restored and refurnished house of a signer of the Declaration of Independence, Mrs. E. H. Roberts, of this city, president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of Rhode Island, says she will endeavor to persuade officers of the Society of Colonial Dames to that effect.

The society has directed that the old frame dwelling here, which was occupied in revolutionary times by Stephen Hopkins, be restored. Learning that Norman N. Isham, in charge of the work, intended to furnish the house with an eye toward faithful reproduction of the articles inventoried in 1785, Mrs. Roberts will confer with society officers today to lay particular emphasis on her aversion to having the pre-prohibition relics placed on display.

"I hardly think a display of such articles as bottles, phials and barrels would have a wholesome effect on children who might be taken through this historic house," Mrs. Roberts said. "In these days we are trying to educate our younger people to the evils of drink. It does not seem necessary to include decanters in the furnishings of a property which is to be maintained as an historical shrine."

Lady Heath Flying From N. Y. to Miami

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Lady Heath, British aviatrix, who holds several flying records for women, landed here yesterday for a brief stop on her flight from New York to Miami, Fla.

She is flying her Moth plane in which she made several notable flights, and is accompanied by Mrs. W. Newton Lancaster, wife of Capt. Lancaster, of the Royal Air Force.

Probe of Church Fire Being Made

BALTIMORE, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Police and firemen of Towson are investigating the possibility that the fire which destroyed the Calvary Baptist Church there yesterday was caused by an incendiary, although an investigation made by Chief of Police Carroll Stansbury tended to disprove this theory.

New Castle High To Be Dedicated

NEW CASTLE, Jan. 3.—Dr. John A. H. Keith, Pennsylvania state superintendent of public instruction, has accepted an invitation to attend the formal dedication of the new George Washington Junior High School on February 22. Dr. Charles R. Foster, superintendent of the Indiana State Teachers' College and president of the Pennsylvania State Educational Association, also has accepted an invitation to be present.

INTRODUCTION OF THE NEW KONJOLA MEDICINE HAILED

THE KONJOLA MAN

Arrives Tomorrow.

THE KONJOLA MAN.

Immediately following yesterday's announcement that the new advanced medicine, Konjola, was to be introduced in Pittsburgh many local people were eagerly seeking this medicine and telling of reports about it, which they had received from relatives and friends at Chicago and Philadelphia and other large cities. Many who called at the McCulloch Drug Store, Penn Ave. and 6th St., stated they already knew about this medicine and some had secured it through acquaintances in other cities.

The extent to which this Konjola has aroused interest proves very clearly that health troubles due to disordered stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are so common that thousands are suffering daily. The forms of misery described by a great many sufferers interviewed yesterday were as follows:

STOMACH: Indigestion, gas and bloating, feeling like a rock in the stomach which in reality is a mass of undigested food, dyspepsia, intense pains in stomach and chest, wild heart palpitation, feeling like fire from th. throat to the pit of the stomach, awful headaches, loss of weight, tissue and strength, sour stomach, cramps, spitting up of bile of half-digested food and a bad sour mouth.

LIVER: Attacks of biliousness, sick headaches that may last for days, constipation, dizzy spells, yellowish complexion.

KIDNEYS: Sharp pains over kidneys, a dull, achy feeling across the back, stiffness in the back and lowe limbs, especially in mornings just after arising, frequent getting up through the night, dizziness, spots before the eyes, swelling of ankles, feet and lower limbs, puffs of dark circles beneath the eyes, loss of vitality.

Many other forms of suffering frequently arise from the weakened condition of the system that results from sluggish, disordered stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. For instance, there may be rheumatic or neuritis trouble, with its agonizing aches and pains over the body.

The above forms of suffering yield readily to the work of Konjola, and this medical preparation has completely ended the health troubles of so many thousands wherever introduced that it is declared to be what countless sufferers in this section have always needed.

The Konjola Man direct from unusual successes in the great cities of America will be at the McCulloch Drug Store, Penn Ave. and 6th St., Pittsburgh, at 9 o'clock tomorrow (Friday) morning. He will personally meet the public and explain this surprising medicine as well as pass out literature and free samples.

Hard, Large Pimples on Hands and Face. Healed by Cuticura.

"The pimples I had on my face and hands were hard, large and red, and scaled over. The burning and itching made me scratch, which caused eruptions. The irritation prevented me from sleeping, and the breaking out caused disfigurement. The trouble lasted about two months.

"I tried different remedies but not one of them helped me. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and could see an improvement, and after using four cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Stella R. Suckovitch, Box 682, Perryopolis, Pa., Nov. 7, 1928.

Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c. Talcum 25c. Sold everywhere. Sample each free. Address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass."

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Miss Marjorie Babcock Becomes Bride at Church Ceremony

TAKING precedence over other affairs planned for today is Marjorie Babcock's marriage to James Mckay, destined to be one of the largest—perhaps the largest—weddings of the fall and winter. The ceremony is set, you know, for 5 o'clock in the Shadyside Presbyterian Church, to be followed by a small reception at the home of Marjorie's brother and his wife, the Raymond P. Babcocks, in Shady avenue.

The last couple of weeks have been full of parties for Marjorie and her fiance, of course—the final one given just this morning. This was a breakfast which Marjorie's aunt and uncle, the Chase Vose Babcocks, gave in their home in Ellsworth avenue. They had just the members of the bridal party for their guests, I understand.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Babcock, with Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Babcock, of Wilkins, Road, who are here for the wedding, had a dinner in the Oakmont Country Club last night. This, I guess, was supplemented the rehearsal for the wedding, and the guests here, too, included the bridal attendants.

AND now I have a most interesting wedding to make known to you. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel M. Clemson, of Fifth avenue, are announcing the marriage of Mr. Clemson's daughter-in-law, Mrs. Alice Miller Clemson, and John Barton Luckie, of Pittsburgh. The ceremony was performed yesterday at 5:30 o'clock in the bride's home at Wilkins avenue and Kinsman road, by the Rev. Dr. William L. McEwan, pastor of the Third Presbyterian Church. Just the families and a few of their close friends were present when the service was read.

Mr. and Mrs. Luckie have left for a trip to Honolulu, and they expect to be gone, I believe, about five weeks. Then they will be at home in Wilkins avenue and Kinsman road.

WE have a visitor in town for whom several small parties are being planned. She is Frances Miller, of Detroit, who arrived last night to spend a week with her cousin, Clarissa Reed, daughter of the S. Clarke Reeds, of Murrayhill avenue. Clarissa is going to entertain for her cousin, of course, although she hasn't set a date as yet. And on Saturday night Mrs. John Walker, of Western avenue, North Side, will give a dinner at her home for the visitor. After dinner, Mrs. Walker will take her guests to see the show at the Alvin.

After she concludes her visit with Clarissa Reed, the Detroit girl and her mother, Mrs. Harvey Miller, are to go to the William McKinney Reeds, of Fifth avenue, for a week's stay. Mrs. Reed is planning to give a buffet luncheon next Thursday afternoon in her home for her two guests.

THE big debutante party of last night was the dance which the John N. Marshalls, of Beechwood boulevard, gave in the Pittsburg Club for their sister, Mary Margaret Marshall. The ballroom was decorated with Southern smilax and bamboo, with huge clusters of silver poinsettia and oak leaves and flanking the stage were two huge silver urns filled with the same flowers. On the stage, pink roses supplied the color, and silver candles were placed at each end. Potted palms were also used for decoration.

The debutante was a frock of white velvet, the skirt made in panels and draped at the side, and a short train. She carried a bouquet of white orchids. Mrs. Marshall, who was guided in choice velvet and her corsage was of orchids, white to the debutante's mother, Mrs. Charles D. Marshall, appeared in a gown of purple sequins, with a corsage of red roses. Mr. and Mrs. William Dorsie came in from Bellaire for the dance. Mrs. Dorsie was Elizabeth Marshall, you know, and she was gowned last night in prune colored velvet. And another out-of-town guest was Betty Bradley, of Pottstown, Pa., who is visiting the debutante. She wore green tulle trimmed with gold and carried yellow roses and green orchids.

THE new Mrs. John Miller Hardie, who was Elizabeth Alcorn, of Philadelphia, before she was married not long ago, was introduced to the Pittsburgh society group yesterday at a tea dance given in the University Club by her mother-in-law, Mrs. Walter L. Hardie, of Bennett street. The receiving group stood in the entrance to the ballroom, which was decorated with ferns and palms, and the tea table, standing at one end of the room, was adorned with spring flowers. The hostess was gowned in black velvet, and she wore a black hat and a silver fox fur. Her corsage was of lavender orchids. The junior Mrs. Hardie appeared in currant chiffon with a felt hat to match, and her flowers were gardenias. Janet Hardie, daughter of the hostess, wore pale blue crepe de chine with a felt hat of the same shade, and her shoulder corsage was of gardenias.

Among the guests were the Princeton Triangle Club men, who were here to present "Zander Zee" in Syria Mosque last night.

DR. AND MRS. R. S. H. McCAULEY, of Beaver, have issued invitations for the wedding of their daughter, Miss Ruth McCauley, and Bradway Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Brown, of Moorestown, N. J., which will take place Saturday, January 12, in the First Presbyterian Church, of Beaver. Miss McCauley is a graduate of Swarthmore College, class of 1927, and is a member of the Pi Beta Phi fraternity. Mr. Brown was graduated from Swarthmore in 1926 and is a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity. Mrs. McCauley is secretary of welfare in Gov. Fisher's cabinet.

THE first monthly bridge party of the new year will be held Saturday in the William Penn Hotel by the Alumnae Association of St. Xavier's Academy. Beatty Luncheon will be served at 1:30 o'clock, followed by bridge.

THE Alumni Association of Old St. Mary's Academy will hold its annual dance Friday night, January 25, in the Fort Pitt Hotel, with the class of 1927 as sponsor. Miss Lillian Fiscus is general chairman, assisted by Miss Irene Ferguson and Miss Marie Kelly. The receptions will hold the first in its series of card parties Saturday in Kaufmann's, with Miss Mary Hays as chairman, and Miss Helen Molloy, subchairman.

THE marriage of Miss Mildred E. Glassburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Glassburn, of Center street, Wilkinsburg, and John J. Danks, son of Mrs. Sarah M. Danks, of Wilkinsburg, was solemnized Saturday night in the Glassburn home by the Rev. Dr. Thomas D. Edgar, of the Second United Presbyterian Church of Wilkinsburg. Miss Kathryn McMillan, of Sheraden, was maid of honor and George E. Lambert, of Edgewood, was best man. Miss Margaret Jeanne Phillips, of Greensburg, played the wedding music. A reception and dinner followed the ceremony with covers laid for 20 at the bridal table. After a short eastern motor trip, Mr. and Mrs. Danks will be at home in West street, Wilkinsburg.

FOLLOWING the presentation of "The Pigeon" tomorrow night in Carnegie Music Hall by the Cap and Bells of Wilson College, there will be a dance in the Pittsburgh Athletic Club Annex. And some of the members of the club are to be guests, after the performance, at the dance given by Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Jenkins and Mrs. Alfred E. Jenkins in the University Club for Clara Dorothea Jenkins and Elizabeth McCullough.

MISS CLARA A. LYNAM, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Lynam, of Stratford avenue, entertained at tea in their home on Tuesday from 4 to 6 o'clock. Holiday decorations were used.

VOCATIONAL work as done in the Pittsburgh public schools was described yesterday before the Wednesday Current Events Class by Dr. Edward Rynearson. In his talk Dr. Rynearson gave some interesting examples of the help received through vocational training and stated that inefficiency had been reduced from 40 per cent to 23 per cent among the pupils. One boy absentee was considered a hopelessly dull student is now, at the age of 16, paying income tax on $60,000. Mrs. William Penn Rouse presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. J. H. Harrison, who is visiting in Rochester, N. Y.

MRS. CHARLES MORRIS JOHNSON, honorary chairman of the American home department of the Congress of Clubs, addressed the Woman's Fortnightly Review of Mt. Lebanon yesterday, having for her subject, "The Building of Human Intelligence." A quartet from the Dormont New Century Club furnished the music. Mrs. M. S. Kimmel, of Beaver Hill road, was hostess for the meeting, with Mrs. L. G. Amster as assistant.

"HONEYMOONS AND AVIATION" is the subject announced for a talk by Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Scandale, Sun-Telegraph aviation editor and his wife, before the Women's Press Club next Monday afternoon. The club will meet, as usual, in the Women's City Club.

THE Rev. Ross W. Lloyd was the speaker at the Thursday Noon Club for Business Women at the First Presbyterian Church, Sixth avenue, today. Solos were sung by Miss Elizabeth Dittmar, accompanied by Mrs. Adaline Merrill Hobbs.

THE literary department of the Woman's Club of Mt. Lebanon will meet at the home of Mrs. James S. Hurd tomorrow afternoon. "The Story of Chemistry" will be discussed and current events will complete the program.

M. E.S TO SPEND $3,459,000 ON MISSIONS

EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—A budget of $3,549,000 has been drafted for foreign missions for the coming year by the Methodist Episcopal Church, according to the report of Dr. John R. Edwards, senior secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions.

The proposed budget is included in the report prepared for presentation at the Methodist World Service Conference today, which also shows the church owns 3,556 buildings and has 1,066 missionaries in addition to the 734 supported by the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society.

There are 473,000 boys and girls enrolled in the 9015 Sunday schools in foreign lands, the report sets forth, and the church has a membership of more than 680,000.

Other speakers included Bishop Francis J. McConnell, New York.

Speaking at the opening session yesterday, Dr. Clarence True Wilson, secretary of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Morals, defended the church's right to foster political issues. The church, he said, is the hope for morality.

Seton Hill Sorority Plans Bridge Jan. 5

The alumnae and undergraduate members of the Sigma Alpha Alpha fraternity of Seton Hill College are planning a benefit bridge for 2 o'clock, January 5, in Kaufmann's auditorium. The proceeds will form the nucleus for a scholarship fund for the college. Miss Elenor Barr, of Carnegie, is in charge, with Miss Rose Boggs and Miss Mary Reid as aids.

'PHONE SLUG WAR CLOSES CHICAGO'S PUBLIC BOOTHS

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Most of the booths in Chicago's hotels, drug stores and other telephoning places were closed to the public because of contract differences between the owners and the Illinois Bell Telephone Company.

Contracts which had been in effect 30 years provided for a guarantee of four phone calls a day on each telephone, dividing the fees for all over the guarantee equally between the company and the subscriber.

New contracts, against which the subscribers are in revolt, eliminate the guarantee and provide the company shall take 77½ cents out of every dollar, with 22½ cents for the subscriber.

Downtown hotels, drug and department stores have approximately 6,000 booths.

J. K. Blatchford, secretary of the Chicago Hotel Association, said no public telephone service will be provided in the 30 hotels represented in the organization until a settlement is reached.

There was considerable confusion today when phone users found booths in the hotels "out of order."

Reducing may ruin good looks

Extreme dieting is also dangerous to health

A FAMOUS doctor discusses the effects of extreme weight reducing on the skin. Frequently, he says, "the face takes on an anemic look. Healthy color is absent and a sallow tinge gives the distinct appearance of weariness and age." He says that the loss of only a few pounds by a middle-aged person will often "make the skin of the face wrinkled and baggy." After excessive reducing this is noticeable also on the hands.

Besides, skinniness is unbeautiful. "Essentially," says an eminent doctor, "the curve is fundamental to beauty. . . . The really beautiful consists of that which is healthful and efficient." He goes on to warn us that "The craze for thinness is an attempt to modify the process of nature."

Women to be beautiful should be natural and healthy, and it is dangerous not only to good looks but to health for women, girls or men to try to standardize their weights. Eat plenty of varied nourishing foods. Everyone needs a certain amount of fat in the tissues of the body. Don't forget the value of sugar in making other foods tasteful and enjoyable. There is no substitute for sweetness as a food and flavor. In reducing, decrease the quantity of all foods, but enjoy variety. Health is necessary to beauty. The Sugar Institute.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

A GRAY-HAIRED PRINCE

By L. LAMAR MATTHEWS.

"PACKAGE for Miss Benton." Fay Benton in negligee opened the door and peeped over the banisters to answer the call from below.

"Bring it up, please," she said.

Terrence Smith came bounding up the two flights of stairs, handed Fay the package and started down again.

"What are you doing delivering packages?" She really had not meant to speak her thought aloud. Somehow it just spoke itself. The big collegiate had no business playing delivery boy.

"One must eat, you know," he replied. He turned and came back to see what else this unusual woman might have to say.

"Why did you ask that?" he said, smiling in that disarming fashion all his own.

"You ask too many questions," she laughed and closed the door.

Fay opened the present from her fiance which the package contained. It was a small carved wood statue.

"Every time he runs across anything in the store that he thinks I should have he sends it to me," she chuckled. "He's a funny old dear."

She looked around her small room. It was crowded with Major Crum's gifts—a tea set, an encyclopedia, a bolt of cretonne, a sewing basket, an electric grill and any number of small household articles.

Major Crum, head of a wholesale firm, ex-army officer and philanthropist was 50 years old.

Fay Benton, music student, was 20. It was while she was playing the violin in a hotel dining room where he took his evening meals that their friendship began. Maj. Crum knew a rare jewel when he saw one and he usually procured what he wanted. Before the end of the season he had asked Fay Benton to share his name, his life, and his luxuries.

"After we are married you will love me," he said humbly.

He believed he could win her love and she believed it too. In fact she already loved him—in a way. So the girl said, "Yes, I'll marry you—some day."

And so matters stood when Terrence Smith came on his first delivery trip to Fay's door. After that he came often on errands for his employer.

The two exchanged small talk, smiles and glances that said more than either meant to say.

It was Fay who suggested a promotion for young Smith in the wholesale house, and Maj. Crum readily agreed.

And then one night they were thrown together quite by accident, at a dinner party.

One of Terry's old college chums was the host. Fay was the violinist for the occasion.

After that there was a sort of suppressed excitement every time they met. At last Terry came straight out and told her that he loved her, and he thought it was a crime for her to marry an old man. Fay wept on his shoulder, but declared she could not break faith with Major Crum.

Major Crum was by way of being a philanthropist.

"I want you to help me fix up 20 baskets for the poor," she said to Terry one day. "That's the one big joy I get out of life. I always go myself to take these 20 families their baskets."

Terry filled the baskets while Major Crum made suggestions and supervised their packing.

"How would you like to go along with me?" the Major inquired. "My chauffeur is sick today and I'd be glad if you'd drive me."

Terry knew that Fay had promised to accompany Major Crum on his mission of kindness and he accepted gleefully.

Way down on a shabby street near the river, the Major's car made its last stop. Major Crum, with two baskets, Terry with his arms full and Fay with a bundle in each hand, left the car and started toward the dilapidated tenement house.

Just as the girl reached the curbing, a car roared by and knocked a bundle from her hand.

"Fay! Darling!" The cry came from Terrence Smith. He dropped his load and gathered her into his arms.

"Are you much hurt, Honey?" he groaned. He forgot his elderly employer, he forgot the passers-by; he forgot everything except his anxiety for the girl he loved.

Maj. Crum stood transfixed. The shock of seeing her fall and his amazement at hearing Smith's endearing terms had combined to render him motionless.

"I'm not hurt, Terry," said Fay, trying to laugh it off. "It just frightened me."

"Terry!" Maj. Crum heard the tone in which she uttered the boy's name. He saw the lovelight in her eyes.

Then he pulled himself together and proceeded as a gentleman would.

It was 10 days later when Terence Smith was summoned to Maj. Crum's office.

"I knew it was coming," Smith told himself. "I expected to be fired at once."

"A friend of mine wants a manager for one of his branch stores in Chicago," Maj. Crum began without ceremony, "I have recommended you. He will be here in my office at 3 o'clock this afternoon. If you are interested you might come in and talk with him."

That night Terry went to tell Fay that he was going to Chicago. But she broke her glad news before he had time to speak.

Maj. Crum had released her from her engagement to him.

"He was so sweet and fatherly about it I wanted to cry," she said. "He told me that he wanted me to be happy above everything else in the world."

A CHARMING EVENING FROCK.

Moire in the new shade of blue was selected for this style. It is also attractive for crepe satin for velvet, and the new metal brocades. Flare tunic portions are arranged on the front of the skirt, creating diagonal lines, and the popular uneven hem edge. A soft crush girdle forms a pleasing finish at the waistline below the blousing of the waist, which is mounted on an underbody.

The pattern for this distinctive model is cut in six sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38-inch size will require 4½ yards of 39-inch material. For underfacing on the tunic portions ½ yard 35 inches wide is required. The underbody of lining requires ⅞ yard. The width of the skirt at the lower edge is 1⅝ yard.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department. The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Sound Advice to Our People About the Danger of Influenza

They're closing schools and colleges in the west—theatres are being shut up and big assemblies of people are being called off.

Health authorities are warning the people about the deadly germs of flu—it brings us back to the terrible epidemic of 1918 when more lives were lost than America lost in the world war.

Everyone knows or ought to know that it takes a powerful antiseptic to kill the germs of influenza.

Ordinary, so called popular antiseptics won't do—you must keep your mouth and throat free from any possible infection by gargling with a most powerful yet safe antiseptic like Kojene.

Let's Fight This Epidemic With

KOJENE

Be prepared—There is no other way to prevent these vicious germs from gaining a foothold except to kill them with a strong antiseptic like Kojene. Gargle the throat and rinse the mouth two or three times a day. Ask any druggist about Kojene—he knows of its mighty power to kill Flu germs and he will have it waiting for you.

Gossip and Pictures of Players and Amusements They Appear In

MORMON THEATER TORN DOWN; OUR ALINE MACMAHON; BETTING ON BARRIE

By GEORGE SEIBEL.

SINCE Macauley's old theater in Louisville was scrapped, there has been no demolition of a playhouse that arouses such sad reflections as the passing of the Salt Lake Theater built by Brigham Young. This is the theater where Maude Adams made her debut, and its boards have been trod by all the great actors in the history of the American stage—Booth and Barrett, Jefferson and Salvini, Mary Anderson and Charlotte Cushman, Adelaide Ristori and Sarah Bernhardt, E. L. Davenport and Lotta McCullough, William J. Florence and Sol Smith Russell, Helen Modjeska and Lily Langtry, Richard Mansfield and David Warfield. In fact, this theater, built by the Mormons in 1862, eclipsed the history of the American stage, because it had no real opposition and had a most loyal audience.

The Mormons were greatly addicted to the theater—and one of their first missionaries sent to the East, without scrip or purse, was an actor who played "Richard III" in Philadelphia for a week or two in order to get funds for his passport later while preaching the gospel of Joe Smith. The theater in Salt Lake City was a solid stone edifice, with a facade that if it might stand for fashion, and when I saw it twenty years ago. But it has been sold for $200,000, and will be replaced by a modern business structure. It was opened with a prayer by Young as head of the church in 1862, and perhaps they'll pronounce the benediction over its wreckage.

Pittsburgh Girl Going Forward

Among the young women who have quickly forged their way to stellar honors in recent years there is one whom Pittsburgh may call its own, unless McKeesport insists upon the honor. That is Aline MacMahon, who will appear in a new comedy, "Daylight Saving," by Thomas E. Robinson, during the week of January 14, in some New York theater not yet decided upon. Miss MacMahon is the daughter of a newspaper man, and her mother was Miss Jennie Simon, a sister of Sophie Irene Loeb, a newspaper woman, well known since leaving Pittsburgh for her labors as head of the Child Welfare League in New York City. Miss MacMahon was when I saw it twenty years ago. But it has been sold for $200,000, and will be replaced by a modern business structure. It was opened with a prayer by Young as head of the church in 1862, and perhaps they'll pronounce the benediction over its wreckage.

Barrie's Shrine Is a Sure Thing

Not very often does it happen that a writer's birthplace is turned into a shrine while he is still living, but it has happened to J. M. Barrie. His natal cottage at Kirriemuir, Scotland, has been bought by the British government, evidently in the expectation that the author of "Peter Pan" and "The Little Minister" will speedily become an immortal. But Sir James has fooled them by recovering from his severe illness, even though his plays have been published complete in one volume, which did not happen to Shakespeare till seven years after he was dead. Barrie is about as sure of lasting fame as any present-day writer except Shaw and Kipling.

HOLDING MIRROR :-: UP TO LIFE :-: IN COMING BILLS

Claiborne Foster is starred in a new play, "Gypsy," by Maxwell Anderson, coming to Nixon next week.

Howard Thurston, leading magician, who comes next week to the Pitt for his annual engagement.

Sylvia Clarke, singing comedienne, will be in next week's vaudeville program showing in the Davis.

Clara Bow will be seen on the Stanley screen as the star in her new film, "Three Week Ends."

Mary Nolan will support Lon Chaney in "West of Zanzibar," which will be screen feature in Penn.

BARRIE'S "HALF AN HOUR," AS TALKIE, STATELY AND DRAMATIC

By REGINA CREWE

(Copyright, 1928, By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 3.

WILLIAM C. DE MILLE'S first audible photoplay—which is Paramount's second all-dialogue drama—was previewed before a local audience the other evening. Among the customers were Adolph Zukor, Ben Schulberg and several other big shots from Paramount. Scattered here and there were men recognized as from the Metro organization, the Harold Lloyd Corporation, Warner Brothers—in fact nearly all of the major companies.

The picture has the same strength and the same weaknesses apparent in "Interference." The title is "The Doctor's Secret." The story is an adaptation of Sir James Barrie's "Half an Hour." It is a tremendously dramatic story. The drama lying chiefly in the dialogue—not in action. In tempo the photoplay is deliberate. As a whole, it is most notable for a sort of stately dignity. Qualities even more in evidence here than in "Interference." It is thoroughly adult entertainment, devoid of hokum. Yet, it impresses one as being neither fish, flesh nor fowl. Neither a stage play nor a motion picture. Its popularity with movie audiences generally is problematical.

Talkies Bring New Monarchs

THE talkies have endowed two individuals connected with pictures with greater importance than they ever before enjoyed. Greater, in fact, than anybody on the lot has ever had. The first of these is the "mixer." These days he is the king of the set. He is the chap who presides at the panel regulating the reproduction of voices. He watches for "bloopers," "drummy" or "tubby" voices and rectifies quality and volume. The other new monarch is the man in the projection booth when sound films are shown. Upon his skill depends much as to whether the voices are good or bad.

It's a busy season for Lois Wilson. Besides her picture work, she is to have another fling at the stage to play opposite Edward Everett Horton in "The Swan." Warner Brothers have arranged her work in "The Gamblers" so it will not interfere with the stage play. Horton, by the way, is considered one of the best bets for the talkies. After Jimmy Cruze's artistic flop, "Beggar on Horseback," in which Horton starred, the director said to him: "Oh boy! I wish I had what you'll make in the movies as soon as they see what you do in this picture." Nevertheless Eddie never got a tumble, until along came the sound drama and carried him along on the crest of its rave.

Ruth Taylor is to have the second lead in Clara Bow's "The Wild Party." She plays the part of Babs, if you happen to remember the story. Paramount had a lot of plans for Ruth. Then she got sick. And now it's a case of begin all over again.

Warner Takes Acting Honors

IF honors are to be divided among the cast, H. B. Warner wins the crown for acting. Robert Edeson's voice reproduces best. Strangely enough, the much-vaunted acting ability and fine voice of Ruth Chatterton are little in evidence. A dozen picture actresses could have done as well. John Loder, the youthful British import, seems a charming lad who should easily win himself a following among our fans. So far as appearance is concerned, he is a ringer for Gregory Blackton, one of the Paramount school boys who still is struggling for a secure foothold in filmdom. Director De Mille has done the admirable job expected of one with his vast experience in both stage and cinema. The voice reproduction is unsatisfactory, and the orchestral accompaniment throughout the action is distinctly annoying.

With Louise Brooks and Director Mal St. Clair among the "Option Orphans" of Hollywood, there will be a new "Canary" and a new director for the sound sequences of the "Canary Murder Case." Mr. Zukor has decreed it to be a 100 per cent talkie, so Margaret Livingston will be the girl and Frank Tuttle will direct. Speaking about Zukor's decisions on talkies, Messrs. Schoedsack and Cooper, renowned for "Grass" and "Chang," are slapping each other on the back. Their new one, "Four Feathers," will have sound but no dialogue. Which is just what the doctor ordered so far as Schoedsack and Cooper are concerned.

PLAY, MAGIC IN COMING BILLS

Illness of the star has caused the cancellation of the engagement of Mrs. Fiske, in "Much Ado About Nothing," booked next week for the Nixon, and another play, "Gypsy," by Maxwell Anderson, author of "Saturday's Children," and co-author of "What Price Glory," will be seen in that theater. The cast of "Gypsy" is headed by Claiborne Foster and includes Louis Calhern.

The ancient but always new and diverting art of "now you see it now you don't" will be demonstrated once more on the stage of the Pitt when Thurston plays his twenty-third annual engagement in this city, opening next Monday evening with matinees Thursday and Saturday. Among the new illusions are "The Magic Box Revue," a magical-musical act in which the chorus of pretty girls appear garbed in the latest Parisian gowns. The seat sale opened this morning.

Acts on the Keith-Albee-Orpheum two-a-day vaudeville program in the Davis next week include Will Fyffe, Scotch character comedian; Chic York and Rose King, comics, and Sylvia Clark, vaudeville's little buffoon.

Lon Chaney in "West of Zanzibar" will be the screen attraction at the Penn next week. A new Loew-Publix revue, "Topsy Turvy Town," will be the stage attraction.

Clara Bow, "madcap of the screen," joined with Elinor Glyn and Clarance Badger, director, in making "Three Week-Ends" booked to be screened in the Stanley next week.

"Adoration," which opened the Stanley Company's new East Liberty Theater, the Enright, will be shown in the Grand next week. Billie Dove is the star.

"Prep and Pep" is to be next week's screen feature in Loew's Aldine. Nancy Drexel and David Rollins are the featured players.

Flossie De Vere and "Parisian Flappers" will be the burlesque in the Academy next week.

Ruth Chatterton, former stage star, makes her motion picture debut in "Sins of the Fathers," starring Emil Jannings, which will be shown in the new Enright next week.

Jack Mulhall is co-featured with Dorothy Mackaill in "Waterfront," which comes to the Regent Saturday.

In the Harris the last half of this week June Collyer and Conrad Nagle will be seen on the screen in "Red Wine." The vaudeville will be headed by Billy Swede Hall and company.

The screen in the Sheridan Square the last half of this week will feature "Red Wine," with June Collyer and Conrad Nagle. The four acts of vaudeville will be headed by the Upham Whitney Review.

Probably no one in the world knew Wilson as intimately as this remarkable biography will make you know him now.

Life and Letters of WOODROW ..WILSON..

By RAY STANNARD BAKER

THE second group of remarkable articles on "The Life and Letters of Woodrow Wilson" will appear in this paper daily and Sunday for a period of six weeks, beginning Sunday, January 6th. These reveal the first complete story of the inside political strategy that ruled the Baltimore Convention and give a dramatic narrative of how Wilson's nomination was brought about through the aid of William Jennings Bryan.

The private letters published in this series will also give a "back stage" view of the presidential campaign of 1912. These intimate details of this campaign as seen by Woodrow Wilson, have never before been disclosed. It is a triumph of newspaper publishing to present to the readers of this paper, exclusively, this great work.

3 in Family Killed By Acetylene Blast

PENNINGTON, N. J., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Three members of a family were killed and a fourth injured yesterday when an acetylene tank exploded and destroyed the home of Augustus S. Atchley, a farmer near here.

Those killed were: Atchley, his son, Elmer, 23, and a daughter, Hazel, 21. Mrs. Atchley was blown into the yard and bruised.

Victim of Shooting Exonerates Father

DOVER, O., Jan. 3.—Frank Croft, 40, Barberton, former Dover resident, reported dead in Barberton Hospital as the result of a revolve wound inflicted by his father, James B. Croft, 80, formerly of Dover, is still living, the latter's daughter, Mrs. William Prosser, Dover, was advised. The son exonerated his father and said the weapon was accidentally discharged while his father was loading it.

SIX WAFERS FOR 10c GUARANTEED RESULTS

The newest, best remedy for corns is a tiny, thin as paper corn wafer. No burning acids or bulky doughnut pads to add pressure when shoes are on. Press an "O-Joy Corn Wafer" on the corn or callous with your finger. It sticks there. Strong as oxen gentle as can be. The pain stops at once. Slip shoes on and forget it. Later out comes corn, callous, roots and all. Guaranteed to never fail. Ask druggist for O-Joy Corn Wafers—six wafers for 10c.

"Crying Out Loud" Gets $10 Fine For Ragman

BOSTON, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Harry Gear, Roxbury ragman, was fined $10 in Municipal Court here yesterday for "crying out loud."

Witnesses testified that although Gear had a license to cry his wares, he shouted so loud he upset the whole neighborhood. The charge was based on an old regulation against "crying out loud."

Fire at Oil Plant Checked by Steam

Efficient work of employes of the Standard Oil Company and city firemen in extinguishing a blaze in an oil still at the firm's plant, Fifty-fifth street and Allegheny Valley Railroad, prevented the flames from spreading to adjoining tanks late last night. The fire, fought with steam, was extinguished before great damage resulted. A leaking oil line was blamed.

Accident Victim's Relatives Sought

Police of Fort Wayne, Ind., last night requested local authorities to locate the relatives of William Gallagher, 50, killed in an accident in that city. The message did not state whether Gallagher resided in Fort Wayne or whether he was visiting there.

Visitors Held Up By 6 Highwaymen

Leaving Duquesne University gymnasium after attending the Duquesne-Salem College basketball game, J. C. Clark, 27 Locust street, Natrona, and John Loeffler, Maplewood avenue, Ambridge, were held up by six men last night. While one of the six pointed a revolver at them as they were walking in Bluff street, near the university, the others rifled their pockets of a small amount of cash.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

Two Injured as Car Overturns in Crash

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., Jan. 3.—Thelma Burkett, 19, of Apollo, was seriously hurt, and Harry C. Rowe, 19, of Vandergrift, was cut by glass when their auto overturned on the Leechburg-New Kensington highway. The car was demolished against a telephone pole as the driver failed to make a sharp curve. Walter Reimer, who lived nearby, rushed the victims to Citizen's General Hospital here.

MANY GET BACK YOUNG APPETITE

Quick lunches, usually cold, gulped down so the "dinner hour" will not be over before you can do a little playing, is the best way to ruin your stomach, and you suffer from indigestion, heartburn, bloating, nervousness, headaches; and, worst of all, you get thin, pale and weak.

If you must eat that way, always keep a package of Pape's Diapepsin handy so you can chew one of the pleasant-tasting tablets after your meals. It keeps the food sweet so your stomach can digest it.

Follow the experience of thousands who again have a young appetite. All druggists recommend and guarantee Pape's Diapepsin to relieve indigestion and sweeten the stomach in 5 minutes.

Inventor Dies

LEGG, INVENTOR OF ELECTRIC DEVICE, DIES

Joseph Willard Legg, 41, a nationally-known expert in the study of oscillography, died late yesterday in the Columbia Hospital from pneumonia. Oscillography is a branch of electrical engineering devoted to the recording and analysis of wave phenomena. Mr. Legg, who lived at 1409 Marlboro street, Wilkinsburg, was associated with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company.

Mr. Legg was the inventor of the "osiso," a small portable oscillograph which is popular with electrical engineers. Through his position as a member of the meter engineering staff at the Westinghouse plant, he also was responsible for developing many other electrical devices.

Probably the most important work he had done was his adaptation of the "osiso" to perform the functions of an electric cardiograph, which made it possible for physicians to obtain a complete and permanent record of heart action. He also developed the polar high speed camera which is capable of taking 3,000 photographs per second. This is used to study rapidly moving electric arcs.

During his association with the Westinghouse company he originated many schemes for automatic oscillographic work. He once sailed to South America to study the vibrations that took place within the ship's turbines. He was the author of many technical articles. He was a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, Sigma Xi and Tau Beta Pi fraternities and the South Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church of Wilkinsburg.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Esther Bergstrom Legg; a son, Willard, and a daughter, Janet.

DR. M'CRACKEN SUCCUMBS

The Rev. Dr. Guy W. McCracken, 60, for 18 years pastor of the Fifth United Presbyterian Church, North Side, died at 6:30 o'clock this morning in Presbyterian Hospital. He had been confined in the hospital three weeks following an operation.

Born in Monmouth, Ill., he attended college there and later was graduated from Xenia Seminary, then at Xenia, O. He served charges at Ellison, Ill., and Youngstown, O., before coming to Pittsburgh.

He leaves his wife, Lydia Imbrie McCracken, and three sons, Guy, Jr., Reed and Kenneth. The family home is at 1525 Termon avenue.

Jailed as He Tells Mother to Pay Fine

CHICAGO, Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Peter Miknas, 33, was in the Bridewell today working out a $50 fine, all because he had called upon his mother to pay a $20 fine previously imposed upon him for a misdemeanor. When Judge George B. Holmes imposed the $20 fine, Miknas called to a gray-haired woman standing near: "Mother, pay the fine."

"I'll not let the mother of an able-bodied man pay his fine," ruled Judge Holmes. "The fine is raised to $50 and the prisoner will work it out in the Bridewell."

OhioHeirs Lose Fight On State Tax Board

"NANCY DEANE" by ROY L. FOLEY

Thrilled by Circus, She Consents to Attend It With John Blair

CHAPTER I.

THE greatest mystery in Nancy Deane's life was herself. Scarcely a day passed that she didn't say: "I wonder who I really am?"

Sparkling, golden haired with wonderful hazel eyes, the rest of the world knew her as Nancy O'Day, adopted daughter of Margaret and David O'Day. But her real name was Deane, the orphan asylum in Milwaukee had said so, according to report.

With all the curiosity of 18 she had questioned Mrs. O'Day affectionately nicknamed "Mud": "How do you know my real name is Deane?"

Mrs. O'Day, plump and always slightly upset, would say: "Now then and ain't ye curious. I know nothing at all, at all about the name except what they told me at St. Rose's and they said the records were lost—it's my own idee ye just happened to show up when they was pickin' names from the telephone book down in the D'ds."

Nancy laughed as she jammed her little felt hat over the glory of her hair that contrasted so strikingly with her dark eyes. She gave one fleeting glance at the clock. She had five minutes to run the six blocks to the station lunch room where her wits and her repartee were becoming sharper every day. Ever since she had left high school two years before she had worked in the lunch room to help out with the O'Day finances.

It was a prosaic job and yet Nancy loved it, loved the people who came and went and never tired of watching them, studying them and wondering about them.

"I'll bet there's some gypsy in me," she often mused. And she tried to imagine that she was the daughter of an aristocratic family like the De Lysles who held the center of the social stage in the thriving Pennsylvania town of Washington.

Edythe De Lysle was Washington's shining society star and of course she had never heard of Nancy O'Day who worked in a lunch room; likewise of course she had heard of the Deanes of Pittsburgh, the Montgomery Deanes of Fifth avenue who personified great wealth and tradition and blue blood.

But Nancy O'Day had never even heard of the Montgomery Deanes and they certainly had never heard of her, and yet

BOROUGHS ASK JOINT GARBAGE PLANT

An enabling act amending the borough code of 1927 to permit the North boroughs to join in erecting and maintaining a garbage incinerator has been drafted and will be presented in the legislature as soon as the measure has been approved by the solicitors of the various boroughs.

The amending bill was drawn by John H. Fertig, expert in charge of the state legislative reference bureau, at the request of Attorney Harry J. Thomas, of Bellevue, chairman of the committee to have legislation prepared.

The bill, when enacted, will permit two or more boroughs to cooperate in garbage disposal, a function apparently overlooked in granting powers to boroughs under the code.

With the passage of the amending act, Mr. Thomas said an ordinance will be drawn putting the plan into effect. Bellevue, Avalon, Ben Avon, Emsworth and West View are uniting in the move for garbage disposal.

Ordinance Changes Clearview Ave. Zone

H. F. Wills has asked Council to authorize an amendment to the zoning law whereby pdoperty on Clearview avenue, Twenty-eighth ward, would be changed from a "B" residence to a commercial classification.

HIT BY AUTO SUES FOR $15,000

For injuries suffered when he was struck by an automobile in Hamilton avenue, May 29, 1928, Charles E. Gray asks $15,000 damages from William Duncan and the Keystone Buick Company in a suit on file today in Common Pleas Court.

Gray alleges that Duncan, driver of the machine, operated it negligently and failed to sound a warning while approaching the intersection where Gray was crossing the street. The automobile company was made co-defendant because, Gray alleged, it failed, as owner of the vehicle to keep the brakes in proper working order.

AUTO CRASHES POLICE BOX

Jack Oliver, 22, 58 Congress street, received severe lacerations of the right eyebrow, requiring three stitches, and Harry Donites, 25, 1241 Superior avenue, was slightly injured when an automobile, in which they were passengers, driven by Joseph Gentile, 36, Mt. Pleasant, Pa., swerved to the sidewalk and hit a fire alarm and police box at the corner of West Liberty and Warrington avenues, yesterday. The combination boxes were placed out of commission. The injured were treated at the South side Hospital, and the driver will get a hearing in Traffic Court tomorrow on a charge of reckless driving.

Two N. S. Zoning Appeals Denied

The Zoning Board of Adjustment made public today its decisions in 19 cases referred to it upon recent appeals from the decision of the superintendent of the bureau of building inspection. Two North Side appeals were denied as follows: Jacob F. Britsch, 922 Reiss street, Twenty-seventh Ward, two-car garage; Allan A. Cochrane, rear 113 North Jackson street, Twenty-first Ward, to occupy building for brush factory.

AUTO'S PLUNGE INJURES MAN

John Contos, 29, boxing and wrestling promoter, of Atlanta, Ga., was seriously injured when his automobile plowed through a fence in Penn avenue, near Fifth avenue, plunged down a 10-foot embankment, overturned and pinned him beneath the car. Contos, suffering a fracture of the arm and body bruises, was taken to the Pittsburgh Hospital.

Contos, who staged wrestling bouts in this city 10 years ago, was steering his automobile while it was being towed to a garage after breaking down. The tow line broke, causing his machine to run onto the sidewalk and through the fence. Contos was visiting here after a business trip to Washington.

Falls Under Train, Saves His Life With Belt

3-ALARM FIRE IN EAST END

Hoseman John Kenny, of No. 8 Engine Company, is recovering in his home today from cuts suffered when he was struck by flying glass while fighting a three-alarm fire which originated in Beegle's restaurant, at 6292 Broad street, yesterday. Damage estimated at $6,000 was caused.

The three alarms were sounded when a two-story frame building at 6288 Broad street, ignited and threatened other structures. Nine companies called out on the alarms prevented the flames from spreading. The upper floors of both buildings are unoccupied. Twelve persons, patrons and employes of the restaurant, were routed by the blaze.

East M'Keesport Civic Club Elects

Dr. W. L. Henderson was re-elected president of the East McKeesport Civic Club at the annual meeting of the organization, according to an announcement yesterday. Others elected are: C. E. Hassler, C. R. L. Rasel and A. E. Eckberg, vice presidents; S. C. Devey, recording secretary; Roy Rath, corresponding secretary; Charles W. Harbout, treasurer, and F. E. Uncles, J. H. White and George E. Stenson, auditors.

Braddock's Products Worth $128,320,800

Manufactured products valued at $128,320,800 were turned out in Braddock during 1928, according to an announcement yesterday. There were 55 industrial plants in the borough, employing 5,810 persons, including 5,200 wage workers and 610 salaried employes. Capital invested in Braddock amounted to $28,650,500. Metals and metal products led other industrial classes.

CROWDS WATCH N. S. FIRE

A large crowd of workers homeward bound watched North Side firemen battle a stubborn blaze in the rooms of the Goodman Brothers Picture Frame Company, on the third floor of 206 Federal street, late yesterday. Water seeping to the second floor damaged the Goodman stock as well as that of the Martin Herb Company, on the first floor.

Firemen fought the blaze for more than two hours and prevented it from spreading to adjacent buildings. The cause of the blaze, which did $4,000 damage, was not determined.

Ellwood City Man Freed After Crash

As a result of a private settlement, Justice of the Peace William A. Thompson, of Bellevue, has discharged W. A. Kerr, of Ellwood City, Pa., following an automobile crash at Dawson and Balph avenues last week. His car collided with that of Theodore E. Edson, 720 Klemont avenue, Ross township, driven by F. M. Edson.

Car and Case of Rum Seized Behind Saloon

An automobile was seized by prohibition agents along with a case of Bacardi rum while the driver was about to make a delivery last night to a saloon in the rear of Allegheny avenue. The rum runner had taken the liquor from the car and was about to carry it into the saloon when the agents appeared and grabbed the liquor from the man who fled.

CAR SPEEDING BLAMED FOR CRASH

The first damage suit growing out of the street car accident which claimed one life and injured 16 persons in McKeesport, Christmas Eve, was on file in Common Pleas Court today. George and Edith Spate, of McKeesport, asked from the Pittsburgh Railways Company $20,000 damages for injuries suffered by Mrs. Spate.

The plaintiffs alleged that the car on which Mrs. Spate was a passenger had been operated at high speed in a negligent manner. They asserted that the rails in Fifth avenue, McKeesport, were chipped, broken and otherwise defective, and that this condition caused another car to leave the track and sidewipe the one on which Mrs. Spate rode.

AUTO HITS GIRL, ASK $10,000

Damages of $10,000 for injuries suffered in an automobile accident are asked by Lillian Marks, a minor, through her parents, Louis and Sarah Marks, in a suit on file in Common Pleas Court today.

The plaintiff alleges that she was struck by the automobile of Frank and Francis Schmidt, September 14, 1928, near her home in South Nineteenth street, and was injured permanently. It is alleged that Schmidt was driving the car while under the influence of liquor, and that his wife, co-defendant, was aware of his condition.

Bible Class Will Present Pageant

Under auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society, North End Methodist Episcopal Church, a play, "The Enchanted April," will be given in Perry High School auditorium tomorrow night by the Sunday school class of Mrs. Sarah E. Stright, Bellevue M. E. Church. Proceeds will go toward completing the interior of the North End church auditorium. Mrs. C. H. Dickson, president of the Ladies' Aid, and Mrs. F. W. Titterington, treasurer, are in charge of arrangements.

Says Wife Cruel, Sues for Divorce

Philip James Miller, of 434 Walnut street, Sewickley, is seeking a divorce from his wife, Florence I. Miller, on grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment. A libel in the case was filed in Common Pleas Court yesterday. The wife lives at 853 Pennsylvania avenue, Coraopolis, according to the libellant.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

WHAT does a trackwalker think about? "I have time to think," writes Robert Stoeckly, of Apollo, Pa., who describes himself as a trackwalker for the Pennsylvania Railroad. Mr. Stoeckly then goes on to say in his letter:

"As I grow older I am more and more impressed and awed at the abysmal ignorance in the world.

"Young and old speak of the scarcity of opportunity. They are blind.

"Our civilization today looks like a vast cesspool.

"Science and business are just learning to co-operate, but we must have more co-operation.

"Prohibition, crime, health, all branches of life, are so upset that we need men and women highly-trained, fearless and with great common sense to untangle our lives.

"Our law-making bodies are so big and clumsy they are like the pre-historic monsters with two sets of brains."

To be frank, Mr. Stoeckly, the column quite awhile ago quit worrying about the matter and decided to let the whole thing take care of itself as best it can. I have some reason to believe there were great difficulties some time prior to 1894 so that it can't all be blamed on me and I have a suspicion that even after I make a silent and unnoticed exit there will still be quite a mass of things to be cleared up.

YOUR letter, however, Mr. Stoeckly, is interesting, not entirely because it shows that a trackwalker is aware of complexities and inconsistencies, but because it clears up one thing for me. Until this time I always thought trackwalkers, as they went their way, nearly always looking into the car windows as the train passed, were wondering why in the world people always kept on the move, were so restless. In fact, often I have been tempted to yell out of the car window to the staring trackwalker: "Johnstown—I'll be only away a day or so."

But your letter indicates that as you examine the ties and ballast and rails there occur to you possibly the same abstractions which kept Socrates wandering around asking questions until exasperated Xanthippe told him the least he could do was to get home on time for dinner. There was a woman, for you, Mr. Stoeckly.

Socrates was spending his life learning how to die gracefully, which some savants say is the end of all philosophy, and his wife was worrying about such small matters as cold meals, holding up the washing of the evening dishes, and such things.

But Socrates was not to be dissuaded. He kept thinking right up to the end. He remembered even when he was dying that he owed a man a rooster and asked his friends to pay the debt for him, and if I remember, the executioner who gave him the poison to drink broke down.

His story, Mr. Stoeckly, which I knew but sketchily, may help you pass a few moments of contemplation as you examine the rails and the ballast and the ties.

And his story, too, perhaps would indicate that since years and years ago very learned men busied themselves with trying to solve the riddle of life and not always with great success, what's the use of the likes of you and me, Mr. Stoeckly, to ever get indignant or ever hope to see much beyond our noses?

I wouldn't discourage your thinking, Mr. Stoeckly, but I warn you there's some danger in it. Do you know, the other day, after having read something or other of a philosophical nature I questioned the old statement that a stitch in time saves nine. Would you believe that I was wondering whether it might save only eight or possibly ten? That's what some of those darned philosophers have done to me.

New Safety Zones Asked By Merchants

Safety islands for street car patrons were recommended at Penn avenue and Beatty street and Penn avenue and Center avenue, according to a letter forwarded to Council by the East Liberty Chamber of Commerce. In another communication the East Liberty merchants asked Council to assume the cost of draining Silver Lake.

Woman Badly Hurt When Struck by Auto

Mrs. Rose Latolla, 51, of 119 Auburn street, suffered fractures of the wrist and thigh when struck by an automobile driven, police say, by Harry Simpkins, Jr., 25, of 1388 Paulson avenue, at Larimer avenue and Auburn street, last night. Simpkins was returning to his home after visiting his mother, who is ill in the Homeopathic Hospital. Mrs. Latolla was conveyed to the Pittsburgh Hospital.

Sir Roger Says

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.

See where Mr. Hearst has offered twenty-five thousand now for some plan to get the Eighteenth Amendment out of the constitution, and into effect. This twenty-five is being thrown away on a lost cause, the same as Durant's twenty-five on the plan to enforce prohibition.

It's not going to be enforced, and it's not going to be taken out of the constitution, and there is where I will win my five back on W. R. If he will bet me.

But he is too smart to think either one of these will happen. It's in our constitution and will stay as long as there is a bottle left.

Yours, WILL.

FOR 10 years a Canadian war veteran carried a bullet in his lung. It has been removed at last by holding a powerful magnet over the patient's chest and drawing the bullet to a point where it could be seized with forceps.

"NANCY DEANE" by ROY L. FOLEY

Montgomery Jr., known long ago as the black sheep of the Deane family, was Nancy's father and her mother was Julie Abbott of the circus.

Monty Deane's name was not spoken in the old stone mansion on Pittsburgh's exclusive Fifth avenue. The bedroom that had once been his had been locked for 19 years, its mystery, whatever it was, barred even to the maids.

Looking up to this room from the grounds, one could see four large windows overlooking the rear garden, darkened by heavy shades.

Many had been the whisperings about this room, many the guesses as to what it contained, but only once had its long silence been shattered, only once had anyone glimpsed its secret.

That had happened several years before when the Deane home was being redecorated, while Mrs. Deane was in the East. One of the painters let a ladder crash against the transom, smashing the glass and tearing the heavy velvet portiere that shut the interior away from the curious.

The crash brought Mrs. Lindquist, the Deane housekeeper, running. She arrived at the top of the brond staircase in time to call "stop" to the painter who had thrust his head over the transom.

Too late; already his profane eyes had glimpsed a woman's gown hanging over a chair, iridescent, glittering, jewel like; a ballet skirt heavy with rhinestones, and on the floor a pair of tiny ballet slippers; gold; one lay across the other, bottom side up, the soles were soiled and the tips worn.

The housekeeper said nothing more; the transom was repaired; Caroline Glendenning Deane was none the wiser and the old house went on pretending its secret was still its own.

Nobody knew what had become on Monty Deane, Jr., though his father and mother never mentioned his name, they often thought of him, remembered him as a boy; his daughter often thought of him, too, though of course she had never seen him. As she dreamed of riches and trips, of parties, of beaux, she dreamed of Monty Deane without even knowing his name—wondered what he was like—where he came from—what he did—and so on and on—wondered about her mother too. As it was she found all her love in the hearts of Margaret and Darry O'Day and all her excitement in the crowds that filled the Washington station at train time.

She was in her seventh heaven when the de luxe fliers stopped for water, or for a change of engines. Then the travelers would rush in, demanding coffee and doughnuts, sandwiches, milk. To Nancy, the clanging bells, shrill whistles, snatches of conversation, ribaldry of the uncouth, manners and mannerisms of the cultured, were a grand pageant of life.

Today she tingled.

For some reason she could not define the air was surcharged with thrills. Something was going to happen. Nancy just knew it. Every time she had a premonition, something nice did happen.

A delicious day it was, one of those cool, sparkling days that sometimes rout the heat of summer, a gay visitor of a day that the people of Washington know so well.

Nancy was alone in her little domain now, her back to the counter. One of the little silver handles on the great coffee tank had loosened and she was trying to tighten it in spite of the fact that it was almost red hot. She would give it a twist and then snatch her fingers away, shaking her hand and saying "O-o-o-ouch!"

She must have done this a half dozen times so intent upon getting the leaking spigot tightened that she did not hear a customer step up to the long counter. She turned suddenly to look straight into the bluest eyes she had ever seen.

John Blair laughed outright.

"What you need, young lady, is a pair of asbestos gloves," he said.

"Let me come around there and give it a twist."

Before Nancy could say yes or no, the blue-eyed stranger strode around the counter, took the leaking spigot between a strong brown thumb and forefinger, gave it a quick twist and the job was done.

And though it took but a second, Nancy's eyes finished a thorough appraisal of the tall young man. He was more than six feet, broad shouldered, small waisted.

She noticed his high laced boots with little splotches of red clay still clinging to the heels and about the soles. His shirt was of khaki, and he wore a narrow black tie. His hands, his face, his neck, were burned bronze. Even his hair was sunburned a sort of yellowing tan.

In her quick inventory Nancy noticed that he didn't call her "sweetie," like so many of the young chaps who came to the counter. She knew there was something different about this man the moment she looked at him. She knew that with him there would be no need for sharp "comebacks," though really she took an impish delight in handing back as good as she got in the way of saucy conversation.

Nancy knew that this was a real man, and a gentleman.

She watched him eat. Most of the men who came to the counter took a bite of pie and gulped a mouthful of coffee—bite, gulp, bite, gulp. Here was a man who was dressed like a laborer, but who had the manners that go with good breeding.

Of course, one couldn't always tell by appearances. There was dear old Darry O'Day. He was one who took a bite and a gulp, a gulp and a bite. Darry, the kitchen stove philosopher always just going to find a job, or just missing one. But Nancy loved him just the same.

"None of us is perfect," she would say to "Mud" while that poor woman was toiling to make one dollar do the work of five, meantime inveighing against the shiftlessness of the O'Days.

All this passed through Nancy's mind as she watched John Blair eat, and she couldn't help but wonder who he was. What kind of work was he doing?

Just as he finished the last crumb of his pie, the shrill music of a steam piano, a circus calliope, sounded above the clanging of locomotive bells and the hissing of steam.

"A calliope!" Nancy fairly sang. "O—o—o—h! How I love a calliope! How I love a circus!"

The flecks of gold in her eyes glinted like little sparks of fire and she all but danced a jig behind the worn counter.

"Great Scott!" exclaimed John Blair. "Does a circus give you a thrill like that? Like circuses that much?"

"Do I?" answered Nancy. "Do I? Why there's nothing in the world that thrills me like a circus. I love the noise of it and the excitement, the smells. I love the odor of freshly laid sawdust, the popcorn stands, the tents, the tar. The animals, even—that is from a distance."

She said that last—"from a distance" so slowly and with so little real conviction, that they both burst out laughing.

What better introduction does a young chap and a girl need than a good laugh over anything? That laugh brought them together as no formal introduction ever could. When John Blair laughed Nancy saw that his teeth were strong and white. Not pearls by any means. She disliked a man who was too good looking. She liked his smile. She liked his hearty laugh. She was just about deciding she liked everything about this big, bronzed young stranger to her home town when he ventured a question.

"Would you like to go to the circus—with me? Tonight?"

For a second Nancy was too taken back to answer. Being invited out by men whom she served at the depot lunch counter was a common experience. During the course of two years she had learned to pass off all sorts of familiarities and invitations. But here was an invitation that puzzled her.

She looked straight into the blue eyes of John Blair. Was she being fooled as she had been fooled so many times during her apprenticeship? Before she learned about men from men. Was he the type that would want to drive her into the country and then make love to her?

She dropped her eyes before the steady look in the ones that seemed so very, very blue in contrast to the bronze skin, the sunburned hair.

He made no explanations. He wasn't smart about it, and he didn't "pull" any slang. Quick thinking, shrewd reader of human nature, Nancy made her decision suddenly.

"Yes, I'd love it. I think a circus is the grandest thing on earth."

John Blair smiled, his own eyes brightening with the enthusiasm of the very unusual little waitress before him. This too, was an experience for him. So many of the young girls he had met were too willing to be dated up.

"I'll call for you at 7:30 then," he said. "And where?"

Nancy gave the address of the O'Day cottage on Maple street.

CHAPTER II.

HOW slowly the hands on the old clock on the depot wall crept around to six. After John Blair had gone Nancy tingled from head to foot. Twice she had got orders mixed and in the confusion of trying to straighten out the mistake of giving a plate of baked beans to a dyspeptic looking old lady and a pot of weak tea to a husky lumberjack, she knocked a cup of steaming coffee straight across the counter straight into the lap of a newly arrived customer.

"Holy Mackerel!" yelled the newcomer. He jumped to his feet and danced a little jig while he tried to pull his sopping shirt away from his scalded skin.

"Good night! Of all the blankety-blank dumbbells I have ever saw you're the bright red raspberry. Why in h— don't you watch out what you're doin'?"

Nancy's apologies seemed only to antagonize him the more.

"Shut your mouth and get me another cup of coffee, Clumsy."

Nancy's eyes blazed. She had endured many indignities from all sorts of men since she had worked at the lunch counter, but never before had anyone told her to shut up before a crowd. The lunch room was filled with girls and boys from Pittsburgh, typical college youths, noisy, saucy, some of them a little over dressed.

The man's "shut your mouth" stung Nancy. She started to repeat her apologies, but before she could utter a word a young fellow who looked like Gene Tunney pushed his way through the mob.

"Say you big bum!" he said to the offender. "What do you mean swearing at a girl like that. 'Spose she spilled that coffee on you on purpose? Why don't you take someone your own size?"

The "big bum" answered with a blow. His doubled-up fist swung around like a flash, and the young fellow went sprawling to the floor.

Half a dozen pals of the youth leaped toward the man who had downed him, but he flung them off as though they were featherweights. Suddenly the lunch room was a bedlam of twisted arms and legs.

The little old lady who got the beans instead of the weak tea screamed and jumped on the counter, holding her voluminous skirts above the tops of her high laced shoes and screaming—

"Stop! Fire. Murder. Police. Help!"

An engine crew came running in as the fighting mass plunged against the counter. It creaked and tipped sending plates of pie and puddings over with a crash at Nancy's feet.

Someone was yelling "Police. Beat it!"

The depot emptied in a minute. The tea drinking lady fainted and just as Nancy dragged her limp form from behind the counter and through the swinging doors into the kitchen, there was a tremendous crash, the counter smashed against the fifteen gallon coffee container hurling it to the floor and spilling the scalding coffee.

What happened after that Nancy could never tell clearly. She knew that the police came and she knew her job was done with. The man whose coffee she had spilled was held by two policemen, his face covered with blood, his shirt half torn from his body.

They dragged him out, and when he turned, shaking his fists at the waitress and heaping names upon her an officer silenced him with a whack on the head.

White lipped, stunned, she leaned back against the wall and looked at the wreckage. She became aware that Mike Bailey, her boss, was glaring at her in a red rage.

"Get out of here. Beat it. What a swell help you turned out to be with your come-hither eye. If you hadn't a-been flirting with that big bozo before that hard guy come in you wouldn't a-been so excited you had to go spillin' coffee all over a feller. Get out blondy. Get out and stay out!"

She wouldn't cry. She couldn't. She was hurt and excited but she knew she wasn't at fault. She ran homewards, across corners like a jay walker; burning with humiliation.

She knew that the story of the brawl would be printed in all the towns for miles around. The correspondents would poke fun at her expense, probably, adding embellishments that would make her the laughing stock of Washington.

And what would John Blair think?

She ran up the steps of the cottage three at a time, burst into the sitting room, calling, "Muddy, Darry, Mud, Darry! Where are you?"

No answer. Something was wrong, terribly wrong. The house seemed to be silent. The fire was out. Though it was past dinner time not a dish was on the kitchen table.

Nancy was dazed. Mud was none too particular about her house. Long years of living with a shiftless husband, given to pipe smoking, had developed in Mrs. O'Day an attitude of "what's the use of being so particular?"

"After thirty-three years of struggling, setbacks and blasted hopes, a body sort of gives up caring," she had often said but Nancy knew that deep in her heart dear old Mud had never given up.

"But Oh! I don't want my life to turn out like Mud's life. I want some of the good things. I can't go on thinking that when I'm as old as Mud is, that I'll have to be turning a six year old coat and skimping the way she has to. I can't. I won't!"

This is what Nancy thought and said to herself time and time again, especially when she caught a glimpse of how other people lived. At times like that such a wave of hot impatience swept over her that she couldn't stand the shabby O'Day cottage another minute; she would often run from the house to the outskirts where she could walk fast alone to think.

At last she heard Mrs. O'Day's step on the porch: "Hello," she called out, "where on earth have you been?"

Mrs. O'Day's face was pale and Nancy grabbed her by the shoulders half hysterical with fear:

"It's nothing, nothing," said Muddy—"how foolish I am—you won't be leaving me now Nancy, will ye girl?" and for the first time in her life Nancy saw big tears roll down the wrinkled cheeks to Mother O'Day.

Enzymes and Their Part in Digestion

DURING the course of a month I get a great many letters from the readers of these articles. They ask thousands of questions.

DR. COPELAND

The other day came this request: "What is meant by enzymes and hydrolysis? Please tell us."

Of course I am glad to answer this question and all others that have a bearing on health. In these articles I try to avoid technical discussions, particularly so if the matters have no practical application. It serves no useful purpose to take your time and mine with the consideration of theoretical questions.

But the enzymes bear such an important relationship to health and nutrition that we can afford to speak of them for a moment.

If you drop a radish in a glass of water it just stays there. Nothing happens to it. If it is taken into the stomach the radish dissolves. What has happened?

The saliva of the mouth and the juices of the stomach and intestines differ from water. These fluids contain chemical or other agents that make possible the physical or chemical change of the things we eat.

Without moisture, without water, the digestion and appropriation of the nourishing parts of the things we eat, would be impossible. One function of the enzymes is to compel water to unite with the organic substances we swallow.

The enzymes act in a sense like yeast. They are not themselves consumed. They act by their presence in such a manner as to permit the water to combine with the food substance.

You see it is really the water that does the work. That is why the process we are discussing is called "hydrolysis."

"Hyro" means "water." "Lysis" means "to split." Hydrolysis then is "water splitting."

By the aid and direction of the enzymes, hydrolysis is made possible. In consequence, the radish or other food can be used by the body, because the enzymes promote the hydrolysis of its substance, making it soluble.

You might as well hold a radish in the hand and expect it to be nourishing as to take it into the cavity of the stomach and expect it to supply your body with fuel and energy. It would not be absorbed at all if it were not for the enzymes and their promotion of hydrolysis. Digestion would be impossible.

There are a number of different digestive enzymes. "Pepsin" is a familiar one. This acts on meat. "Rennin" changes the protein of milk into curds, thus preparing it for digestion. The "amylase" of the saliva converts starch into sugar. The "maltose" of the intestinal juices completes the starch digestion, changing the sugar into glucose which can be absorbed by the blood.

These are a few of the many enzymes. Every one, you see, has an important part to play in promoting digestion. By the addition of water, or rather by the union of the water and food material, the thing we have eaten is made available for our good.

Much more could be said along this line. However, I hope I have answered the question asked in such a way as to prove informative to my correspondent. If not, come again!

WINTER THRILLS AND SPILLS -:- -:-

Drawn by Dorothy Flack

WINTER—the season of thrilling sports! The time when the natural roses bloom in the cheeks of every girl who loves the outdoors. When the mischievous winds whip the curls in a teasing tangle around laughing eyes. When the gleam of the sun and stars lies in every pair of dancing eyes. When lips are crimsoned and everything is powdered with the glistening flakes of the snow. Ah, that's the REAL time of romance.

For in the thrill of the sports there's every opportunity for Dan Cupid to get in his little bit toward furthering the romances which he has planned.

Down the run shoots the toboggan with its happy load of sparkling beauty. Tiny screams of fear and laughing bravado break the majestic silences of the snowy mountain side. And as the steed of the snow leaps over a treacherous bank—Oh! Then comes the thrill of the spill and the anxiety which Love alone can show to an adored one.

"I'm so frightened!" "Oh, my dearest! Are you hurt?" Then as the thrilling moment goes into the limbo of forgotten things, Love comes to the rescue and words which never would have been uttered otherwise come spilling one over the other. And Dan Cupid laughs a sly little giggle and knows that not for nothing has he planned toboggan party. For his is the guiding hand in all these times of opportunity.

So keep a close watch on your heart, for Dan is only waiting for the second to come when he can propel you headlong into the arms which he knows have been waiting for you.

DEAR MISS GALE:

We are three girls seeking your wonderful effective advice. We will call ourselves 1, 2 and 3. No. 1 says: I am 17 years old, not exactly in love but carry on a very warm friendship with a boy one year my senior. All I need is courage. I never have invited this boy to my house since I was first introduced to him. I want to know how, when and where to ask him. Please give me some assistance. Miss Gale. No. 2 asks: How should I entertain a boy friend. I have not much luck at this game. No. 3 asks: Should a girl 19 years old marry a man 16 years her father's senior? He has loads of money, has a beautiful home in Pittsburgh and a winter home in Florida, and he also has two children, a girl and a boy. I love this man and he seems to love me. His children are 16 and 17 years old, the boy being the older. Miss Gale, please advise me on this question. I don't want to marry him if you wouldn't think we would be happy. Father doesn't mind my going with this man because he says he is a perfect gentleman and has more sense than a young boy about 21 or 22. My sister goes steadily with the son. Hoping to see this letter in print soon we remain. I, II AND III.

1. Don't make an occasion to invite the boy to call, but the next time you are talking with him, just say, "Won't you come over to see me some time?" or some such remark. 2. Discuss topics that you are both interested in, have some music, play cards, or dance. 3. This man is much too old for you to think of marrying. I cannot think you could possibly be happy. Remember, you would be marrying the man, not just the luxuries he could give you.

LOVE'S AWAKENING -:- A CONTINUATION OF LOVE'S EMBERS

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge's Victory Is Tinged With Suspicion

AFTER his first furtive glance at me, Dicky did not look my way during Harry Underwood's graceful recital. The plans the two men had made for our taking the hotel suite next to that of the Underwoods were set forth in full detail, but it was Mr. Underwood who did most of the talking. Dicky's comments were few and patently forced.

"You see, Lady Fair," Mr. Underwood said, turning to me, "this thing is what you might call a direct intervention of Providence for the Underwood family. When Lil planned to take that suite she only considered herself and Marion. She didn't know that the cards said to beware of a tall dark man coming back into her life."

The impish grin he gave his wife was tinged with tenderness. She smiled back at him promptly, affectionately, but I, who know her so well, fancied that the smile was a trifle too swift and loving to be wholly natural. I felt myself grow cold as I realized what possibilities this forced attitude of my friend's might mean. I had hoped that her heart, as well as her conscience, was involved in her welcome of her husband. If it were otherwise, if it were only her sense of marital duty and her quixotic remorse for her fancied share in his long expatriation, which were animating her, I could glimpse tragedy in the future.

Harry Underwood's voice, however, was an effectual antidote for gloomy thoughts. It was as gleeful as a boy's as he went on with his eulogy of the arrangement he and Dicky had devised.

"Lil took her suite by the year," he said, "and a mighty good thing, too, for she and I both have to have a cave in the city somewhere, no matter where we are in the summer, for we have to make so many trips in. But this other suite next door belongs to some old people who've been here ever since the hotel was built, back in Peter Stuyvesant's time, I should judge from the looks of both the house and them. They go to Florida every fall and stay until late spring, living in the hotel during the summer—there are such thin-blooded idiots in the world you know—but they never have been willing to sublet the thing before. I fancy, however, something has happened to their income, for the apartment is to let. There are five rooms and two baths in it, and as they won't subdivide it's been a white elephant on their hands and my despair, for there's one room and bath on the side next to Lil's which was just made for me and my traps. It's lined with bookshelves and I'll be able to get some of my books around me again, as the owners are storing everything personal like books and china, leaving only rugs, large draperies and the biggest pieces of furniture."

"Madge will probably wish they'd stored those," Lillian put in caustically, still with her provocative attitude on my behalf which I guessed she was staging for Dicky's benefit, that he might not suspect how jubilant we were over his ingeniously staged capitulation.

"They're not so bad," her husband said. "But why don't you and Madge take a run up to town and look the thing over. Then Madge can make the final decision."

"I don't need to see it," I said hurriedly. "I'm sure—" but Lillian took the words from my mouth.

"Of course you need to see it," she said witheringly. "I've no doubt it's all that Harry has pictured—he's a good picker—but no man on earth can select an apartment for a woman to live in without her looking it over. And we'll have a splendid chance tomorrow when we go in on that shopping trip for Marion. We'll just take Mary along, too. What d'ye say, Madge?"

"Oh, surely!" I returned promptly. "She'll be living there, too—I hope."

"If Phil doesn't take a notion to drop her over the precipice," Mr. Underwood amended. "By the way, the Dicky-bird and I will blow you to lunch anywhere you say. He has to go up to town tomorrow he tells me, a sudden summons, and I might as well toddle along."

My jubilation over my victory, my feminine anticipation of rearranging a new apartment, suddenly fell flat. I knew what that sudden summons to town meant. Edith Fairfax had told him she needed him, and he was going to her.

Correct Manners

The Salad Knife

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

"A" says that you use a salad knife when eating salad. "B" says that under no condition should a knife be used when eating salad.

There has been quite an argument on the above, and we have both agreed to take your advice.

A AND B

AIS, to my mind, overwhelmingly correct. For a long time many hostesses have had salad knives placed with the salad fork for the salad course. And many silversmiths now, with this market, manufacture salad knives and sell the salad knife and fork as a "pair."

And why not use a salad fork as well as a salad knife? The reason for silver utensils in convenience—that explains the history of their use and of their style and change in style. And surely with some of the salads most commonly served in America—notably the difficult-to-manage hearts of lettuce and endive and salads made of such ingredients as slices of pineapple—we welcome the supplementary aid supplied by a friendly knife.

Fork or Spoon?

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Will you please tell me if it is the proper thing for two girls to register on a separate line while sharing a room at a hotel?

2. My girl friend's brother accompanied us and paid the bill—should he have registered for all?

3. When potatoes are served on a side dish, are they to be removed to the dinner plate or eaten from the side dish?

4. When a preserve or marmalade is served (usually with chicken) in a paper coaplet, what is the proper way to eat it?

5. I always eat peas and corn with a spoon, but have been told a fork is correct. Which is proper?

M. A. B.

YES, each should register—with the Miss before each name.

5. That is not necessary, but it would be quite all right for him to do this, if he wishes.

3. It is usually more convenient to remove them from the dish in which they are served to the dinner plate.

4. It is better also to remove this sweet accessory to the plate. The kind of service that you describe is in very poor form, and the marmalade should be served on a small plate.

7. A fork.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Friday, January 4

AN interesting and eventful day is the presage based upon the strong position of the planets ruling the personal and intellectual interests of life. It is probable that domestic or affectional affiliations may engage the attention, and these may assume sensational or unconventional aspects. There may be a tendency to extravagant indulgence in these, but with calm judgment there are many benefits forecast. New ventures or secret arrangements with large bodies thrive.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very eventful year, especially as it develops personal, domestic, affectional or artistic matters. There may be some sudden or spectacular phases to these, although many commonplace interests should flourish with proper attention. New connections thrive.

A child born on this day may have a diversity of talents and graces and should make a success in many lines, as it may be popular and have powerful friends.

Penn. Mother Was Right

Within a few months there will be no more feverish, bilious, headachy, constipated, pale and puny children! That prophecy would surely come true if every mother could see for herself how quickly, easily, and harmlessly the bowels of babies and children are cleansed, regulated, given tone and strength by a product which has proved its merit and reliability to do what is claimed for it to millions of mothers in over fifty years of steadily increasing use.

As mothers find out from using it how children respond to the gentle influence of California Fig Syrup they're growing stronger, sturdier and more active daily they simply have to tell other mothers about it. That's one of the reasons for its overwhelming sales of over four million bottles a year.

A Pennsylvania mother, Mrs. J. H. Merry, 2 Foster Ave., Philadelphia, says: "Before my daughter, Lucy, was a year old she began having constipation. Sister got me to give her California Fig Syrup and in a few days she was all right and looked fine again. This pleased me so much that I have used Fig syrup ever since for all her colds or little upset spells. It always stops her trouble quick, strengthens her, makes her eat."

Always ask for California Fig Syrup by the full name and see that the carton bears the word "California." Then you'll get the genuine.

LADY RELATES AMAZING STORY

Local Resident Says Ten Herbs Ended 10 Years' Suffering; All Ailments Gone.

"Just a few bottles of Ten Herbs gave me blessed relief, after I had suffered for ten long years," was the statement of Mrs. Hannah Brahler, 1607 Cross Alley, North Side, Pittsburgh, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at May's Main Store.

MRS. HANNAH BRAHLER

529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily demonstrating this great natural medicine.

"I had terrible rheumatic pains all through my body," continued Mrs. Brahler. "These pains were worst in my knees, which were swollen and very stiff. At times I could hardly stand on my feet. Indigestion caused me considerable trouble. Gas would bloat me badly and crowd around my heart and cause it to palpitate. I was so short of breath I could not walk up or down stairs without stopping to get my breath. Sometimes I felt so weak I feared I would faint. Bilious headache and dizzy spells came on me. I was so badly constipated I had to take physics regularly. During these ten years of suffering I tried almost every kind of medicine, but got no relief.

"Since taking Ten Herbs I feel like a different person. Rheumatism has disappeared—all pains and stiffness gone. I have been relieved of gas, palpitation of heart and shortness of breath. I can walk up and down stairs as well as ever. There are no more headaches or dizzy spells. Constipation is a thing of the past. Members of my family often remark that I am just like I was twenty years ago. I advise anyone who is suffering with ailments similar to mine to try Ten Herbs before any other medicine. It surely is a wonderful preparation."

Ten Herbs not only benefits the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, but cleanses the system of poisonous waste matter and impurities.

The Ten Herbs Man is at May's Main Store, 529 Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Old Folks Say Doctor Caldwell was Right

The basis of treating sickness has not changed since Dr. Caldwell left Medical College in 1875, nor since he placed on the market the laxative prescription he had used in his practice, known to druggists and the public since 1892, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

Then, the treatment of constipation, biliousness, headaches, mental depression, indigestion, sour stomach and other indispositions that result from constipation was entirely by means of simple vegetable laxatives, herbs and roots. These are still the basis of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a combination of senna and other mild laxative herbs, with pepsin.

The simpler the remedy for constipation, the safer for the child and for you, and the better for the general health of all. And as you can get results in a mild and safe way by using Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, why take chances with strong drugs?

A bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will last a family several months, and all can use it. It is good for the baby because pleasant to the taste, gentle in action, and free from narcotics. In proper doses, given in the directions, it is equally effective at all ages. Elderly people will find it especially ideal. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

What's on the Air

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

WHEN will WCAE gets its new wavelength?

We have had several letters lately asking us to awaken the Radio Board to the fact that Pittsburgh listeners are impatiently waiting for the broadcast situation here to be improved.

Several weeks ago, the Pittsburgh listeners through the Sun-Telegraph, agitated a campaign to have WCAE put on a higher wavelength. They were successful in getting several congressmen, councilmen and radio men interested enough to demand a hearing before the Federal Radio Commission.

The hearing was granted. On the day set for the hearing, the commission decided to postpone the case. Immediately on the heels of this announcement came a statement from the board that the members felt WCAE was entitled to a change in wavelength and that a remedy would be forthcoming soon.

Pittsburgh listeners have been very patient, except for a few correspondents who write to us regularly demanding that we undertake personally to see that this new wavelength assignment is granted immediately. We are sorry that we have not this power, for we feel that many thousands of fans are still suffering from the low wave assignment given WCAE.

In the parlance of the radio board, the word "soon" may mean most any time, but we judge from the trend of action being taken that Pittsburgh listeners are due for a belated Christmas gift in the very near future.

Fans must not become discouraged. It takes considerable time for radio engineers to reallocate even one station. Let us be patient a while longer.

Bizet at a fete in Seville will be tonight's subject in the series of dramatic moments in the lives of great composers.

The particular musical episode in this week's broadcast will center around a special presentation of Bizet's opera "Carmen" in honor of the King. Bizet himself will be present to supervise the fete, and the various festivities attendant on this occasion, with selections from the opera itself, will be heard on the air.

10:30 P. M.—Merrymakers.

Ruth Fisk Holland Weds Again in N. Y.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—The marriage of Mrs. Ruth Fisk Holland, daughter of Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, medical director of the Life Extension Institute, to Oliver Alden, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Alden, of Anna, Ill., was announced yesterday by Dr. Fisk.

The marriage took place yesterday in First Presbyterian Church, the pastor, the Rev. Dr. George Alexander officiating. Mrs. Alden's former marriage to Earl Irving Holland was ended by divorce last October. Mr. Alden is a graduate of Princeton.

American Steamer Wrecked on Rocks

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—The American steamship Caspar, of the Seattle Line, which ran on the rocks of the Aaland Islands in the Baltic Sea, December 14, is regarded as a complete wreck. The crew left the ship on the night she stranded. The Casper was on her way to Finland to load lumber. Her home port was New York.

50-Gal. Still Seized In Braddock Home

A 50-gallon still was found in operation in the home of James Cecere, 40, of 627 Margaretta street, Braddock, by prohibition agents when they raided the house yesterday, they said. The paraphernalia was destroyed and Cecere arrested.

PIRATES MEET N. Y. RANGERS TONIGHT

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Robertson in Tangle
Corsairs Not Involved
Hockey Stars of Past
Hoblitzel as Manager
Doubt About Lazzeri
Denny Lyons Passes

PIRATE SLUGGER OF NINETIES DEAD

REPORTS of a mix-up over the services of Pitcher Charley Robertson, formerly of the White Sox and Braves, erroneously name the Pittsburgh club as being involved in the tangle. The story published in some cities is to the effect that the Pirate owners bought Robertson from the Dallas club, of the Texas League, and turned him over to Kansas City in the American Association in part payment for Pitcher Henry Meine; that Minneapolis, also of the American Association, has reserved him for 1929, claiming title to him on the strength of a prior purchase from Dallas, said to have been made last summer, and that the Dallas club denies the claims of Minneapolis, asserting that the pitcher was merely loaned to the Millers.

Charley Robertson.

It is added that the Pittsburgh club claims to have bought Robertson from Dallas in good faith, and that Kansas City contends the hurler belongs to the Blues because it made a supposedly valid deal with the Pirates. Finally, it is implied that Pittsburgh's deal for Meine may be affected because of the inability of the Buccaneers to deliver Robertson to Kansas City.

AS A matter of fact, the Pittsburgh club is not a party to the controversy from any angle, never claimed title to him nor negotiated for him with Dallas or any other club and that pitcher did not figure in any sense in the dicker whereby the Pirates acquired Meine from Kansas City.

Pittsburgh bought Meine for a cash consideration, with Pitcher Lester Bartholomew thrown in, and that was all there was to it. Robertson did not figure in the deal in any sense, and how he ever came to be mentioned in connection with the transaction, even by rumor, is a mystery. The tale is in line with another yarn printed in the East, stating that the Pittsburgh club was not in favor of Sunday baseball being legalized in Pennsylvania because "in the agreement under which the Pirate owners bought the site of Forbes Field it was stipulated that Sunday games must not be played there." The truth is that no stipulation of the kind was made or suggested. The ground was bought without restrictions.

BASEBALL men in a position to know say that Minneapolis has no right to claim Robertson's services, as that club turned the pitcher back to Dallas after using him for a time last summer. The explanation may be that Kansas City since purchased Robertson from Dallas with some of the money that it received from Pittsburgh for Meine. In any event the row does not concern the Bucs.

Robertson is one of only five pitchers in major league history who pitched not merely a no-hit, no-run game of nine innings, but one in which no batter reached first base. He did it for the White Sox against Detroit on April 30, 1922. The four others to achieve the feat were John Lee Richmond, Johnny Ward, Cy Young and Addie Joss.

Sprague Cleghorn.

WHILE disagreeing with Tommy Gorman in his selection of Roy Worters as goalkeeper on an all-star hockey team of all time, contending that that position should be awarded to Georges Vezina, Basil E. O'Mara, veteran hockey authority of Ottawa, concurs in the other choices, particularly the picking of Hod Stuart and Sprague Cleghorn. "On the defense, I find myself in agreement with Gorman," he said. "Hod Stuart was one of the biggest men, physically, that ever played the game. Legends have grown around his name, such as cluster the memory of Anson, Brouthers, Rusie, Mathewson, Three-Fingered Brown and other baseball greats. Hod Stuart it was who helped introduce the rushing style of defense play. A fast skater, heavy checker and superb stick-handler, he could drive a shot that was the despair of goal tenders.

"DEATH took Stuart at the zenith of his career. He was a veritable iron man, and were he playing today he would be a rink packer. But Sprague Cleghorn, who came after him, and whom Gorman coupled with Stuart in his defense selections, also was one of the titans of the game, and when he was at his peak, in 1915, there was no player to touch him. He was that priceless type of straight-skating defense-head, feet and hands working in co-ordination at all times.

"Though both of Cleghorn's legs were broken in successive years, he survived to maintain his place at the top of the heap. He feared no man, on or off the ice, and some of his feats of strength were amazing. Once he disarmed a tough gunman in Montreal, and his feuds with Newsy Lalonde and the late Joe Hall were among the high lights of his career. In all his turbulent hockey life, Sprague never lost a decision, yet he was the wittiest and best-humored player I ever met."

DICK HOBLITZEL, former major league first baseman, who broke into the big show when Cincinnati obtained him from Wheeling in the old Central League in 1908, has signed to manage the Charlotte (N. C.) club in the South Atlantic Association this year. Dick held the same job back in 1922 and 1923, leading Charlotte to the pennant in the latter season.

Tony Lazzeri.

Hoblitzel is remembered by fans of this district as a former end on the football team of the University of Pittsburgh, then known as Western University of Pennsylvania. He won a letter in only one season, 1907. Dick is said to be still able to play a lively game around first base, and he says he will be a playing manager at Charlotte.

ACCORDING to rumor, third base isn't the only problem with which Manager Miller Huggins, of the Yanks, may be forced to wrestle before another season begins. Second base also is causing some concern, as the lame arm that kept Tony Lazzeri out of the game a goodly part of the time toward the close of the 1927 race is said to be still sore. Tony played in the closing games and also in the world series because the Yanks were in urgent need of his services, but every attempt to throw gave him severe pain and he was practically ruined for double-play purposes.

FOLLOWING the world series, the doctors informed Lazzeri that rest was the one thing he needed most to bring his ailing arm around. So Tony went home to San Francisco, but it is said that the injured member has continued to give him considerable trouble. The story goes that Lazzeri finally decided to attend to the doctoring of the arm himself, but though he has tried the rubbing in of home remedies and other sorts of treatment there has been little or no improvement.

The condition of the wing is said to render it decidedly uncertain whether Tony will be back on the old job next April. If Lazzeri is unable to play regularly, Huggins will have only two members of his old infield back, even though he keeps Mark Koenig, which is not assured, if Washington will consent to trade Bluege for the latter.

ONE of the well-remembered baseball players of more than three decades ago, the days when the Pirates were struggling hard,

GAMES TONIGHT.

Pittsburgh at N. Y. Rangers.
Canadiens at Ottawa.
Toronto at Chicago.
Boston at Montreal.

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—The world champion Rangers, who have won six of their last seven games and who are setting the pace in the National Hockey League race, will entertain Benny Leonard's Pittsburgh Pirates at Madison Square Garden tonight. Les Canadiens, of Montreal, the Boston Bruins, the Detroit Cougars, the Ottawa Senators and the Toronto Leafs are numbered among the Rangers' recent victims, and they are odds-on favorites to down Cleghorn's skaters tonight.

In two previous meetings with the Pittsburghers this season, the locals gained a victory and a tie. They humbled the Blues, 2-0, here, and participated in a 0-0 deadlock in Pittsburgh.

Bert McCaffery, Pirate defense veteran, who has been out of the game for the past fortnight with an attack of tonsilitis, and Cliff Johnson, Ranger defense ace, who suffered a broken ankle early in the season, may get back into the lineups tonight.

All of the Pirates other than McCaffery are in the best of condition, and the Rangers anticipate a close, hard battle. The probable lineup:

Rangers.		Pirates.
Roach	G	Miller
Abel	D	Smith
Boutreemit	D	McKinnon
Mulhollc	C	Frederickson
Thompson	W	Darragh
Keeling	W	Milks

BOSTON DISTRICT ATTORNEY TO INVESTIGATE

BOSTON, Jan. 3.—Action by either Attorney General Joseph E. Warner or District Attorney William G. Foley loomed today as the finance commission prepared to continue its hearing of Sunday baseball bribery charges.

The declaration of Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the Boston National League baseball club, that City Councilman William G. Lynch, of South Boston, asserted that 13 councilors wanted a total of $65,000 for voting to ratify the Sunday baseball bill and that "as far as prosecution in Suffolk County goes, it's a joke; we draw our own jurors," brought instant response from two criminal investigating officials.

District Attorney Foley declared he was ready to present the case to the grand jury if the finance commission shows evidence of a crime having been committed.

Attorney General Warner, however, indicated his office would begin an investigation of the peculiar situation exposed by the procedure through which jurors are drawn in the Boston City Council and the fact that from those jury lists grand juries are chosen. In other words, a case affecting members of the Council might go before a grand jury in the drawing of which they participated.

The Boston Finance Commission, sitting as a tribunal to hear the bribery charges, yesterday heard Fuchs testify that Lynch had sought a bribe for favorable action by him to permit Sunday baseball and other sports in Boston. The hearing was on charges made by Charles F. Adams, vice president of the club, and owner of the Boston Bruins team of the National Hockey League.

Fuchs' testimony had to do mainly with a meeting in his suite at the Copley Plaza Hotel, at which, he said, Lynch told him he represented a "bloc" of 13 members in the City Council which could hold up passage of the Sunday sports bill, recently indorsed by a referendum in the state.

LOUGHRAN TO BOX

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3.—(INS)—Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion, and Armand Emanuel, San Francisco battler, will meet here in a 10-round return bout February 12. The title will not be at stake.

Denny Lyons, Former Buc, Is Dead

WEST COVINGTON, Ky., Jan. 3.—(AP)—Dennis (Denny) Lyons, 63, former major league baseball player, died at his home here yesterday after a short illness.

More than 30 years ago Lyons played on the Pittsburgh National League Club. He also played with the old Athletics in the American Association, and with New York and St. Louis in the National League.

SWITCH PLAYS WESTINGHOUSE SATURDAY

By TOM BIRKS.

Now that the much-touted battle between Heidelberg and Dunlevy has became a part of soccer history, the fans can return to normal by watching the battles in the national amateur schedule this week end.

The big battle will be staged at Swissvale. Jack Thomas has groomed the Union Switch team for a couple of weeks and they will do their stuff against the Westinghouse eleven of the American League.

Union Switch made a good showing in this particular tourney last season and was eliminated at Cleveland in a mud battle. The session scheduled Saturday with Westinghouse will test the Union Switch boys just as heavily as they have been tested this fall.

Westinghouse has a great team, and one of the best forward lines in local soccer. The writer watched them in action against Heidelberg and it was the first time they had been stopped. Angus McNair appeals to the writer. He is a wonderful forward and shoots nearly as strong as Buff Donnelli. Dunn, the Union Switch center half, will have to keep a weather eye on that sharpshooter in that game.

Keystone will meet the Celtics at Lawrence Park. Seeing that the Keystone eleven is a new club around this neck of the woods, a good-sized crowd should be on hand. The Celtics will have to make a showing in this particular race or else be counted out for the season. Keystone is coming down from the Rilliton regions with the reputation of having a fast miners' taking plenty of knocks and being able to score goals.

The Celtics have a good club, despite the fact that Thompson is watching the game from the side lines, and it is a tossup as to who will cop this game.

Finish Fight Ends in Dual Knockout

TAMPA, Fla., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Billy Long, of Philadelphia, and Al Trout, of Cleveland, Negro middle-weights, agreed to a finish fight here last night—and it was that. They simultaneously delivered a knockout blow to each other in the nineteenth round.

Lashing out at the same time, Long caught a haymaker on the chin and Trout took one in the mid-section and the referee counted to and could have toted many more before they were up again. They had met often previously and fought to six draws.

PROFIO TO BOX O'MALLEY

Dominick Profio, of Cecil, and Steve O'Malley, of Bellaire, O., have been matched to box the eight-round main bout of a show at the Washington (Pa.) Gardens next Monday night. They were paired for Christmas afternoon, but Profio cancelled because of a bad hand and O'Malley took on Young Rolly, of Charleroi, as a sub and defeated him. Three six-round bouts and a four-rounder will complete the card.

Howard Mayberry, of Donora, and Bruce Adelman, of Philadelphia, have been matched for a third time to appear in the feature main bout at McKeesport Thursday night of next week. The first two bouts were previously when Fat Adelman and then Mayberry was stricken by influenza.

Billy Linder, local lightweight, and Jackie Fox, of Greenville, have been matching for a bout at our City, January 21.

Dan Billick, Duquesne featherweight, whose draw with Jackie Rodgers at Motor Square Garden Christmas afternoon was a surprise, will leave early next week for New York, where his manager, Jimmy Toomey, has lined up a series of bouts for him.

Tug Phillips, Fayette City welterweight, boxes Young Manuel at Miami, Fla., tonight. It will be his first bout of a Southern campaign.

CUBS AND GIANTS MAY BE RATED ABOVE BUCS

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

PICKED as pennant favorites one year ago, the 1929 Pirates are apt to be relegated to a third or fourth choice in the annual prognostications soon to be turned loose on the public.

Last February the Buccos left for their spring training camp over a flowery trail. They were supposed to be possessed of a de luxe pitching staff, fine catchers, a corking infield and a good outfield. The paper lineup of the Oaklanders prettily justified the selections.

Well, that all-star staff cracked, spanning up" flings in general so the Bucshwhackers had to be content with fourth-place money and honors.

In the advance opinions expected this time is that the Cubs and Giants are likely to be ranked above the Pirates, with a chance that Billy Southworth's Redbirds may will be favored over the Bold Buccos.

The infield uncertainty caused by the departure of Wright is apt to lose the Pirates a few votes. True the acquisition of Jess Petty may prove a mighty make-up for the loss of the spread-eagle star, but it is quite difficult to see the Buccos as flag-winners with the first decision in a muddled state. However, a puzzle club generally has much spice.

CHILLYSAUCE

Said Charley Stoneham to William Kenny.

"The Giants are mine despite your penny;"

"You watch your step or I will own 'em,"

Said William Kenny to Charley Stoneham.

Mr. Kenny and his friends are said to be busting up all the loose-leaf stock with the idea of pushing Mr. Stoneham out of the main office of the big concern.

Jim Stroner, Pirates' rookie third-baseker from Wichita, scored 171 runs last season. Jim apparently did not run toward the wrong goal posts.

Leave it to a college boy to do something spectacular. Taylor Douthit, a fine campus youth, also from the University of California, made a wild dash from home plate to third base at Forbes Field one day last summer.

The Cardinal ball hawk was on third when a mate hit a pop fly back of second. Sparky Adams ran backward and Douthit raced a dozen steps up the line. Sparky fell in making the catch, but managed to roll the ball back to the infield as he went down.

Presumably fooled by the rolling ball, Douthit headed plateward without going through the strict formality or re-touching third base. He made a fine college slide into the plate as the ball was thrown into Johnny Gooch's glove.

The play at home was close. Just as the umpire was making a decision Douthit became aware that he had "pulled one." Back to third he started like a scared jack-rabbit. Gooch flipped the ball to Traynor and Douthit was tagged out.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Frank Weiner, of Philadelphia, today was reappointed by Governor Fisher to the State Athletic Commission. His term will be two years.

PANCHO SNYDER SIGNS

HOUSTON, Tex., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Frank (Pancho) Snyder, who resigned last October as manager of the Houston baseball club, of the Texas League because of salary difficulties with President Fred Ankenman, signed today for a second year as manager of the Houston club. The Houston club won the Texas League and Dixie series championship last fall.

Here's Consolation For Riegels; Double Boner

It was in 1922, and Rutgers and West Virginia were the combatants. The scene was Morgantown.

Dickinson, Rutgers' fullback, recovered a West Virginia fumble in the second quarter and set out for his own goal. But he didn't get much of a start, for two West Virginia players were in hot pursuit and tackled the Rutgers back after he had covered 20 yards. The Mountaineers were Joe Strop, guard, who was on Walter Camp's all-America team that year, and Charley Howard, giant tackle.

MICHIGAN STATE TOPS LIONS

EAST LANSING, Mich., Jan. 3.—Michigan State was pressed to defeat the Penn State quintet here last night, 16-14. Although the Spartans led throughout the game, Penn State was always dangerous and near the end of the contest cut Michigan's lead to one point.

Michigan State made only six goals from the field. Haga scoring three on long shots. The stout Nittany Lion defense proved a barrier that the Spartans could not penetrate with their fast-passing game.

The lineup:

MICH. STATE—16		PENN STATE—14.
Vanaylen	F	Reinhold
D. Grove	F	Jacobson
Den Herder	C	James
Scott	G	R. Wilson
Haga	G	Stanley

Field goals—Michigan State: Haga 3, D. Grove 2, Den Herder. Penn State: Hamas, Stanley, Jacobson. Free throws—Michigan State: Dickeson, Den Herder, Haga, Vanaylen; Penn State: R. Wilson 4, Reinhold, James. Subs—Sheatheim for Vanaylen, Vanaylen for Sheatheim, Dickeson for D. Grove, D. Grove for Vanaylen, Botten for Den Herder, Krumrine for Reinhold. Referee—Maloney, Notre Dame. Umpire—Jerpe, Kenyon.

W. & J. CHARGES "RUN-OUT"

WASHINGTON, Pa., Jan. 3.—Washington and Jefferson's basketball team is home from its seaboard invasion, smarting from the sting of two defeats administered by City College of New York and Temple University of Philadelphia, and nursing a large-sized complaint against the Crescent A. C. of Brooklyn. The New York Athletic Club, according to Graduate Manager William G. Theurer, "ran out" of its engagement to play the Presidents in Brooklyn on last Saturday night, taking on Georgetown University instead, and leaving Washington "high and dry" without a game.

Albert Sturcke, Jr., manager of the Crescent team, informed the Presidents after they arrived in the Metropolis last Saturday that he was under the impression that W. and J. had decided not to fill the engagement and that he had booked Georgetown instead under that impression.

KNICKERS TOP SALTZERS

The Knickers captured a West Penn League game from the Duquesne Saltzers last night by a 32-30 score. The lineup:

Knickers—32.		Saltzers—30.
Montgomery	F	Schuster
Hunter	F	Wunderlich
Walter	C	Minnick
Clark	G	Regan
Murawski	G	Sauers

Substitute — Duquesne, Powe. Field goals—Montgomery, Hunter 5, Walter 2, Verosky 3, Powe, Schuster, Wunderlich 2, Minnick, Regan, Sauers 5, Perits 3, Knickers, 6 out of 13; Saltzers, 8 out of 17. Referee—Herklotz.

KINGSLEY VICTOR

Kingsley House won an Institutional League game from East Liberty Y by a 26-19 score last night. The lineup:

Kingsley—26.		Liberty Y—19.
Bracarelli	F	Waugeman
Closkey	F	McCauslin
Silverstein	C	Carlson
Moore	G	Kingsley
Stahl	G	Brownle

Substitute—East Liberty, Scofield. Field goals—Bracarelli, Closkey, Moore 6, Stahl, Waugeman, McCauslin, Carlson 2, Brownle 2, Scofield. Foul—Kingsley, 6 out of 11; East Liberty, 3 out of 12. Referee—Hazin.

SANGOR SUSPENDED

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Joey Sangor, a Milwaukee boy, who won a 10-round bout, according to the newspapermen's decision over Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, here New Year's Day, has been suspended from the ring for 30 days by the state boxing commission, because of the low blow with which he hit Morgan in the fourth round, it was announced yesterday.

FANS INCLINED TO FORGIVE RIEGELS

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

A REFRESHING sign of the times is the tendency on all hands to refrain from condemning Roy Riegels, captain-elect of the University of California football team, for committing one of the prize boners of football history in running some 70 yards to his own goal line in the Tournament of Roses battle with Georgia Tech, Tuesday, thereby paving the way for his team's defeat by an 8-7 score.

Sports followers probably never will forget the episode, but, judging from the expressions that are heard, they already have forgiven Riegels, taking into consideration the fact that such an error is so easy to perpetrate that it is a wonder it doesn't happen oftener.

Riegels' own explanation is a perfectly logical one. He says he started in the proper direction after recovering the fumble, but was twisted around by a tackler, lost his bearings and kept on going. His coach says he proved himself to be the smartest player on the team in previous games, which would appear to be borne out by the fact that he has been elected to lead the 1929 eleven. The coach's confidence in him is apparent from the fact that he sent him back into the game at the start of the second half and kept him in until the finish, during which time California came from behind to make its great bid for victory with a closing rally.

After all, the margin between being a hero and a goat is small. Had Riegels kept going in the proper direction he would have been the biggest figure in the game after running less than half the distance he covered to earn lasting fame as a man who committed a colossal blunder. As a hero he soon would have been forgotten, for the world is filled with heroes for a day. But, as the goat, he will take his place alongside Fred Merkle and others who suffered temporary mental lapses and have not been able to make the world forget about them. His fame will live as long as the records of the game exist, although he already has been generally forgiven.

HAD it not been for the alertness of Johnny Evers, Merkle's error in failing to touch second base in a critical game two decades ago would have gone unnoticed. But history has made the name Merkle synonymous with "bonehead." Merkle still is in the game, proving his gameness in facing the world and his right to a better fate. Jack Dempsey pulled the real "boner" of all time in the ring when he failed to go to the right corner in his return bout with Gene Tunney at Chicago, but, because he was a hero in the eyes of the fans, he was speedily exonerated, and the referee, Dave Barry, was made the goat for the long count that saved Tunney's crown.

Years ago, Jack Chesbro, star pitchball pitcher, made a wild pitch that cost the New York Yankees a pennant. Few remember Chesbro's heroic deeds on the mound, but everybody recalls him as the man whose lack of control tossed away a big league championship.

John Miljus, then with the Pirates, pitched great ball in the final game of the world series with the Yankees in New York in 1927, but let in the winning run on what was called a wild pitch, although it was more of a passed ball, and became the goat.

Costly errors are made every day everywhere. 'Tis humon to err and profit by the mistakes. Business and professional men pull their share of boners, but the world at large seldom hears about them.

It was Riegels' tough luck to commit his faux pas before 70,000 pairs of peering eyes and millions of listeners on the radio and readers of newspapers. Here's hoping the world laughs it off, as it promises to do.

LOOKING at the incident from the funny side, for there is a humorous turn to it, aside from the pathetic aspect, how about putting to work the football rules committee, which always is looking for something to do, on figuring out ways and means of preventing recurrences of the Wrong Way Runs? Why not have one goal post painted red and the other green, or have them labeled with the names of the teams, or have arrows and sign posts calling attention to detours? Certainly no football player is safe in these modern times without a road map and a lantern and signposts to guide him. If the rules committee only would go deeply into this matter and concentrate on it for about three or four years, the fans could catch up with the rules as they are and not be confused with the constant changes and then perhaps football really would become popular in the land.

As matters stand now, the committee, with lots of idle time on its hands between seasons, is far from harmless.

HANSON SLATED TO COACH AT SYRACUSE

By JESS CARVER.

Vic Hanson is slated to become the next football and possibly the next basketball coach at Mr. Syracuse's University, where he won fame and the basis for a sizeable fortune as an all-around athlete of more than casual note.

Hanson is the baseball property of the New York Yankees (you've heard of that ball club), and last season, when he failed to make the grade as a "varsity" player on Mr. Huggins' team, was farmed out. He played shortstop and third base and played 'em both well, hitting better than .300 during the season.

At Syracuse, Hanson starred as an end, making all-America, was rated an all-Eastern forward and captained and starred for the baseball team.

According to my information, which may be taken for what it is worth without even a chaser, Hanson is to sign a three-year contract at Syracuse in 1930. He will assist Lou Andreas, present grid and court mentor, with the understanding that Lou is not to be booted out, but will step into the athletic directorship, a position he has had his eye on for some time and for which he is very well fitted.

Next fall, Hanson plans to spend his time studying various coaching methods, and will put in two weeks with Pop Warner, Knute Rockne, Bill Roper and Bob Zuppke, the famous Dutchman.

Tonight, at Beaver Falls, Geneva will play its second major contest of the season, facing the Muskingum College varsity. The Muskies will be playing the second game of a four-game jaunt through these parts. They play the Dukes here Saturday.

New Star

DOLLY O'BRIEN

New member of the star Haus Recreation girls' duckpin team, which opens its season with a match game against the Mayne Girls of Beaver, Pa., on the Haus alleys, North Side, tomorrow night. Miss O'Brien has succeeded Miss Myrtle Striley on the team, the latter withdrawing. Other members of the team are Louise Beck, Leona Kain, May Augustine and Katherine Mairs. Miss O'Brien averages better than 130.

RELIANCE, LIGHT FIVES BEATEN

Duquesne Lafayettes added to their leadership in the Allegheny County League last night when they defeated the Reliance Life quint, 28-23, on the Armory floor. The Goldenson outfit set down Duquesne Light in the South Side Market House in the other circuit embroglio, the outcome being 42 to 25.

Peck Minnick starred for his team as it made a last-minute rally to set down the Lifers in a close game, while Moon Klinzing and Eddie Siegl were co-stars at the Market House. The lineups:

Lafayettes—28.		Reliance—23.

DUKES UPSET SALEM QUINT BY 27-20

By JESS CARVER.

THE Tigers of Salem College of West Virginia have come and gone. They flickered and went out like a bum light here last night as they essayed to put a check to the winning proclivities of the Dukes of Duquesne, and when their belated rally fell flatter than the proverbial pancake, Duquesne made an overwhelming early lead hold up and won, 27 to 20. This all happened up on the Bluff before a crowd of about 1,000.

It took the Salem chappies too long to get started, and while they were fiddling around with some of the most atrocious passing and ball handling that has been offered here since the days of Davey Robert's J. J. Dean Baseball club, the Dukes were getting themselves points. Salem actually went an entire period, the third, without tallying a point.

Duquesne, mainly through the solo effort of young Ben Lubic, hopped off to a 12-1 lead in the first period, and played the visiting Tigers better than even until the closing minutes of the ball game, when Sammy Kistler took matters into his own hands, leading a brave but tardy assault on the hoop, netting 12 points and at least a look-see at the finish. Kistler, caging four goals from the floor and adding three points from the free toss mark, was the high scorer of the evening with a total of 11. Lubic had nine and Ganzy J. (Cake) Benedict finished third with seven.

Duquesne outpassed and outplayed the Salemites from the tip-off until the last period when the local attack fivvered. Both Lubic and Jo Jo Vernon were escorted from the floor by Old Man Four Personal Fouls, but as the game was accounted in, Chick Davies did nothing more than rough up his fast-becoming sparse hair. The lineup:

Lubic	F	Kistler (C.)
Benedict	F	Wilks
Vernon	C	Dodds
Rosenberg (C.)	G	Goldchien
Stephens	G	Sobak

Score by periods—

Duquesne	12	7	4	4—27
Salem	1	7	0	12—20

Substitutions: Duquesne—Losman, Colodi, Vizza. Salem—None.

Scoring, field goals: Duquesne—Lubic 4, Benedict 3, Vernon, Stephens 3. Salem—Kistler 4, Wilks, Dodds 2. Fouls: Duquesne—Lubic, 1 out of 3; Benedict, 1 out of 2; Vernon, 1 out of 1; Rosenberg, 2 out of 3. Salem—Kistler, 3 out of 6; Wilks, 0 out of 1; Dodds, 1 out of 4; Sobak, 2 out of 4.

Team fouls: Duquesne—3 out of 8. Salem, 6 out of 14. Out of game on personal fouls, Lubic, Vernon, Duquesne.

Time of periods—10 minutes.

Referee—Al Slack.

Umpire—Buck Snyder.

Goal Crossed By Riegels, Movies Show

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Following the release of the International-M. G. M. Newsreel motion picture of the famous forward-backward run of Roy Riegels in the California-Georgia Tech football game at Pasadena on New Year's day, his astounding performance again was in the spotlight today.

The picture shows that the long sprint to his own goal line was chiefly his own idea, however faulty. After picking up the ball fumbled by Thompson, Riegels started for the Georgia Tech goal. While his teammates were blocking, Riegels suddenly whirled around and started in the wrong direction, the picture discloses. No one was near enough to touch him.

After scampering away from the Georgia Tech 30-yard line, Riegels ran by himself for 20 or 25 yards. Benny Lom started diagonally across the field to cut him down. Lom overtook him at the 11-yard line and grabbed him by the belt. Riegels shook him off and Lom came on again to grab him on the one-yard line. Both rolled over the goal. Then managed to scramble back just as they were struck by an avalanche of Georgia Tech players.

Alley Owners Form Organization Here

Harry Frost was named president and H. Frank Borland secretary of the Alley Owners' Association, an organization formed to better the environment and improve standards at the bowling alleys in this vicinity, at a meeting in the Hotel Chatham. More than 25 owners are interested in the new organization.

"ONE-EYE" VISITOR

One-Eye Connelly is in our midst again. The famous gate-crasher arrived in Pittsburgh this morning from New York, clad in his famous billiard cloth suit, and registered at the Pittsburghet. He was slightly indisposed and thought he had contracted a free touch of the flu. He will remain here three days and go on to Wheeling, which is hereby warned to that effect.

PLAY THAT BEAT CALIFORNIA

Here is Roy Riegels, University of California star, on his classic run of approximately 70 yards in the wrong direction that brought disaster to his team in the Tournament of Roses game at Pasadena, Cal., New Year's Day. He was stopped by a teammate six inches from his own goal line and a safety followed on the next play. Georgia Tech won 8 to 7.

FRANK WYCKOFF NEAR DEATH

GLENDALE, Cal., Jan. 3.—(INS.)—Frank Wyckoff, sensational sprinter of the American Olympic team and the Glendale Junior College, is fighting death in a local hospital.

He was operated on last month to relieve a tonsil trouble which was followed by complications. Attending physicians say his career on the track is threatened and that it is certain he will not wear his spikes this year. He is being given a small amount of blood twice a day.

Lone Star Dietz To Coach Haskell

The new Indian mentor yast season coached the undefeated Los Angeles Athletic Club eleven and the season before was assistant to Glenn (Pop) Warner at Stanford University.

LEWISTON, Maine, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—David Morey, formerly football coach at Middlebury Colge and Alabama Polytechnic, has accepted the position of head coach of football, baseball and hockey at Bates College, here. He will start on his new duties in September.

MOODY STOPS JACOVACCI

ALUMNI PASSERS MEET CONLEYS FOR LEAD

By JULIUS LEVIN.

ONE-HALF game behind the M. J. Conleys in the Pittsburgh and Ohio Valley League race, the crack Alumni Club of McKeesport will have a chance to take undisputed possession of first place tonight if it succeeds in defeating the present leaders on the McKeesport Hebrew Institute floor. The Conleys, formerly the Schwartz Valley Club, are setting the pace at the present time with four victories and one defeat, while Alumni is right at their heels with four wins and two losses. A victory for Alumni tonight will allow the Tubers to overtake the Bresko charges, inasmuch as both teams hail from virtually the same section a large crowd is expected to pack Rusin Hall.

Down at the Hamilton School floor, McKees Rocks, the Greenfield Club, composed mainly of former Osceola players, will entertain Joe Dobbs' Immaculate Heart quintet in the other P. and O. League contest on tonight's schedule. Neither team has been able to win consistently, but their followers nevertheless are looking for an interesting battle tonight as both quintets include in their lineups well-known local passers. Immaculate Heart is resting in the cellar with only one victory in six starts, but a triumph tonight will enable the Brereton avenue passers to rise a notch in the race.

DRIBBLES

The Rauhs will attempt to regain their winning stride tonight when they entertain the Reliance Life team in an Allegheny County League game at Columbus Temple. The Lou Gordons meet a strong Junior team in the preliminary.

Starting next week the Greenfield Club will use the Stowe Township High School floor as its home quarters. The Greenfield Club plays its last game at Hamilton School tonight.

The Rosenblum-Celtic team of Cleveland, which will invade this section late this month, has Sunday, January 27, open for a game with a first-class team. Call Lafayette 4297.

The Mangans after getting off to a poor start appear to have struck their natural stride in the P. and O. League. The popular South Siders added two victories Monday and Tuesday, defeating Greenfield Monday and the Jeannette Felders on New Year's day.

With nine victories out of 10 starts, the Tempest Club is having one of its best seasons. To date such teams as National Music, H. P. Celtics and Lawrenceville Business Men have been beaten. Tempest Club has some open dates. Call Montrose 8200 and ask for Hundmaker.

The Red McMahan Club is open for games at home and abroad with junior teams. Call Hemlock 0950-J and ask for Jim.

The Canonsburg Lassies, one of the best teams in Washington county, want games with junior teams in the Pittsburgh district. Call Agnes Gress at Canonsburg 1079-W in the evening.

Sticks Monohan and Schaub are asked to call the manager of the Mangans at Hemlock 9197.

The C. and I. League will resume operations at the South Side Market House next Friday night after enjoying a respite during the holidays. Reliance and Kaufmann's are undefeated in the first half of the race.

The Central Club, champion of the Center Avenue Y. M. C. A. League last season, is eager to book games with first-class and light first-class teams. Call Charles Shelton at Grant 0789.

Long's Sport Comment

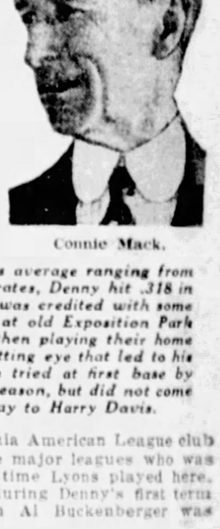
though vainly, to find a place in the sun, passed yesterday in the death of Denny Lyons at his home in West Covington, Ky.

Pittsburgh was one of the four teams on which Lyons, who was a third baseman, played during his major league career. He had two engagements with the Buccaneers. He was first with the original Philadelphia Athletics in the old American Association, then a major organization, from 1887 until that league was merged with the National League after the season of 1891. During the greater part of 1892 Denny was with the New York Giants in the National, coming to Pittsburgh in 1893 and remaining here until released in July, 1894. In 1895 he was with the St. Louis Nationals, but came back to the Pirates in 1896 and continued with them until he drew his second local release in August, 1897, when he retired.

LYONS was not constructed along the generally accepted lines of a third baseman, being of heavy, rotund build that indicated a none too strict adherence to the training rules. Indeed, it was for being overweight that the Giants released him in September, 1892, the fall before he first became a Pirate. But he belonged to the days of rough-and-ready fighting baseball, and like many other players of that period, made up in punch what he lacked in speed. For the Athletics in 1887 he batted .469, that being the year in which the batter was allowed four strikes instead of three and a base on balls counted as a hit, and in seven other seasons he hit above .300, his average ranging from .311 in 1894 to .351 in 1890. For the Pirates, Denny hit .318 in 1893, .311 in 1894 and .306 in 1896, and was credited with some of the longest left-field drives ever made at old Exposition Park on the North Side, where the Bucs were then playing their home games. It was the apparent loss of his batting eye that led to his release and retirement in 1897. He was tried at first base by Manager Pat Donovan at the start of that season, but did not come up to requirements and frequently gave way to Harry Davis.



Connie Mack.

CONNIE MACK, manager of the Philadelphia American League club at present, is the only man now in the major leagues who was connected with the Pittsburgh club at the time Lyons played here. Mack was the star catcher of the Pirates during Denny's first term of service here, in 1893 and 1894, when Al Buckenberger was manager.

It was Connie who brought the slugging third-sacker back for a second local engagement, being manager of the Bucs in 1896. Mack resigned at the close of that season, and Pat Donovan was manager of the Corsairs in 1897. Donovan was the third pilot under whom Lyons played here, and the one who gave him the release that ended his playing career.

Should U. S. Raise Its Own Sugar?—Congress to Act

—By B. C. FORBES—

SHOULD the United States grow its own sugar?

If it did, an additional 3,000,000—one million for each business day—would go to those growing the sugar and manufacturing it.

President-elect Hoover has come out strongly in favor of this country becoming, as far as possible, self-supporting in food products.

Hearings will start on January 19 at Washington before the House Ways and Means Committee as to the desirability of so raising the tariff on sugar as to make it possible for our own farmers to get the money now sent out of the country for that commodity.

WE CONSUME some 7,000,000 tons of sugar annually. Of this, continental United States furnishes only between 1,000,000 and 1,500,000 tons. Hawaii, the Philippines and Porto Rico each furnish about 500,000 tons. Cuba sixty times us with more than all combined.

The proposal is to take steps to employ sugar-growing as a means of providing farm relief, about which there is so much talk and so little action.

THE present import tariff on sugar is 2.2-hundredths cents a pound. Cuba enjoys a 20 per cent differential, which makes the tariff on Cuban sugar 1.75 cents.

Our own beet sugar growers want the tariff raised to 3 cents; cane sugar growers declare that a 4-cent levy is necessary. Corn growers want all the protection possible so as to encourage the use of corn for the manufacture of sugar products, including corn syrup.

Beet growers are protected from Cuban sugar, not only by the tariff, but by the heavy inland transportation charges to the sections where beet is chiefly raised. Cane interests are located mainly around the seaboard, hence they claim need for more protection.

CUBA is confronted with an unpleasant situation sugar-wise. In response to the world's requirements during the war, she more than doubled her output. The war over, other countries began to consider how best to develop their own sugar-growing. Already Great Britain, France, Germany and Russia have taken action to discourage the unrestricted importation of Cuba's product and to encourage domestic production.

Cuba suffers from the total lack of a home market, where as all these other countries, and also the United States, have very large domestic consumption. Consequently, Cuba's only outlet is beyond her own shores.

Realizing that the world would not absorb all that Cuba was capable of producing, the authorities there issued a decree restricting production, and competition to the death looms. Cuba, it is complained by sugar interests here, has already been selling below cost of production. The prospect is that still lower prices will be named in order to move supplies and that this warfare will be kept up until a third or more of Cuba's sugar growers find the pace too much for them.

Should this happen, it will prove temporarily ruinous, of course, for American sugar growers also.

ACCORDING to B. G. Dahlberg, who is developing large-scale sugar operations in Louisiana and Florida—and who uses the cane waste to make a product which competes successfully with lumber—the prospects for favorable tariff action by Congress are bright.

"Mr. Hoover," he said to me, "is sure to support it. All those who realize the need for helping agriculture to flourish in this country will, of course, favor this plan to net the farmers many more millions of dollars a year. Labor, which favors restricting the importation of cheap labor, favors also the restricting of imports made by cheap labor.

"The 4-cent tariff would mean a 3.20-cent duty on Cuban sugar and this, plus the cost of raising sugar in Cuba, would give American sugar growers a reasonable chance to live and at the same time not be any unfair burden to consumers."

Mr. Dahlberg became interested in growing sugar in Louisiana in 1926 to supply his mills with bagasse. Louisiana's production in that year was 43,000 tons. In 1927 it was raised to 97,000 tons; in 1928 to 190,000 tons and this year is expected to reach 350,000 tons.

On January 10 he opens a mill at Clewiston, Fla., capable of producing 22,500 tons a year, and in the fall he plans to open another mill at Canal Point, Fla., of 37,500 tons capacity. Given the need for protection, Louisiana should within five years, says Mr. Dahlberg, produce 1,000,000 tons of sugar a year and Florida 2,000,000 tons, while 2,000,000 more tons should come from corn and 2,000,000 tons from beets.

WASHINGTON'S action will be awaited with interest.

BUYING OF RAIL EQUIPMENT REVIVED

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

MORE indications of a revival in railroad equipment buying have come with the new year. The New York Central Railroad has placed the biggest order for locomotives made by any railroad since early in 1926.

The contract was for 100 heavy duty freight engines to be built by the American Locomotive Company. The cost of the new equipment is estimated at $3,000,000.

Several other locomotive orders have also come into the market. The Missouri Pacific has bought 25 switch engines from the Lima Locomotive Works and Illinois Central is expected to ask bids for 15 locomotives soon.

Production of locomotives was at only 10 per cent to 15 per cent of capacity during 1928 so that it will not be difficult for the new year to better this mark.

GREATER activity in railroad car buying, which started two months ago, is continuing into the new year. The Virginian Railroad has bought 500 hopper cars. The Lehigh Valley is expected to order 1,000 freight cars soon.

The Western roads are also showing greater interest in new equipment. The Chicago & Northwestern is inquiring for 1,000 gondolas and 1,000 automobile cars. The Illinois Central wants 2,725 miscellaneous freight cars and 34 cars for passenger train service.

Railroad buying of equipment contributes substantially to Pittsburgh's business volume. Until two years ago the carriers were the greatest customers in the steel industry. They were replaced by the building industry in 1927. In 1928 automobile consumption stepped into the lead, sending the railroad tonnage back to third place.

THE Iron Age estimates that out of a total production of 37,300,000 gross tons of rolled steel, the greatest amount ever made in one year, the automobile makers consumed 18 per cent, building 16½ per cent and railroads 16 per cent.

In addition to holding a dominant position as a producer of steel, the state of Pennsylvania is the greatest consumer. It used about 6,780,000 tons of the total shipped last year.

AN outstanding feature of the bond market during 1928 was the increased sale of foreign securities here. A large share of these were listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

To determine the element of security behind these issues, Dr. G. W. Edwards, economist for Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc., made a survey, for purposes of comparison, of the $145,000,000,000 of foreign securities listed on the exchange in London.

He found that, if the Russian obligations be excluded, bonds in default amounted to less than 1.85 per cent of the volume listed.

DR. EDWARDS believes that the record of our foreign investments should equal or better that of Great Britain's outside ventures since our bankers have been able to profit by foreign experience.

A share of this money sent abroad must be regarded as a permanent investment since the funds will not be directly returnable at maturity. This does not necessarily detract from the soundness of the issues because, with the proper underlying security, they can be refunded by new issues. Many of our domestic bond issues are in the same situation. American railroads are unlikely to retire any great amount of their funded debt except by the sale of new bonds.

STOCKS TOTTER UNDER PROFIT SELLING

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—(AP.)—Heavy profit taking, which brought about sharp reactions of 5 to 15 points in some of the high priced specialties, unsettled today's stock market after an opening outburst of strength had carried more than a score issues into new high ground. While most observers regarded the set-back as a natural correction of a temporarily top-heavy speculative position, some selling also is believed to have been influenced by fears of a large increase in loans, and a possible advance in the Federal Reserve rediscount rate.

A delay of 44 minutes in the stock ticker tape just before 1 p.m. also inspired profit-taking because of the virtual impossibility of keeping promptly informed of developments on the floor. Such delays in the past frequently have been utilized to advantage by "bear" traders who have been able to force recessions of several points in speculative issues before sufficient buying support could be organized to stem the decline.

The credit situation was distinctly easier. Call money renewed at 10 per cent and dropped to 8 by early afternoon. Loans in the "outside market" were available as low as 7 per cent. Time money rates showed an easier undertone, but were still well above the corresponding rates a year ago.

Outside the money situation there was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement. Directors of the Bon Ami Company declared an extra dividend of 50 cents in the class B common stock, and several favorable 1928 earnings reports and estimates made their appearance.

General Electric, which soared nearly 24 points yesterday, was the first stock to break today, dropping 15½ points to 239. Radio, which ran up 12¾ points to 407 during the morning, fell back to 395. International Telephone forfeited half its early gain of 10 points and Montgomery Ward, A. M. Byers and Burroughs Adding Machine sold 5 to 7½ points below yesterday's final quotations.

National Biscuit was an outstanding strong spot, stepping up nearly 9 points to a new high at 204¼. Warner Bros. Pictures, Union Carbide, Warren Bros. and Abraham & Straus sold 5 to 7 points higher. Railroad equipments were in good demand on reports of large orders for cars and locomotives.

Revival of activity and strength in the rails coincided with the beginning of arguments on the St. Louis & O'Fallon case before the United States Supreme Court. Union Pacific ran up 5½ points to within a point of the year's high, and New York Central sold 4 points higher.

Ineffectual efforts were made to halt the large volume of selling in the final hour by pushing up individual shares. Radio rallied to above 400 again, when call money softened to 7 per cent. Western Union moved up six points and Gillette Safety Razor 5. Some of the other representative issues met fresh selling on the rallies. The closing was irregular. Sales approximated 3,200,000 shares.

BUGS BAER Says

Arthur "Bugs" Baer

WE thank 1928 for the favors we have received in the past.

And hope that we don't get any more like them in the future.

It was a great year when you figure it out. Which is impossible.

It was a prosperous year. For people with money.

It was a healthy year. For those who survived.

Now 1929 is upon us. There is no way of avoiding it.

Among the famous happenings of the past year was the firm of J. P. Morgan taking five new partners into the firm.

One of whom was not me. Nor you.

The year 1928 was remarkable for the decision handed down by a Bronx judge in relation to the traffic jam.

He fined the driver of a fire engine $10.

For parking near a fire plug.

Justice staggers and history shimmies when you realize the effect of this verdict upon the future of the paper hat industry.

We have seen the birth of the radio, talking pictures, electric lights, radium, airplane and Zeppelin.

Magnificent progress. But we never thought to live to see a flivver with a rumble seat.

America scrambled the chronological documents of 1928 by signing a peace treaty and building 15 new cruisers at the same time.

This is a queer procedure. It is like two mothers-in-law living with a young married couple.

One mother-in-law may neutralize the other.

We lost Teapot Dome and got it back again in 1928. But the Oolong was gone and the Ceylon had evaporated.

The year 1928 was both a Leap year and a presidential year. Al is still leaping.

We wish all readers of this column a better year than the last and a worse year than those still to arrive in the future.

BANG! BANG!
HA! THAT LANDLORD AGAIN!
AFTER LEARNING THAT COLONEL BUNGLE'S PERSISTENT ATTEMPTS TO HEAR THE DETAILS OF AN AUTO-FRIGHT CLAIM SETTLEMENT WERE NOT MERELY THE NOISY EFFORTS OF A LANDLORD, ATTORNEY MAYHEM OPENED THE DOOR OF HIS OFFICE AND ADMITTED A TOO-HOPEFUL CLIENT.
YES, AFTER GETTING YOUR LETTER SAYING YOU HAD SETTLED MY CASE I CAME HERE AT LEAST 50 TIMES NIGHT AND DAY TRYING TO CATCH YOU IN. WELL, ANYHOW LET'S TALK BUSINESS. IN SETTLING WITH THAT MILLIONAIRE, HOW MUCH DO YOU GET?.....WAIT, LET ME MAKE A GUESS.....$500? THAT'S LOW, BUT.....
$500? MY DEAR BUNGLE, I AM MERELY A GOOD ATTORNEY — NOT A MAGICIAN! MILLIONAIRES ARE VERY TIGHT. HOWEVER AFTER A GREAT EFFORT I FINALLY WRENCHED VICTORY FROM DEFEAT AND REFUSED TO SETTLE FOR ONE CENT LESS THAN $18.
WHAT! WHAT! $18 WHAT! WHAT!
YOUR SURPRISE IS NATURAL, MR. BUNGLE. I TOO WAS AMAZED TO GET THAT MUCH. AND NOW AS TO MY FEE IN THIS MATTER. I WORKED NIGHT AND DAY BUT NEVERTHELESS CHARGE YOU ONLY MY REGULAR OLD-CLIENTS RATE OF $25.
AND SO IF YOU WILL JUST GIVE ME $7 THAT, ADDED TO THE $18, I HAVE NOW, WILL END THIS AFFAIR WHICH..... AHEM..... WHY BUNGLE! WHY ARE YOU TAKING OFF YOUR COAT.....? SURELY YOU DON'T INTEND TO.....BE CAREFUL, SIR.....NO VIOLENCE OR.....

GOOD, CLEAN FUN

Aunt Bella has invented a lovely game for the long Winter evenings. You simply use two gallons of buttermilk and a yard of cheesecloth. Let the buttermilk drain through the cheesecloth and then try to determine whether the lady pictured herewith is going or coming in.

PLANS FOR 1929

OUR plans for 1929 include many features that no other paper will print. For instance, Chisel B. Lixpwaite (above) will be in charge of our Week-end Hikes for Paid-Up Subscribers, and will conduct the Bird Call Classes. He will also devote two evenings a week to reading aloud from the poetry of Mrs. Julia A. Moore, "The Sweet Singer of Michigan." He will pass on verses submitted by readers to the Poetry Editor. He is also writing our big serial feature, "Three Vassar Girls Abroad," and will gladly autograph any book by your favorite author.

W. R. Hearst Offers $25,000 for True Temperance Plan

W. R. HEARST,
Los Angeles Examiner, Los Angeles, Cal.

Glad you can use Pinchot plan. Pinchot plan mailed today to all Hearst Sunday editors.

Your telegraphic comments appreciated on subject of education versus force in getting eighteenth amendment obeyed.

We wish you had sent the telegram as entry in prize contest. I would like to come West and talk with you about this problem of law observance as a necessary part of the return of the country to being law-abiding.

EDWIN J. CLAPP.

In reply to the above telegram from Mr. Edwin J. Clapp, famous publicist, formerly with the Hearst papers but now with Durant Motors, Incorporated, Mr. Hearst sent the following telegram, which is printed herewith on account of the prize announcement which it contains:

EDWIN J. CLAPP,
Care Durant Motors, Incorporated,
Room 2403, 250 West Fifty-seventh Street,
New York, N. Y.

We do not have to make the American people law-abiding. We only have to keep them law-abiding.

And the best way to keep them law-abiding is not to make laws which very large and reputable elements of the community consider unwise, unjust, un-American and in violation of their fundamental rights as free citizens.

I do not believe that prohibition ever will be or ever can be enforced, and I DO believe that if a violent effort is made to enforce it during the next four years by the Republican administration, the next president of the United States will be a Democrat.

Smith's candidacy proves nothing except that the people did not want SMITH.

But after four more years of snooping, spying, keyhole peeping and interference with fundamental rights and liberties by fanatics and professional busybodies, the country will be ripe for a revolution against un-American conditions of this oppressive and offensive kind.

The opposition to prohibition is not merely by people who want to get drunk.

Prohibition is opposed by such temperance influences as the Church Temperance Society of the Episcopal church and the Hearst newspapers—I modestly put the Church Temperance Society of the Episcopal church first—the reason for this opposition is that prohibition is a failure as a temperance measure.

The more we try to enforce it, the greater failure it becomes as a temperance measure, because the only thing we can absolutely prevent traffic in is bulky drinkables like wines and beers; and these contain the least amount of alcohol, and are consequently the least harmful.

It has never been possible and never will be possible to prevent traffic in compact and concentrated alcoholic drinks; and even if the traffic could be interfered with, every man could make these in his own cellar if he wanted to.

Furthermore, we must not make the mistake of thinking that the country is divided into two classes—drys, who want to make the country bone dry; and wets, who want to make the country souse-wet.

There is an enormous middle-class, which probably is a majority class, who believe in temperance and believe in personal liberty, and realize that temperance can be secured without prohibition, and never can be secured with prohibition.

These people do not want to be ruled by the liquor interests, nor on the other hand by the bone-dry fanatics.

Sooner or later they are going to assert themselves, and personally I think it will be sooner.

Prohibition has been repudiated by every country which has ever tried it, primarily because it did not accomplish the thing it was supposed to accomplish, and secondarily because it became such an unpopular measure that no government could stand up under it, not even firmly entrenched monarchical governments.

Therefore, I think that in offering a prize on how best to enforce prohibition, Mr. Durant is really offering a prize on how best to put the Republican party out of power.

And I think Mr. Pinchot has actually won the prize, because his plan being the most un-American and the most obnoxious will make the Republican party more unpopular than any other plan which has been proposed.

I did not mean to say in my previous telegram that education would get the Eighteenth Amendment obeyed.

I mean to say that education would promote a desire for temperance; but, any sincere and intelligent desire for temperance will undoubtedly mean the repeal or material modification of the Eighteenth Amendment.

I consider the Eighteenth Amendment not only the most flagrant violation of the basic American principle of personal liberty that has ever been imposed on the American public, but the most complete failure as a temperance measure that has ever been conceived, and put into impractical operation.

Therefore, I would like to offer, and hereby do offer a prize of $25,000 for the best plan to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment and substitute in place of prohibition a more liberal and more American measure, which will secure for the public more genuine temperance, with less offensive interference with the fundamental rights and personal liberties of the citizen.

MAKE A BETTER LAW

A Small and Impossible Law Cannot Be Enforced.

Above is published an offer of $25,000 for the best suggestion for the repeal of the prohibition amendment.

The law, fastened on the country in the fervor of war excitement, is proved, after years of trial, a miserable failure.

Millions have been spent by the government IN VAIN.

The bootleg industry is firmly established on the basis of crime and bribery.

Law and the Constitution are injured in the eyes of the nation by the open contempt with which the prohibition amendment and the Volstead law are treated.

Children, like their fathers, are actually customers of the bootleggers. And a problem this country never expected to face confronts fathers and mothers: HOW TO KEEP WHISKY FROM CHILDREN OF HIGH SCHOOL AGE.

From every point of view the results have been disastrous. Respect for the law has been damaged, almost irreparably.

"Respectability" says, "I despise and disobey a law that does not suit me."

Why should not criminals in the gutter say, "We despise the laws protecting life and property that do not suit us?"

They do say it, and the result is seen in the innumerable murders, holdups, briberies, scandals and corruptions of public officials.

You cannot force upon a nation sumptuary laws, to please a minority, against a will of the majority, no matter how virtuous and well-meaning the minority.

The welfare of the country, the safety of the public, the respect for law and order demand a change.

A way must be found to undo the most harmful mistake of a century.

Mr. Hearst has offered $25,000 for the best suggestion that may be offered.

Information for those interested, details as to the handling of suggestions, etc., will be published later.

Smoke Nuisance Campaign

Movement to Clean Pittsburgh's Air Deserves General Support.

A citizens' committee, headed by Charles A. Painter, and sponsored by the Press, is announced to launch a determined movement against Pittsburgh's smoke nuisance.

To this campaign The Sun-Telegraph pledges hearty support. The first plank in this newspaper's official platform calls for "a cleaner, more beautiful city." Eradication of the soot that clogs Pittsburgh's atmosphere is the first step in carrying out that program.

The city ordinance that resulted in remedying smoke conditions here several years ago has served as a model for Detroit and many other large cities. We have the machinery to enforce sensible stoking of furnaces and to install smoke consumers on chimneys wherever necessary.

Strict enforcement of existing laws, it would seem, will bring about the reform that is so badly needed. A campaign directing public attention to this necessity will be of the utmost service to those whose duty it is to carry out the anti-smoke statutes.

A Nickel Trust?

Perhaps—Don't Worry.

Our energetic Canadian brothers have done what they can to corner the world's supply of nickel, bidding for the Mond Nickel Company, which would give them nine-tenths of the world's supply.

Nothing to worry about here. Some metallurgist will produce a combination of metal that will do all that nickel can do, at half the price. Then there will be another "world combination."

Noah Wouldn't Know

By Herbert Kaufman

IF Noah Webster could see a late edition of his book (which celebrates its first centenary this year) he'd be amazed at the number of definitions that a hundred years of discovery and invention have added to the original work.

And probably shocked by some of the once unrespectable expressions that have seeped therein.

But nations that aren't making new words aren't breaking new ground.

In time the dictionary transplants these wild words into its formal garden and domesticates them.

Thus some of our most popular vernacular, like many of our "best" families, is of very vulgar extraction.

Vocabulary and botany have the same habit of enriching themselves from obscure sources. Both search the jungles for fresh material.

Orchids begin in tropical marches and end in hothouses, and thousands of socially approved phrases also sprang from the muck.

The highbrow mind is seldom a verbal Burbank; it usually carries a sufficient ready-made stock to answer all requirements.

But semi-literate folk experience so many situations and emotions beyond the interpretative resources of a simple education that they are compelled to occasional originality.

And if it's uniquely graphic or pictorial, the community adopts the waif utterance and makes it a common servant of thought.

Thieves, gypsies and tinkers, as well as scholars, scientists and thinkers, have regularly laid stones in the Tower of Babel, called the English language—a helter-skelter structure with no definite plan—filled with material collected all the way from the academies of ancient Greece to Broadway night clubs.

And the prigs who pride themselves that they speak it, are self-confessed ignoramuses before history.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Jan. 3.—Stage censorship in New York seems just around the corner. Even worthy producers who fought it have come to believe the stage must be purged to survive. The growth of censored talkies also alarms. This season marked the high tide of shameless passages and gestures. Even I flamed red and ask anyone what that indicates.

While it was generally true only clean plays endured, there were certain producers who continued to exploit sheer muck with a disgusting bravado. Everything was put across with a crude and raw vulgarity and nothing was left to the imagination.

Innumerable patrons not at all finicky found themselves making for the exit in the middle of an act. Mae West's production of "The Pleasure Man," glorifying the pathological lollipop we used to speak of only in whispers, was not so far in advance of its many contemporaries.

Still another openly flaunted the exterior view of a wash room with players passing in and out, making suggestive remarks. In the same production more than 30 guttery epithets were mouthed that no respectable newspaper would think of printing.

It is agreed the theater has become broader minded. Fifteen years ago a single defamatory name caused many ladies to swoon in the aisle at the production of Clyde Fitch's "The City." But most people still believe sewage should run under ground.

A stage cluttered up with nude ladies has been no novelty on Broadway for several years. The old wheeze of the fellow waiting on a Broadway corner for a reputed Godiva because it had been so long since he saw a horse is not an exaggeration of the times. Censorship or jail is needed, if anyone asks me—which they won't.

A couple of slightly squiffed gentlemen in silk hats asked a blind street corner piccolo player the other night for the loan of his piccolo. One of them expertly rendered several tunes as a crowd gathered while the other passed the hat. Quite a sum was wheedled out of spectators.

"You are not so poor now," said the hat passer, stuffing a roll of bills into the blind man's hand.

Broadway has many beggars employed by a syndicate. They are assured bed and board, no matter what the receipts, and a percentage of the take-in. In this way they are guaranteed a living and in cases of arrest or other difficulties the syndicate renders legal aid. Routes are assigned to them daily. Chinatown, incidentally, is one of the best assignments. Upper Fifth avenue, known as Millionaire's Row, the poorest.

* * *

A neat racket is also being worked by girls who work in pairs. Their victims are shop keepers. One girl makes a purchase and presents a check on which she receives a goodly amount of change. A telephone call to the bank establishes the worthiness of the check. But before it can be collected, the other girl presents a check that completely closes the account.

* * *

One of the most beautiful women I ever saw was an expert passer of bogus checks. She was caught red-handed in a jewelry establishment putting over a fast one and she refused to accompany the detective until permission was granted to touch up her face with powder and rouge. And I have paid $6.50 to peek from behind a post to see exits that were not half so grand.

* * *

There was another beautiful lady crook interviewed in a cell in the Tombs. She seemed a Lady Vere de Vere with her drawing room manner and rare perfume. My complete disillusionment came only upon departing when she archly inquired if I happened to have "a sniff of snow." And I've been wondering since if I looked that way.

Tales That Are Told

A Thoughtless Gesture

PERCY was a very bashful young man and on the morning of his wedding his nerves were in a state of profound chaos.

After the wedding breakfast Percy was called upon to make a speech to his guests. Now, Percy had never made a speech in his life. He looked round him wildly, but there was no escaping his eager friends.

For a few seconds he murmured anxiously in his best man's ear. Then he straightened his tie nervously.

Blushing to the roots of his hair, the bridegroom clambered to his feet, intending to say that he was no speechmaker.

"Er—ah—er—" he began stammeringly, and at the same time placed his hand on the bride's shoulder as he continued, "this thing has been thrust upon me—"

Easily Seen Through

AFTER the dinner had been consumed mother had produced a gaily decorated box of animal crackers, which Edna and Enid, her twin daughters, were to divide equally.

"Let's each choose some letters, and then we'll take the animals whose names begin with those letters," suggested Edna. "For one, I'll take the L's."

"Well, why?" asked her sister.

"'Cos you want the big crackers. You want to get all the 'phants."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

THE worst old maids are male ones!

Generally speaking, I'm strong for men, and this column is always ready to give the boys a good hand. But I think the time has come to expose certain members of the tribe.

You can excuse an aging, disappointed female for her fussiness and timidity, her propensity to gossip, her meddling. She looks the part and she hasn't anything else to do, anyway. But when something tweed pants, size 16 shirts, purple neckties, brogans, cheap cigars and red whiskers begins nosing around sniffing, snooping, cackling and snickering, whispering and whimpering, you want to hand it one right under the ear that will land it in the Emergency for a week.

You know the kind of a synthetic male I mean—

The old boy who beats the neighborhood buzzards to it at the slightest hint of a scandal—

Who can always tell you when the Jones girl got home from her joy ride and how many gin bottles there are in the Smiths' garbage can—

Who makes life hideous for everyone else in the office by tattling to the boss—

Who throws a Putrid Paroxysm if the office girl wears her skirt an inch shorter or her neckline an inch lower than he considers proper—

And who demands a Thorough Investigation because he has heard that the stenogs are smoking in the rest room—

Who raises Cain if anyone uses his desk—

Or borrows his fountain pen—

Or sits in his favorite chair—

Or reads his paper before he gets a chance at it—

Pests like these—and there's one in every office—are, I maintain, Old Maids of the most obnoxious order.

They should never be accorded the status and privileges of males—they are a libel on the name.

AND I'VE A SACK.

Bible Passages

"God Is Our Refuge"

(Psalm 26.)

GOD is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.

Therefore will not we fear, though the earth be removed, and though the mountains be carried into the midst of the sea;

Though the waters thereof roar and be troubled, though the mountains shake with the swelling thereof. Selah.

There is a river, the streams whereof shall make glad the city of God, the holy place of the tabernacles of the most High.

God is in the midst of her; she shall not be moved: God shall help her, and that right early.

The heathen raged, the kingdoms were moved: he uttered his voice, the earth melted.

The Lord of hosts is with us; the God of Jacob is our refuge. Selah.

Come, behold the works of the Lord, what desolations he hath made in the earth.

He maketh wars to cease unto the end of the earth; he breaketh the bow, and cutteth the spear in sunder; he burneth the chariot in the fire.

Be still, and know that I am God: I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be exalted in the earth.
